Vol. 45

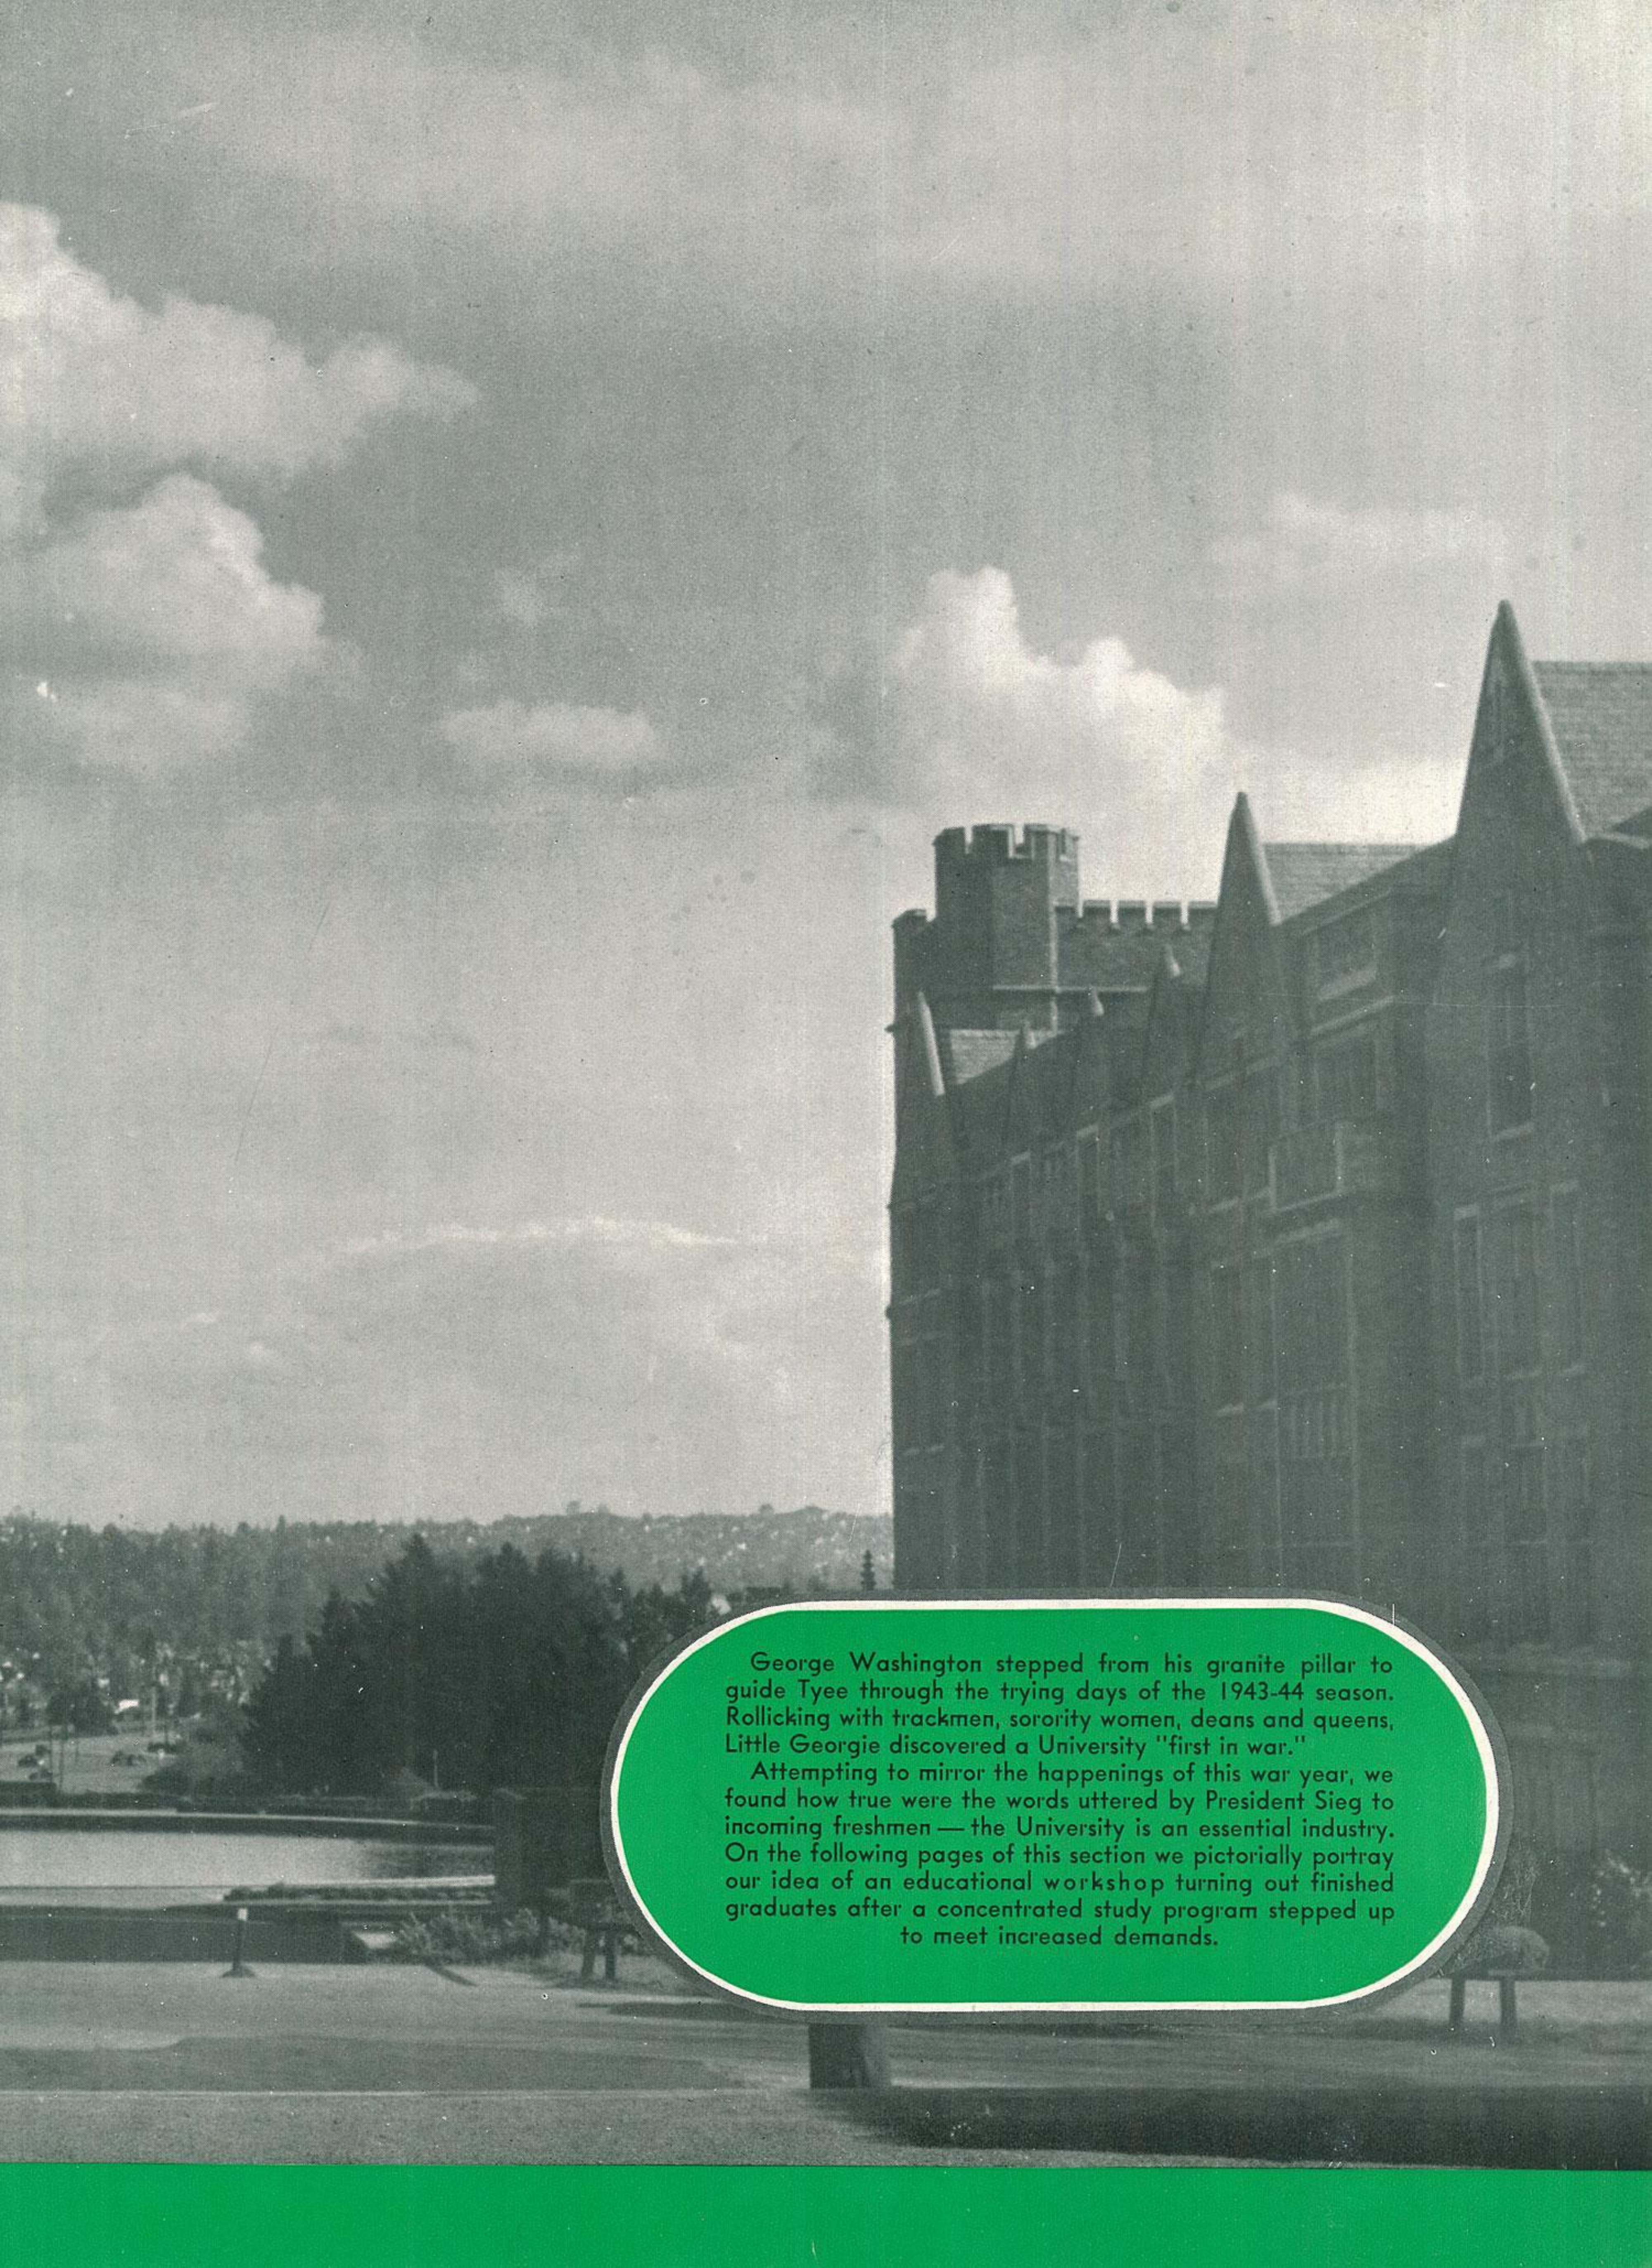

CAROL SMITH, Editor-in-Chief

LOIS McCONNELL, Business Manager

George Washington stepped from his granite pillar to guide Tyee through the trying days of the 1943-44 season. Rollicking with trackmen, sorority women, deans and queens, Little Georgie discovered a University "first in war."

Attempting to mirror the happenings of this war year, we found how true were the words uttered by President Sieg to incoming freshmen — the University is an essential industry. On the following pages of this section we pictorially portray our idea of an educational workshop turning out finished graduates after a concentrated study program stepped up to meet increased demands.

"WHEN CAN THEIR GLORY FADE?"

A black and white photograph of a group of students in a library or registration area. In the background, a sign reads "REGISTRATION BOOKS". The students are standing in front of a rack of books. A woman in a checkered dress and a man in a light-colored shirt are visible in the foreground. The scene is set in a room with large windows and a decorative railing.

REGISTRATION BOOKS

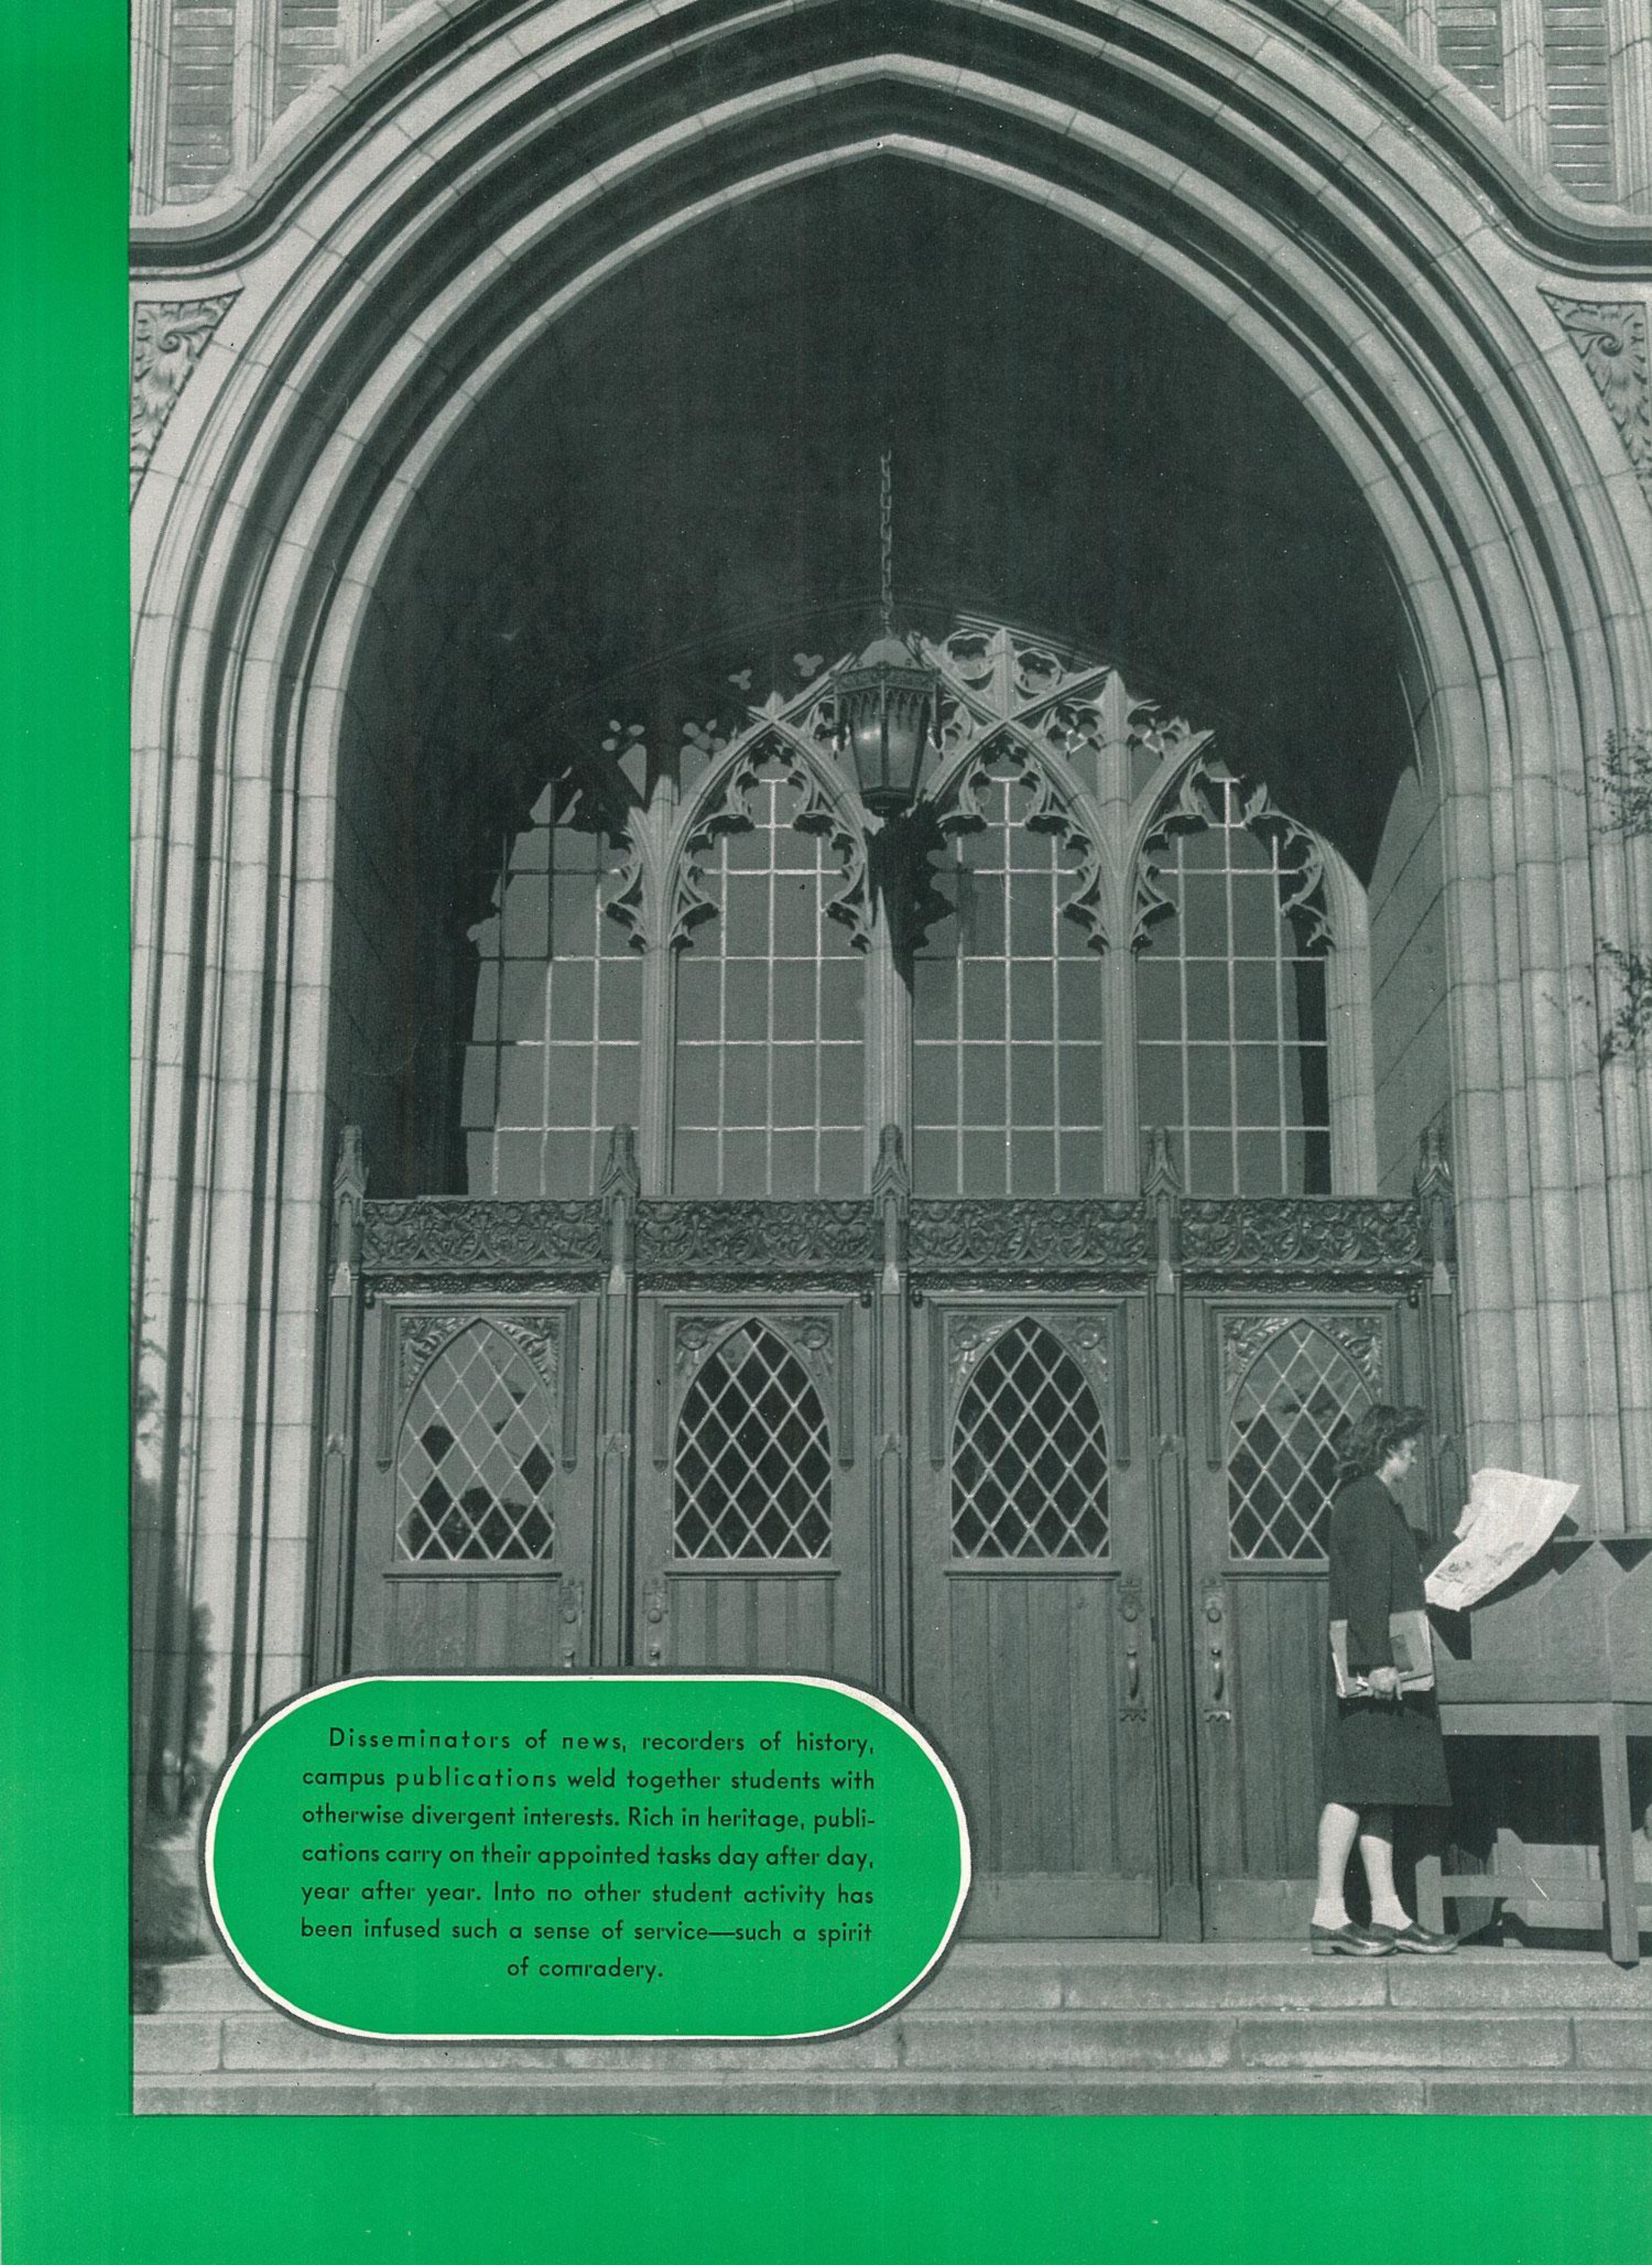

From Indiana and India, from Iowa and Iceland comes the raw material for the mill of knowledge. Differing in native tongue and superficial modes, the aims of these students transcend mere political borders. Like the great of the world in other centuries, they seek an insight into the perplexities of the universe.

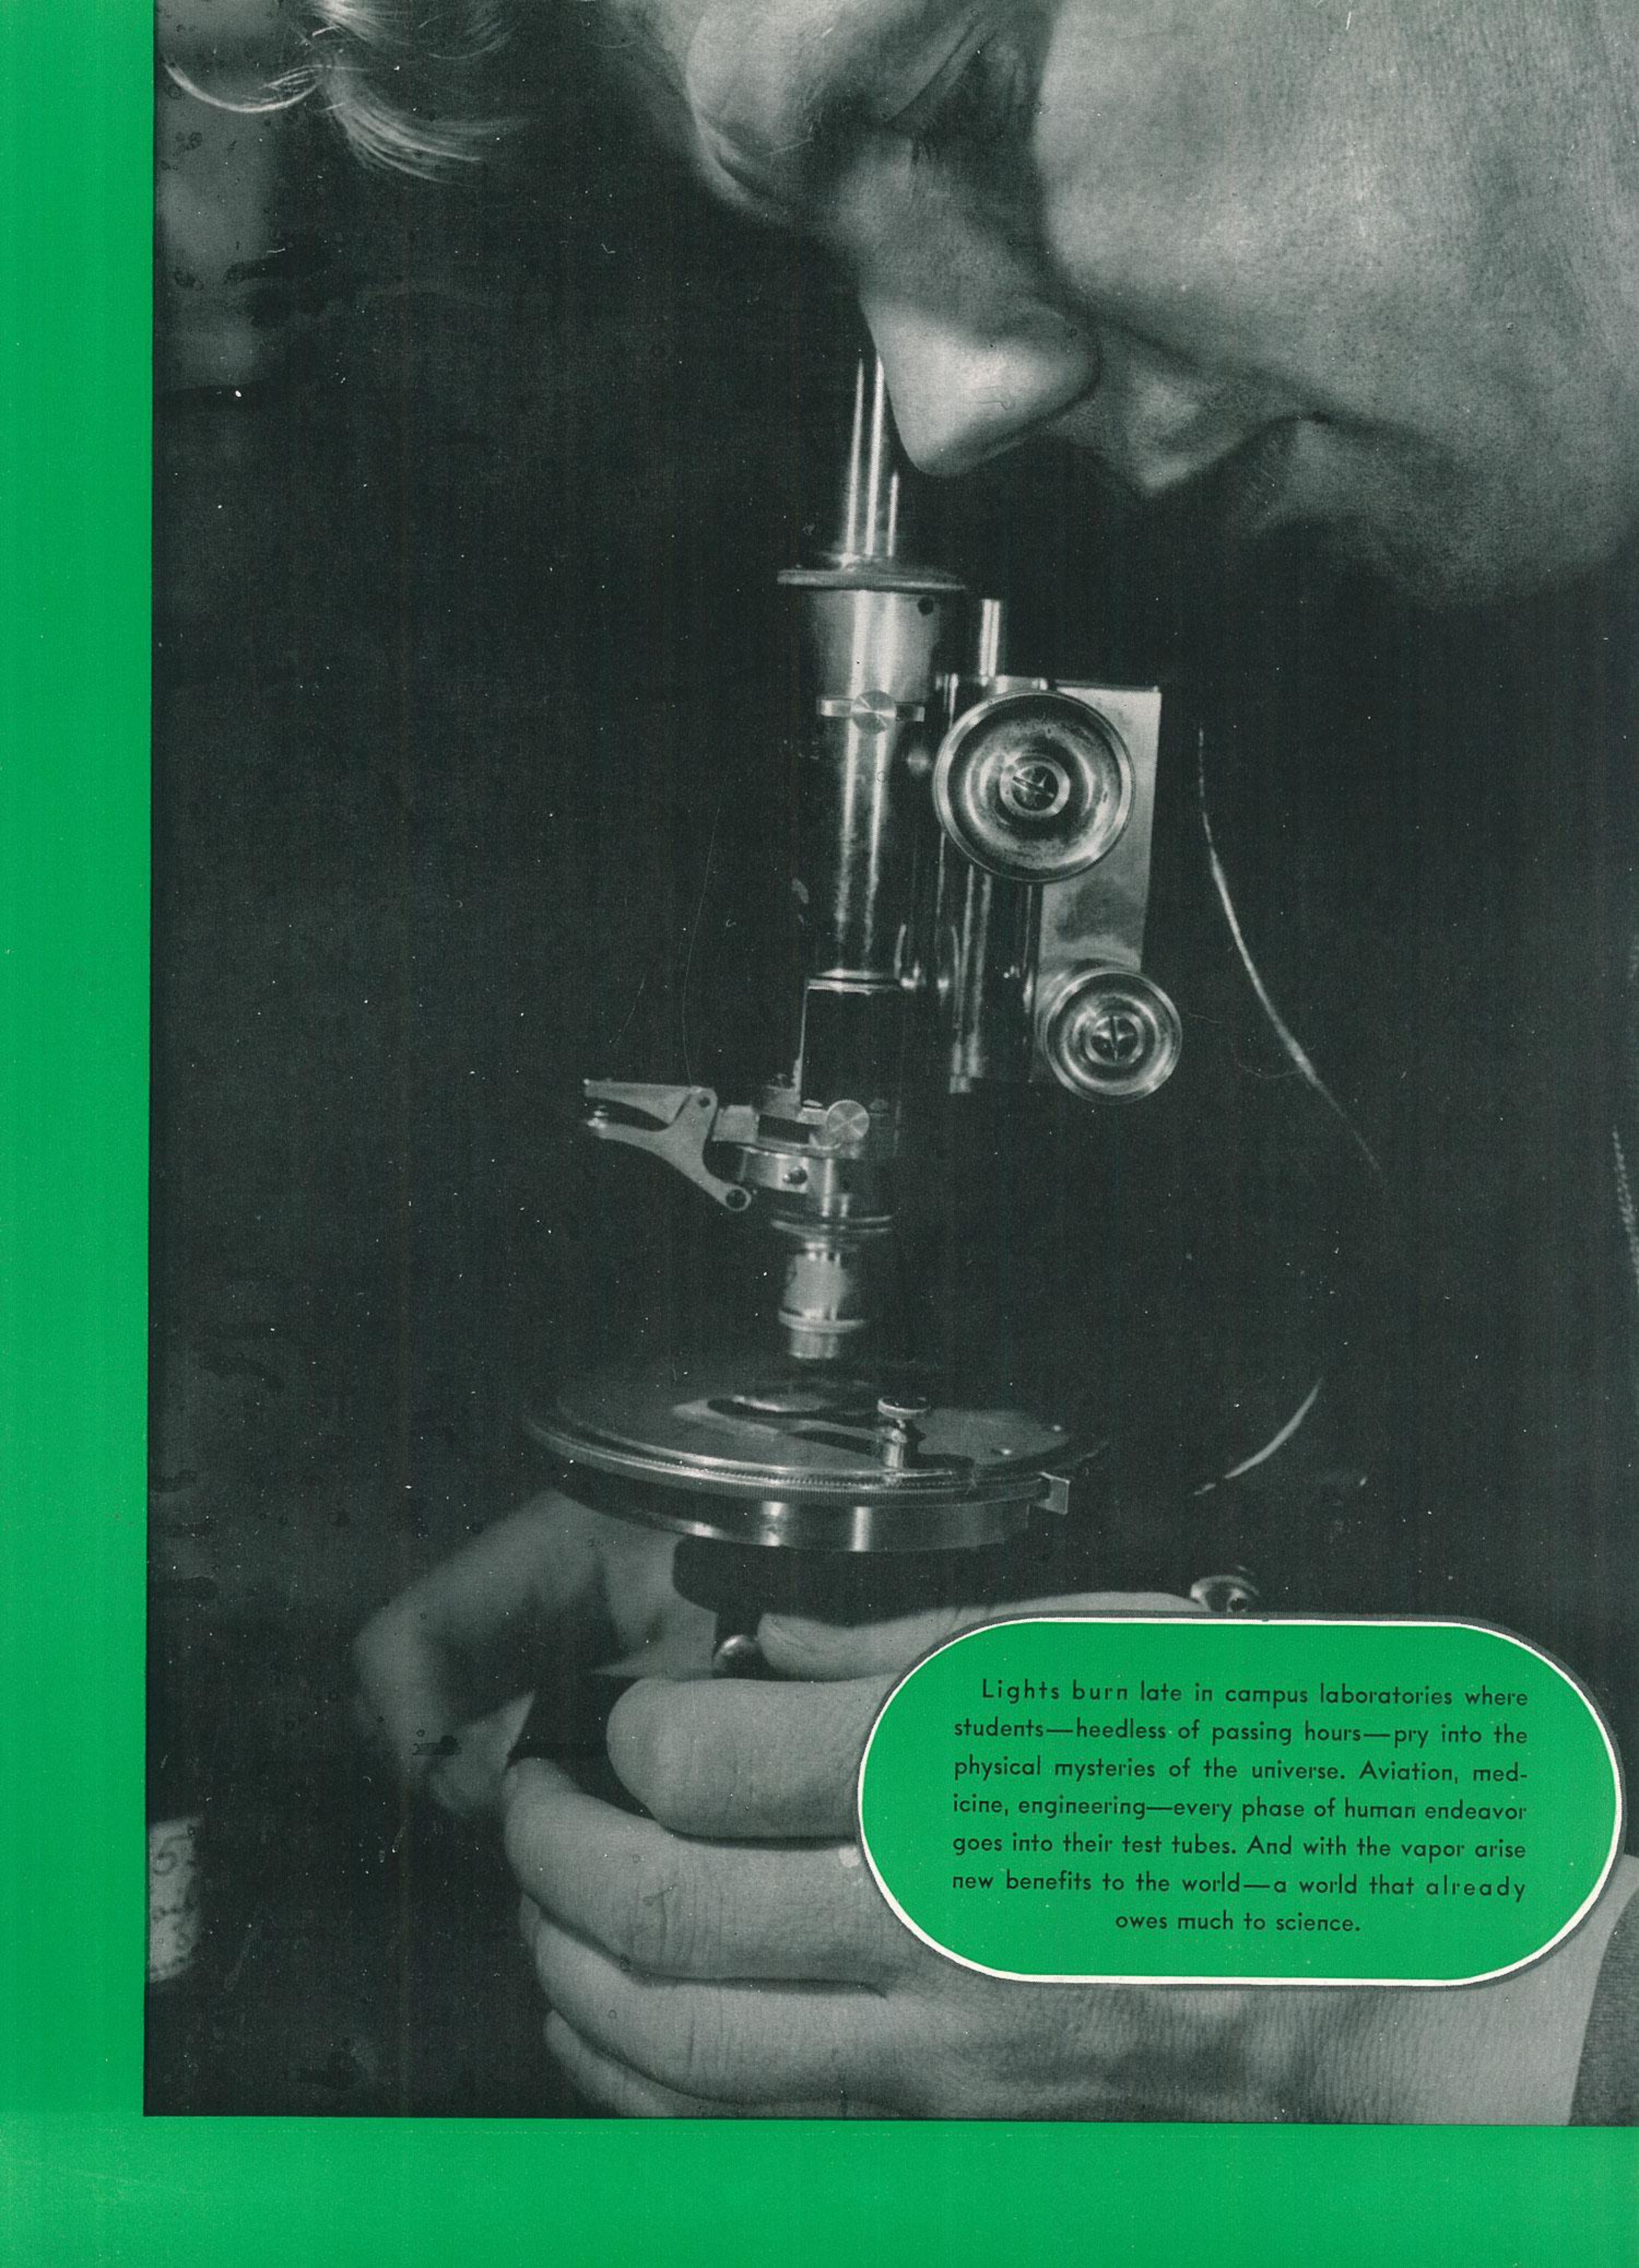

A product is no better than its craftsman. The professor who tools student minds is a man with a vast responsibility to society. Tolerance and an understanding of the individual must temper personal knowledge and convictions. With these attributes, he brings order from a chaos of conflicting and uncoordinated experience and academic philosophy.

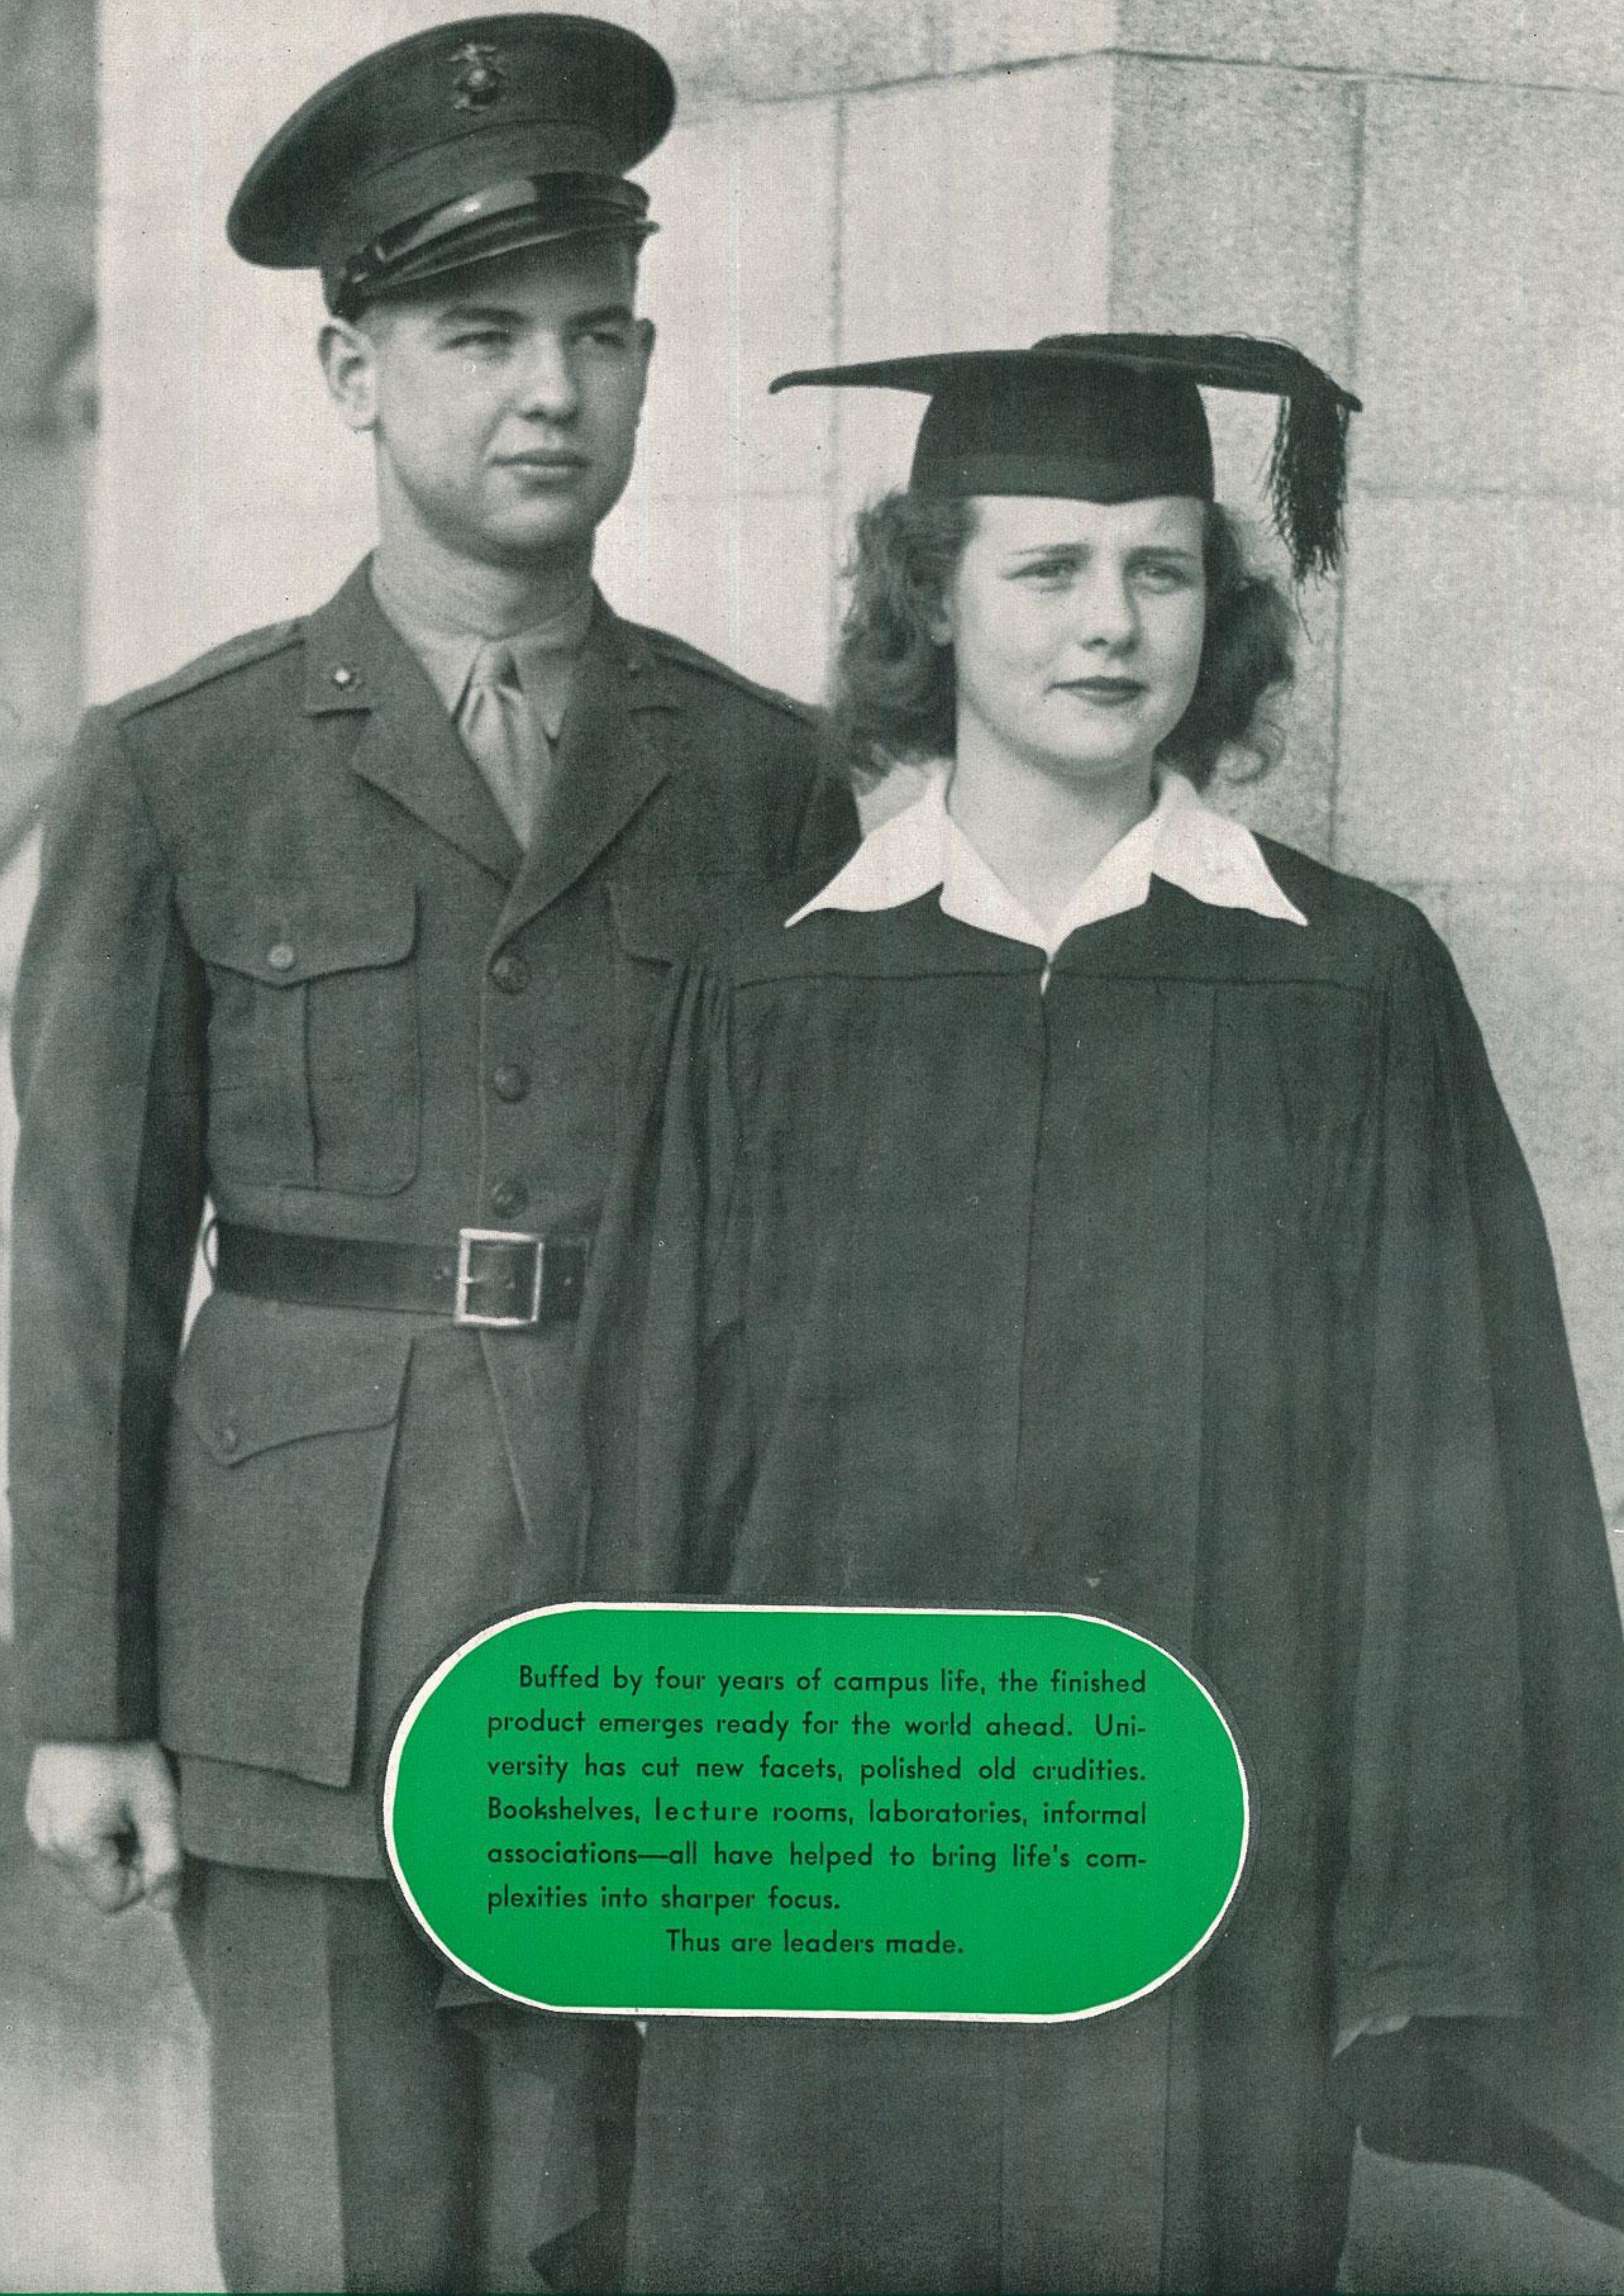

Perpetuators of the ideals that made the nation great, student organizations foster all-important rule by representation. Here the student learns the precious value of self-government which others are today defending in battle and which he himself will some day champion in the arena.

Disseminators of news, recorders of history, campus publications weld together students with otherwise divergent interests. Rich in heritage, publications carry on their appointed tasks day after day, year after year. Into no other student activity has been infused such a sense of service—such a spirit of comradery.

Lights burn late in campus laboratories where students—heedless of passing hours—pry into the physical mysteries of the universe. Aviation, medicine, engineering—every phase of human endeavor goes into their test tubes. And with the vapor arise new benefits to the world—a world that already owes much to science.

Buffed by four years of campus life, the finished product emerges ready for the world ahead. University has cut new facets, polished old crudities. Bookshelves, lecture rooms, laboratories, informal associations—all have helped to bring life's complexities into sharper focus.

Thus are leaders made.

Administration

There is so much talk these days about post-war planning that there is some danger that we may be expecting the end of the war to be just around the corner, and so, unconsciously, slacken our drive to win the war. The need for immediate service is as strong as ever. You will, all of you, I am sure, press forward toward training yourself for this service.

This has been a busy year, yet a year with a reasonable amount of fun and relaxation along with serious, purposeful work. Thanks to all of you for your contributions to the good name of your University.

Sincerely yours,
L. P. Sieg

The world is looking today with optimism toward a new horizon, beyond which lies vast opportunities for research, exploration and achievement in the fields of industry, business, science, agriculture and human relations.

While some pioneering is being done beyond this horizon, it will be you young men and women who will have the greatest opportunities. The tasks will require great knowledge, patience and plain, old fashioned hard work. And the paths will be beset with great troubles. But the greater the difficulties, the greater will be the degree of your successes. And the degree of your successes may well be the measure of the progress of civilization.

The hazards and opportunities beyond the new horizon are a challenge to your generation. I am certain it will be met with the spirit that has made our nation great and is enabling us to meet an equally great challenge laid down by aggressor nations.

ARTHUR B. LANGLEIE
Governor of Washington

Board of Regents

ALFRED SHEMANSKI: President of the Board of Regents, Mr. Shemanski is one of Seattle's most prominent and progressive business men. He is co-owner of the Eastern Outfitting Company and is well known for his philanthropy and civic activities and leadership. Term expires 1944.

THOMAS BALMER
Vice-President

MRS. L. O. ANDERSON

PHILIP D. MACBRIDE

THE BOARD of Regents of the University of Washington consists of seven members appointed by the Governor of the State, by and with the consent of the state senate. The appointment is for a six-year term and members serve until the expiration of their terms or until their successors are appointed and qualify. The terms of service are staggered so that there is never a complete change of personnel at any given date. The Regents contribute their time and efforts purely as a public service and receive no financial compensation.

Thomas Balmer: Vice-President, Board of Regents; University of Washington Law School, 1909. Vice-President and Western Counsel for Great Northern Railway Company. Term expires 1947.

Mrs. L. O. Anderson: Chelan; A.B. Nebraska Wesleyan, 1910; M.A. University of Washington, 1926; Ph.D. University of Washington, 1937. Has held numerous public education positions, city, county and state. As an author has written and published a number of books of pioneer history. Term expires 1946.

Philip D. Macbride: Attorney, Seattle; Graduate University of Iowa, where his father was professor and president for many years. Term expires 1944.

Winlock W. Miller: Attorney and real estate investments, Seattle. Graduate Yale University. "Dean" of University regents, having served 23 years and most of that time as Chairman of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds. Is also Overseer of Whitman College. Term expires 1947.

Werner A. Rupp: Publisher Aberdeen World; Graduate of Whitman College which he is now serving as Overseer; has record of sixteen years as a regent of the University to his credit. Term expires 1945.

Eugene A. White: Tacoma; Metallurgical engineer; Graduate University of Washington School of Mines, 1908. Manager Tacoma Smelter of the American Smelting and Refining Company. Member A.I.M.E. and actively interested in civic, industrial and professional organizations of Tacoma and Northwest. Term expires 1946.

Office of Student Affairs

A MAJOR administrative reorganization last summer combined the offices of the Deans of Men and Women into a new Office of Student Affairs, promptly labeled OSA by DAILY newshounds. Dean Newhouse, friendly, hard-working Dean of Men, became director of student affairs, with the responsibility of making the new office serve the purpose for which it was created: to improve student-faculty relations. The Office of Student Affairs was given supervision over all student activities, with the exception of athletics and finances. "Mev" Hansberry, assistant director of student affairs, became adviser to all women's activities, with headquarters in the AWS lounge. Miss May Dunn Ward, acting dean of women, became counselor for women, while Miss Mary I. Bash, associate dean of women, became counselor for women and manager of student housing. Glen Nygreen, assistant dean of men, assumed duties as counselor for men.

ASUW athletics and finances are handled by a capable staff in the ASUW business office on the third floor of Clark Hall. Ivan Travis was appointed ASUW business manager this year to replace Nelson A. Wahlstrom, assistant University comptroller, who has been acting head of ASUW since the resignation of Ray Eckmann last year. Eckmann's job is now divided three ways, with Travis as business manager, Alvin Ulbrickson as manager of athletics, succeeding Roland E. Belshaw in that office, and Dean Newhouse, director of student affairs in charge of all non-athletic activities. Clyde Robinson, with offices in Lewis Hall, heads ASUW publications, while Roy Sandberg is director of the Athletic News Service. J. E. McRae is manager of the University Book Store. Addie Powell is office manager of ASUW, Dayle Hoagland heads the secretarial staff.

ASUN

ASUW PRESIDENT

VIRGINIA TAYLOR—Red-headed, energetic, first woman president of ASUW—carrying out pre-election promises for more student government, the Taylor regime was marked by revision of the ASUW constitution and setting up new Board of Control—Phi Beta—Poli Sci major—hopes to become foreign correspondent—instigated her pet "Algernon" (an albino rat) as ASUW institution.

MARY HAIG—well-known ASUW secretary—followed in political footsteps of big brother, Neil, former ASUW prexy—always promoting things, including bigger and better Student Council parties—now Mrs. Martin Mackey, Mary took after predecessor, June Hellenenthal, by resigning while in office to marry a Naval officer.

JACKIE FISHER — ASUW secretary—replaced Mary Haig in November—took over gigantic task of reorganizing ASUW files—friendly, petite art student—ASUW adviser to W.S.S.F. committee—carries on tradition of office by wearing Navy pin—now doing cadet teaching in art.

SHIRLEY NASH — ASUW vice-president — affectionately known as "Squirelly"—ran unopposed for office—handled frosh and ASUW elections—mistress of ceremonies for Election Mixer—Law student—only Council member objecting to "Algernon."

Student Council

Aside from its regular duties as controlling body for student activities on the campus, this year's Student Council set up the Constitution Revision committee, discussed and approved the new constitution for submission to the student body.

Constitutional Revision Committee

Meeting two hours daily from November through February, the Constitution Revision committee discussed forms of student government at other schools, interviewed faculty members and drafted a new Constitution for presentation to the Council. Main revision was formation of Board of Control to supersede Council and Board of Student Finance.

Board of Student Finance

Controlling the financial policy of the ASUW, the Board of Student Finance approved this year's budget, authorized special expenditures, regulated admission prices, legalized faculty control of the Daily and supervised distribution of Rose Bowl proceeds.

Standing: Gordon Marckworth, Dean Newhouse, Al Ulbrickson, Nelson A. Wahlstrom. Sitting: Virginia Taylor, Carl Dakan, Ruth Wienker.

Social Events Committee

Changing its name from Student Affairs to Social Events, this committee regulated the date and closing time for all-University affairs.

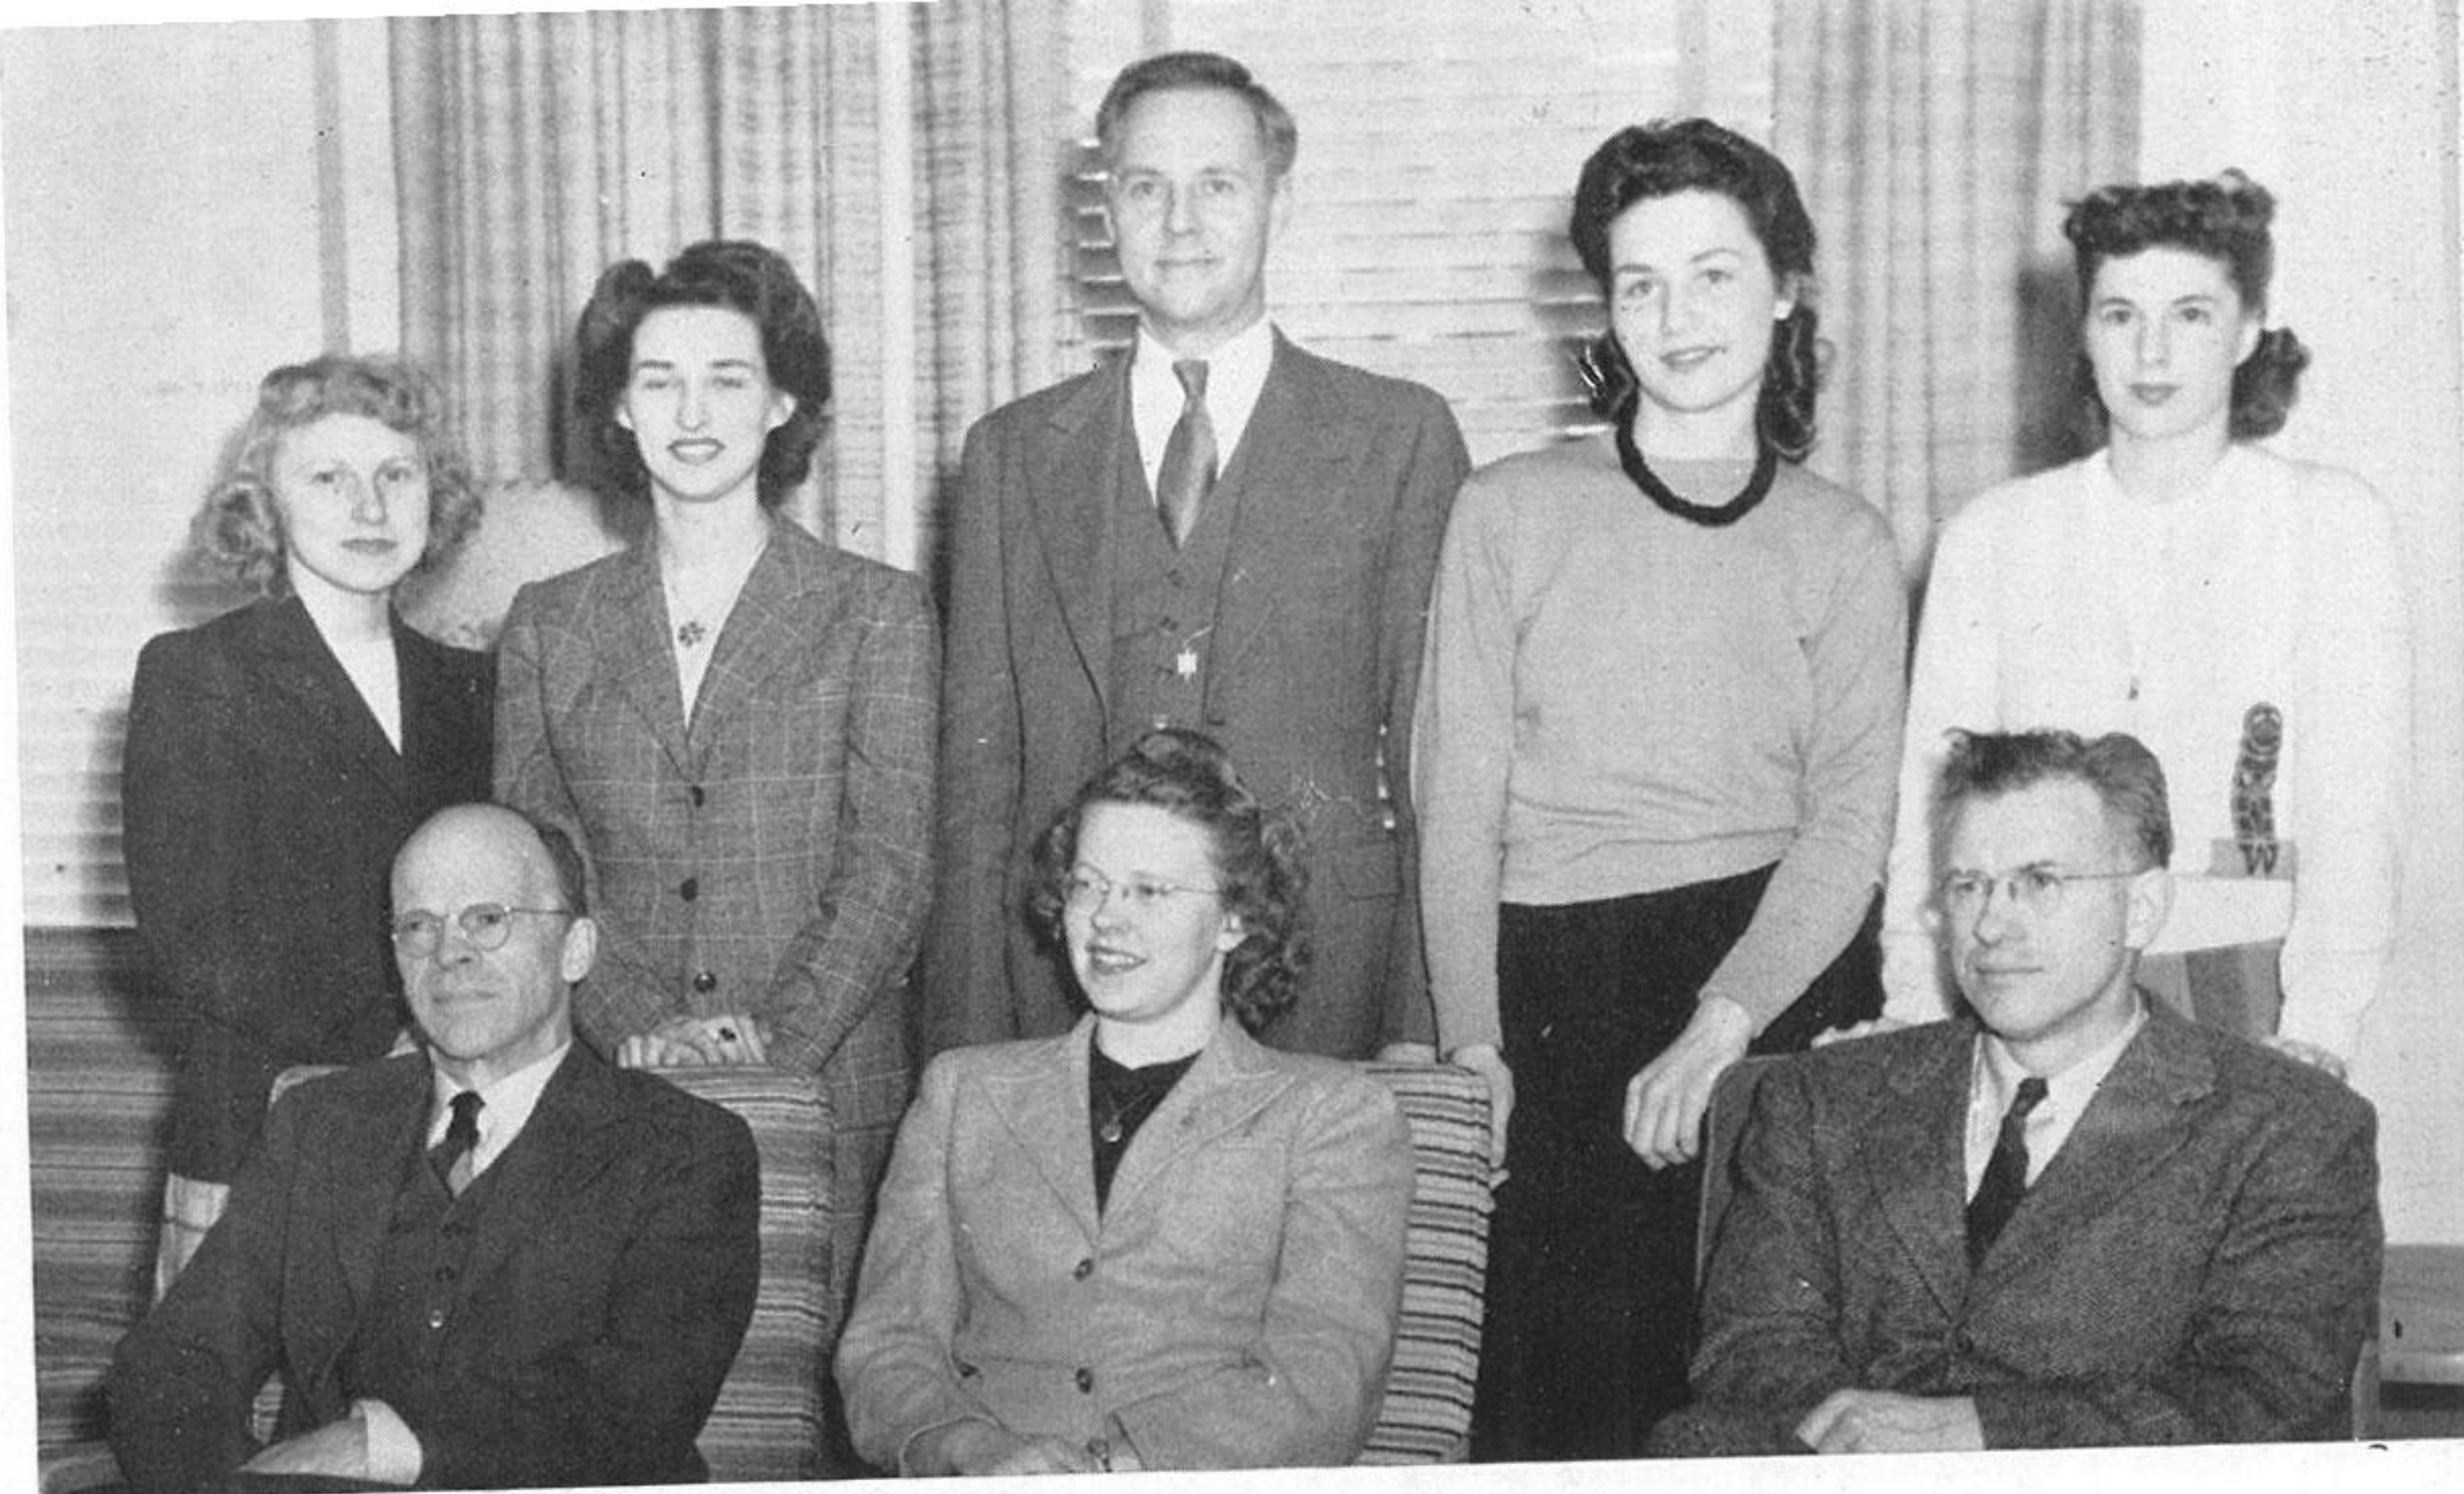

Standing: Bob Holt, Neil Anderson, Paul Richardson, Barry Rogers, Howard Nostrand, Ernest Engel, Jim De Partes.
Sitting: Eleanor Scheece, Margaret Morrison, Margaret Walters, Peggy Sare, Mev Hansberry, Jan Hartman, Faye St. John, Nettie Jean Ross, Shirley Nash.

Book Store Board

The Bookstore Board, governing the general policies of the Bookstore, sets the amount of the annual rebate, decides on new departments, supervises the buying and leasing of properties and makes donations from the Bookstore surplus for worth-while community projects.

Standing: Nelson A. Wahlstrom, Dean Herbert Condon, Marguerite Poore, J. E. McRae, Carl Dakan. Sitting: Virginia Taylor, Dean Thomson, Jackie Fisher.

AWS Concerts

A student-faculty group organized this year, the Committee on AWS Concerts was set up to choose the concert stars. The Chamber Music series on the campus was organized by a branch of this committee.

Freshman Days

To help freshmen get acquainted with University life and the campus in general, the Freshman Days committee arranged a program for September 18, the Saturday before school opened, offering campus tours, library tours and a get-acquainted mixer. Aid was also given the freshmen by committee members who solved registration difficulties.

War Chest

Going over the $2000 quota by $321, the War Chest committee joined Seattle College and Seattle Pacific College in a successful three-day tag sale drive, November 4-5-6. Highlight of the committee's work was the all-University War Chest Assembly, at which Capt. Paul Moore, U.S.M.C., addressed the students.

WSSF Drive

Raising over $1100 for the education of college students in war-torn countries, the World Student Service Fund committee, for the first time under the auspices of the ASUW, staged a week-long drive, January 17-22, with tag sales and individual contributions, culminating in a sorority open house dance.

Red Cross Drive

Collecting $770 over the $1000 quota, the Red Cross Drive committee climaxed a successful two-day campaign, March 21-22, with a no-date Election mixer, complete with twelve-piece orchestra and vocalist. Tag sales on the campus made up most of the total and Navy contributions were credited to the University.

Campus Days

Sponsored by Totem Club, the Campus Day committee supervised student-gardeners raking leaves, arranged for a sound truck with music, served coffee and doughnuts and provided entertainment at Clark Hall after the morning's work.

Freshman Mixer

Welcoming to the campus new V-12 students, the Freshman Mixer committee, sponsored by an energetic freshman class, planned an informal, no-date, strictly frosh dance at Eagleson Hall. Novelty features were presented during intermission.

Standing: Margaret Cyr, Pat Shannon, Fred Thies. Sitting: Billie Elliot, Shirley Torrance, chairman, George Moergeli.

Varsity Ball

Returning a little to the glamour of pre-war days, the Varsity Ball committee allowed corsages and tuxedos. With members of service groups selling tickets, the dance proved a sell-out. This year's Varsity Ball hit an all-time high with an attendance of 1800 dancers.

Homecoming

Suddenly changing their plans due to the collapse of the football conference, the Homecoming committee made the week-end of October 22-23 memorable to both returning grads and students. The traditional parade down Greek Row, rally, and blanket parade highlighted the 1943 Homecoming season.

"MEV" HANSBERRY
Associate Director of Student Affairs

STREAMLINING its policies to match its new Lounge, the AWS in this year's program stressed expansion within itself and co-operation with other large campus groups. The 1943-44 season saw "Mev" Hansberry take over the reins, centralizing all women's group activities under one administration; saw the AWS Constitution revised; saw Betty Plank take over the new position of AWS Manager of Activities, Faye Raymer appointed Business Manager in charge of Lectures and Concerts and saw, under the energetic guidance of President Ruth Wienker, the organization of an activities program with wide appeal to all campus women.

AWS Lounge Opens

FIRST day in November grapefruit punch and good cheer filled the new AWS lounge. Crammed into one small room for months after an enlarged Coffee Shop swallowed the former activity headquarters, AWS big-wigs smiled happily in their new Nile-green quarters, dispensed punch to all attending their open-house.

Reading counter-clockwise: Counselor for Men Nygreen places his approval on the new lounge and the food . . . the wassail bowl crowd drinks up . . . dishwashing, the inevitable aftermath of a party.

WAR CORSAGE SELLING COMMITTEE

Generally handling the business, the War Corsage Selling committee takes orders and provides for pom-pom salesgirls at the games.

L. to r.: Alvara Forbus, asst. chrm.; Kay Linde, chrm.

WAR STAMP COMMITTEE

The War Stamp committee is in charge of promoting the sale of war stamps and bonds throughout the year by rallies, assemblies, and publicity stunts and by establishing selling posts on the campus and in organized houses.

L. to r.: Helen Richardson, chrm.; Barbara Smelser, Kay Pomeroy, asst. chrm.; Maryanette Peterson.

Classes

Senior Class

SENIOR class began its last year in school by planning a mixer for incoming freshmen during Freshman Days. Senior week, during May, was chairmanned by Elcena Torrance, with the assistance of Jim Eberhardt. A senior banquet, dance and traditional Ivy planting ceremonies were held. The class decided upon a new project, namely the election of ten outstanding seniors whose pictures will hang in a "Hall of Fame" in the post-war Student Union Building.

Vice-President of the class was Lois Ransom, Ann Janett Becker, secretary, and Helen Richardson, treasurer.

PAULINE O'HARE . . . tall, dark, attractive drama major . . . edited drama section in Tyee . . . looking into future of New York stage for career . . . character parts her specialty . . . import from California.

Junior Class

FOR the third year in its history, the Class of 1945 lost its president in mid-term. Football star Sam Robinson resigned his job in favor of the Marines, and Pat Sutherland, junior class treasurer, moved up to the presidency. Bobby Rhodes served as vice-president while Elaine Fisher was secretary. Bill Kydd succeeded Sutherland as treasurer. Extended negotiations with big name bands for the Junior Prom failed to produce results, although a tentative date had been set. All chances of a Prom were killed finally when Kydd, who was to have been chairman, was drafted.

Prominents

ANNE BEAUDIN . . . amateur politician who waged a well-planned campaign in spring elections, came out on top with the ASUW presidency . . . at the Theta Sig banquet faculty man Berne Jacobsen introduced her as the "most constant griper in JJ class" . . . surmounts griper's reputation to become a member of practically everything on campus.

BILL TAYLOR . . . flashy, high scoring forward, who sparked the Husky basketball seasons during the past two years . . . named one of Pacific Coast's outstanding players . . . quite a socialite when not in training . . . a Beta and a member of Oval Club.

GEORGE FLACK . . . blame this V-12 social chairman for overwhelming success of the newly created V-12 Sailor Hawkins Day . . . as a frosh a Malamute pledge and enthusiastic member of the Rally committee . . . in charge of last fall's all-V-12 dance . . . dipped his fingers into politics this spring and gained reputation of a most amazing impromptu speaker.

MARIE CARROLL . . . petite, blonde Pi Phi, who in her quiet, efficient manner, successfully handled the AWS Concert series . . . one of outstanding activity women on campus . . . possessor of 3.9 grade average . . . is the new AWS Vice-President . . . her pet hobby: sun-bathing on family yacht.

RAYANNE DE CHENNE . . . her own best ad for the AWS Date Bureau she organized . . . Rayanne will be married in June to a Navy officer who applied for a date . . . chairman of War Recreation . . . served on WSSF committee . . . secretary of Panhellenic.

SAMMY ROBINSON . . . for two years sparked the Washington football season as half-back on the Husky team . . . turned out for swimming and track . . . delved into campus politics last year, was elected junior class president . . . spends leisure hours playing bridge, drinking cokes in Clark hall.

FOR the sophomore class, this has been a hard luck year. Because fraternities were at low ebb, the traditional Sophomore Carnival could not be put on. Because sophomores were mostly feminine, the Sophomore Beard Growing contest was impractical. Following up their bad luck, the sophomore officers had their pictures taken for Tyee four times before a suitable picture was obtained.

The sophomore class was headed by Rollie Wilson, who ran unopposed for her office. Other officers were Jean Hutchins, vice-president, Shirley Kelley, treasurer, and Ann McPherson, treasurer.

Prominents

JEANNE BENNETT . . . poised, quiet and efficient Tri-Delt who began her AWS career last year by sparking the War Recreation committee . . . now is chairman of the committee and in charge of the AWS Date Bureau . . . worked on concerts and lectures and other AWS committees . . . W-Key member.

DICK SAMPSON . . . traditionally a president, has headed his class in both frosh and junior years . . . political-minded Fijis' best bet in campus elections . . . helped revise the Constitution . . . as member of the new Board of Control, he chairmans the powerful Publications Council . . . laughs off reputation as a campus glamour man . . . has his say in planning the new Student Union Building.

DORIN ANDERSON . . . YW and AWS cabinets . . . chairmaned art and scholarship committees, integral member of WSSF Drive and War Chest Drive committees . . . this sweet and demure Sigma Kappa makes with the money for W-Key . . . also handled ticket sales for the campus Red Cross Drive . . . member of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, and receiver of Mortar Board Scholarship plaque this year.

BREWSTER DENNY . . . the Sigma Chi's blond donation to the campus . . . heads the planning committee for the proposed new Student Union building, and keeps it cookin' . . . opposition member of the Constitution Revision committee . . . an NRO with dreams of law someday, and holds down a 3.7 in preparation for it . . . Compass and Chart . . . Purple Shield . . . Varsity Track squad.

BOBBIE TALBOT . . . glamorous DG activities girl . . . Sigma Epsilon Sigma . . . president of W-Key this year in recognition of her hard work on AWS committees and Cabinet . . . WSSF Drive, Campus Red Cross Drive, Scholarship Banquet . . . chairmaned the successful campus Key Drive . . . member Frosh Standard Council . . . ready, willing, and able.

BILL GALBRAITH . . . combined presidency of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity with vice-presidency of MacGregor . . . blond, handsome Sports editor of Tyee . . . promising journalism major with a year on Daily to his credit . . . member of Public Discussion Group and track squad . . . newly appointed Tyee representative to ASUW Publications Committee.

Freshman Class

FROSH entertained the new V-12ers the first week-end of spring quarter with a "Strictly Frosh" mixer, to become one of the first freshman classes in history to make a success of its first big University event. Shirley "Torchy" Torrance moved up from the vice-presidency to the top frosh post when Harland Brooks, elected president in the fall, entered the Army Air Corps winter quarter. Bob Eddy succeeded her as vice-president, while Ann Inkster was treasurer and Mary Jo Jahant secretary.

Prominents

Varsity

Dance Chairman Paul Richardson and his date

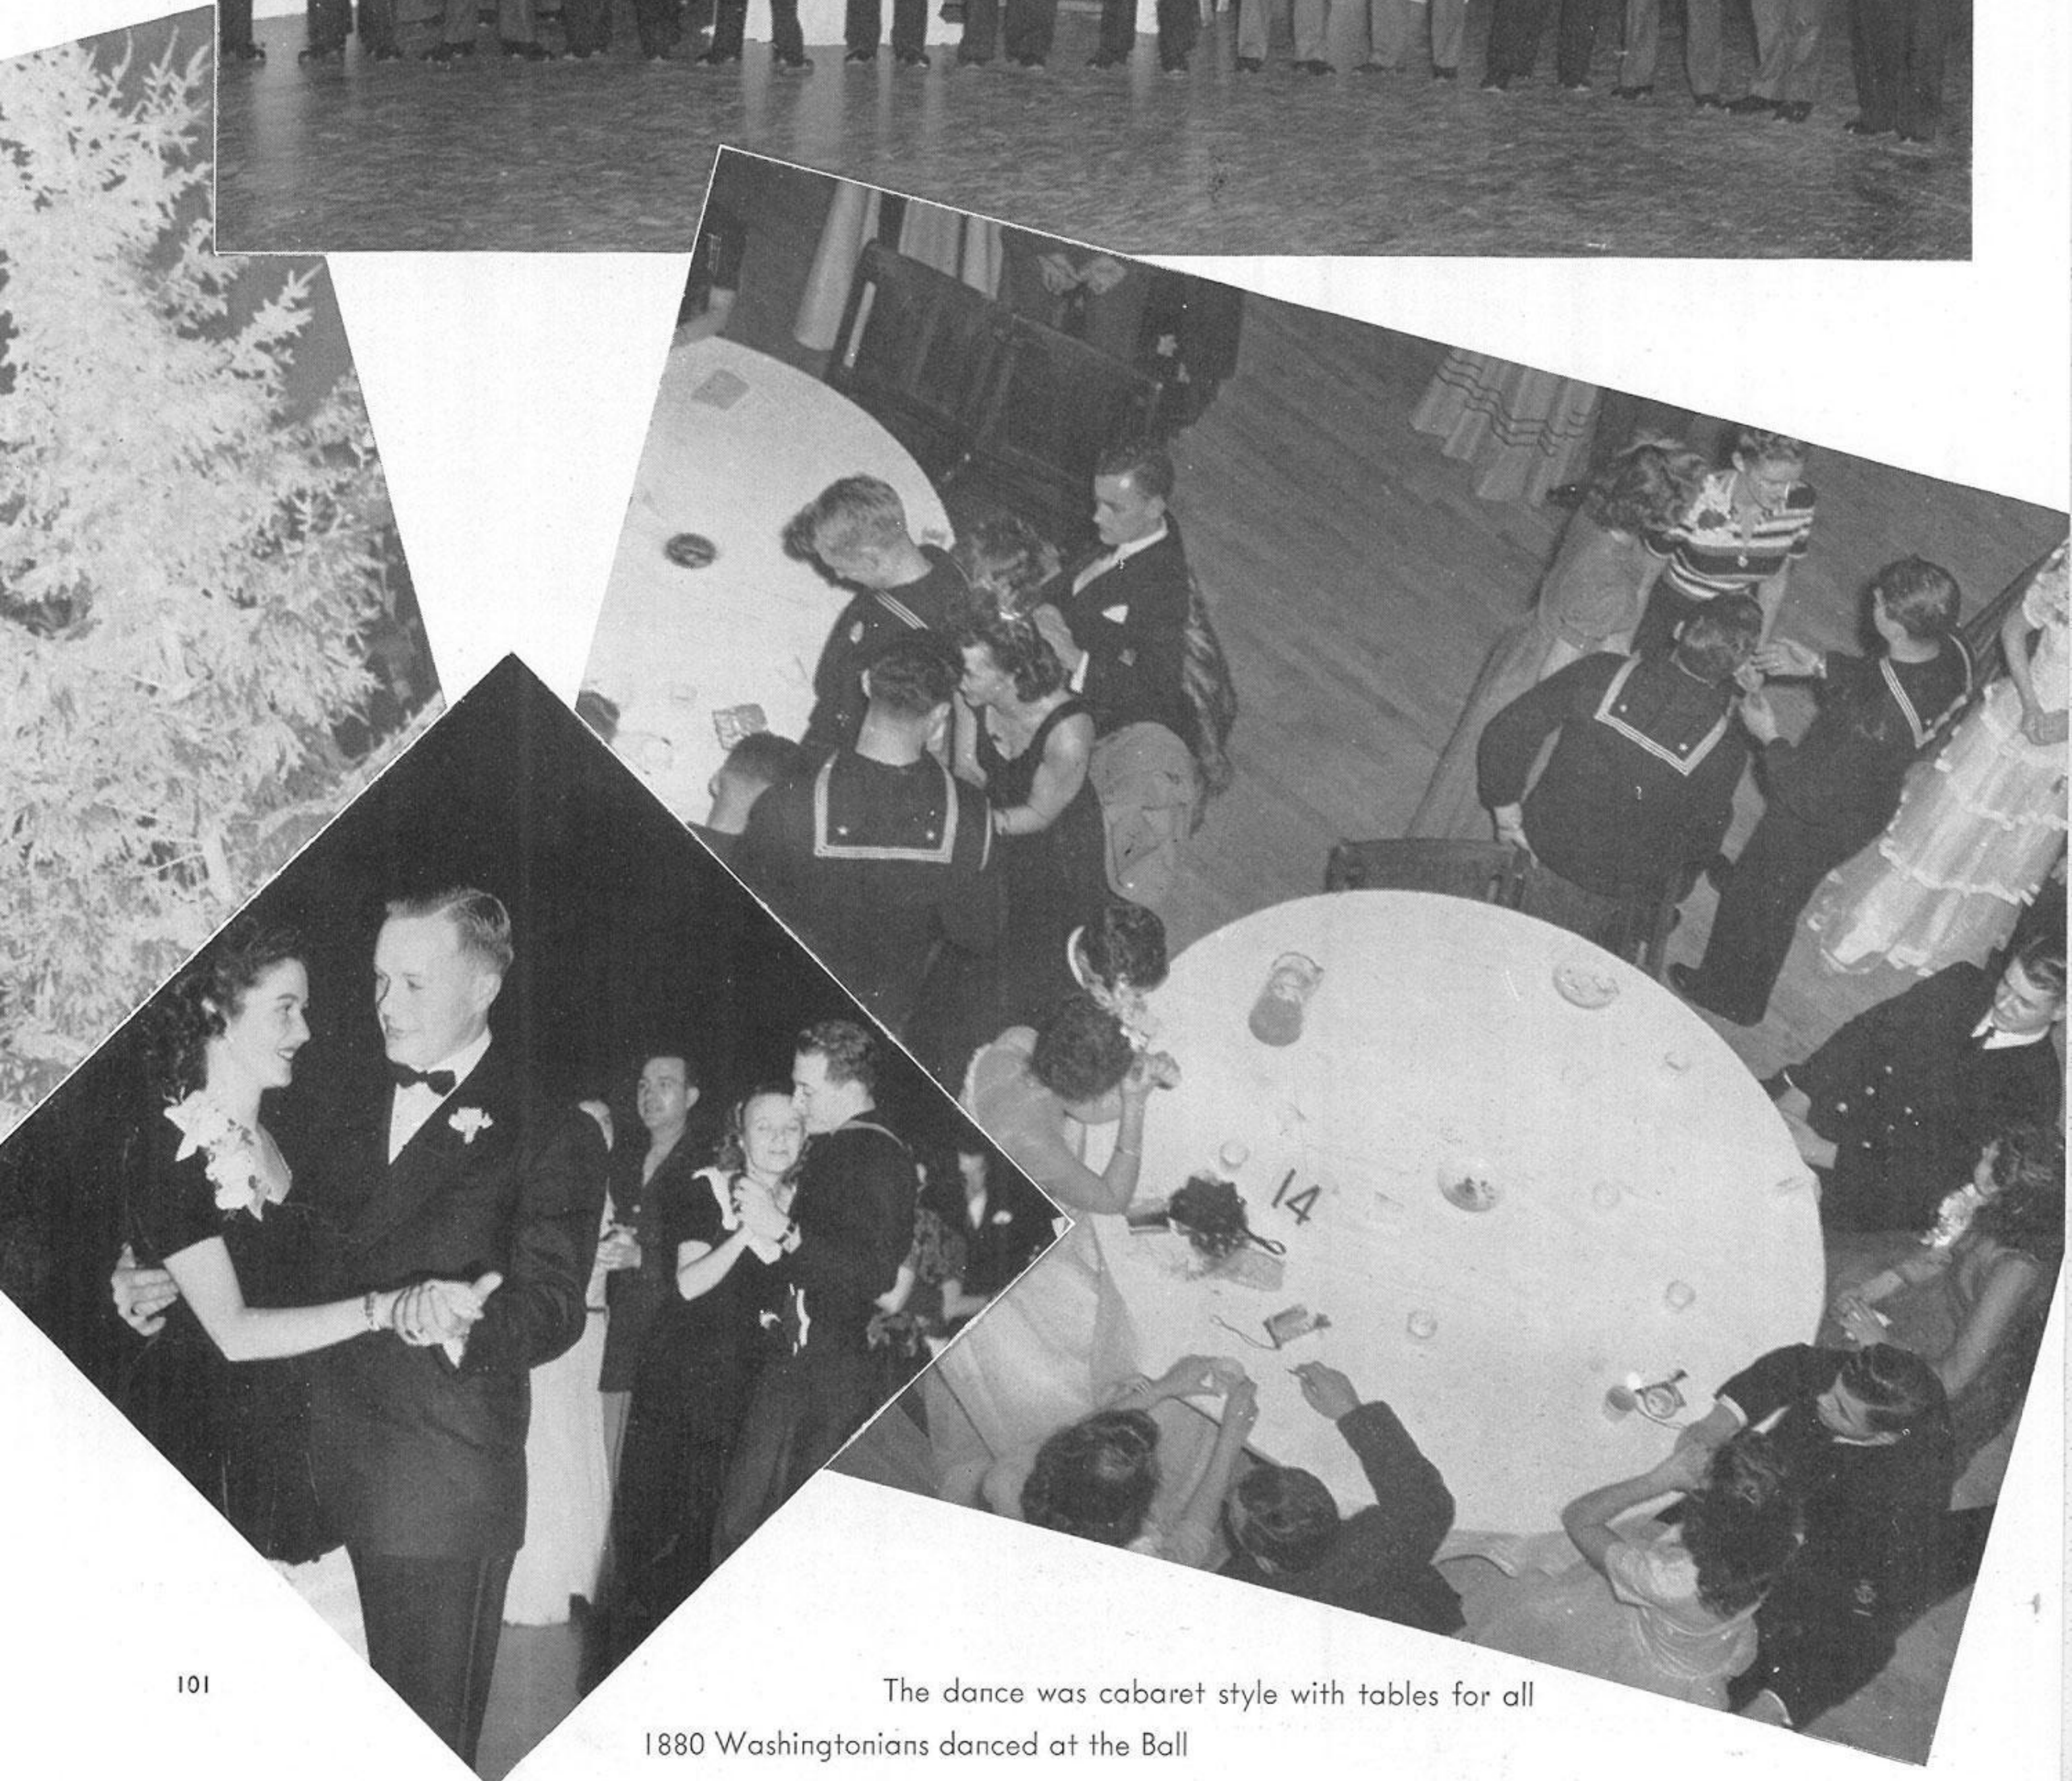

1943's better-than-ever Varsity Ball drew a record crowd of 1800 to the Civic auditorium. Held just before Christmas on December 18, the dance borrowed the holiday spirit and a huge white fir tree to give it that Yuletide air. A heart throb dance in more than one way, the Varsity Ball was a gigantic send-off for departing ROTC men and the media for Oval Club's fall pledging ceremonies. Chairmanned by the Junior class' up and coming Marine, Paul Richardson, Washington's merrymaking was broadcast far and wide over station KOL from the Ball.

ONCE again coeds reversed the process in the traditional way and asked their favorite man to Washington's annual girl-take-boy affair. Sponsored by Mortar Board, the dance was held on February 12 in the Civic auditorium. Red hearts and Varga girls carried out the Valentine theme and caught the full masculine approval as dancers circled the floor.

Oval Club Mixer

OFF to a good start, Oval Club kicked off at the beginning of the year with a no-date informal in the Women's gym on September 25. Bob Smith, Oval Club's secretary-treasurer, carried the ball for a touchdown as he chaired the dance with John Scott, Jim French, Jack Freibel, Pete Powlison and Merrill Haagen running interference.

Engineers' Informal

Engineers can dance, too.

Engineers' Slipstick Lipstick Queen, Shirley Hartwell.

Stairway fun in the Spanish Ballroom.

ONCE a year the engineers emerge from the lower campus to give an all-University informal and prove that they, too, are human. February 5 was the day, the Spanish Ballroom, the place, with Shirley Hartwell, beauteous Gamma Phi, as the Engineers' Queen of Slipstick. Neil Anderson waved the guiding T square as dance chairman, aided and abetted by Dave Pfeiffer, Dick Jackson, Ray Shahan and Bill Siler.

Songfest

COSTUME-CLAD coeds and men in uniform gathered in Washington's tradition-packed Sylvan theater on May 27, 1943, to sing beneath a full spring moon. The Kappas soared to first place in the women's division, followed in second and third place by Synadelphic and Delta Gamma. Compass and Chart headed the men's division with the Army Meteorologists second and the Betas third.

VISIONS of by-gone days swept into the foreground as dismembered fraternities banded together to present the all-University Interfraternity Council dance. With Bob Payne as their chief coordinator, masculine members of the Greek alphabet and dates gathered in the Olympic's Spanish Ballroom on January 22 to sway the fraternity swing once more. Center Case and his orchestra pulsated the rhythm for the dance which was informally fun.

Drama, Debate

Charley's Aunt

CHARLEY'S Aunt has been a sure-fire success since it was written in 1892 and maintained its popularity in the campus spring production and the summer revival. The four doors of the Penthouse were constantly swinging open and closed during this fast moving farce as the fictitious "Aunt" created hilarious situations.

Fresh Fields

Cradle Song

CRADLE Song was an atmosphere play and women portraying the nuns journeyed to the Dominican Mother-house at Everett to meet the sisters and to visit the chapel and convent grounds. The costumes for the play were complete and accurate even to the number of beads on the rosaries.

(Top) Sister Joanna of the Cross (Marcena Woerner) tells Teresa (Grace Stribling) good-bye.

(Middle) Teresa's arrival at the convent in a basket is cause for excitement.

Letters to Lucerne

DOVETAILING summer and fall, this show provided many young actresses with dramatic characterizations.

UNDERSTUDIES of every show were especially alert this year and more than once stepped into the parts with only a few hours' notice. Men taken for the army and students affected by the influenza epidemic were the main reasons for changes in cast.

(Left) Racial prejudice and war hysteria are two undercurrents of the plot that created emotional crises for Eloise Loveridge and Grace Stribling.

Ladies in Retirement

First Lady

FIRST Lady had a seven week run and gave Penthouse audiences a glimpse of feminine strategy in the political moves at the Capitol. Mary Ann Walterskirchen and Margretta Ramsey were the glamorous sharp-witted rivals.

Sorority House

SORORITY House was one of the most publicized shows of the year. This satire on sorority activity was the cause of much pro and con comment. Careful direction by Michael Ferrall was apparent with the large cast of forty-five. Thirty-six parts were for women. At the right is pictured Joyce Miller, star of the play and her leading man, Bob Patten.

The First Mrs. Fraser

THE First Mrs. Fraser is an example of polite English comedy. J. Gloria Miller played the title role of a woman who knew her own mind and cleverly sidestepped any opposition. In the picture to the left she is seen with the second Mrs. Fraser (Ffolliott Chorlton).

(Above) Mr. Fraser (Kenn Carr) comes to ask advice from his first wife concerning his second wife and becomes the butt of some well-directed humorous remarks by Steve Lundie, Cleve Richardson and J. Gloria Miller.

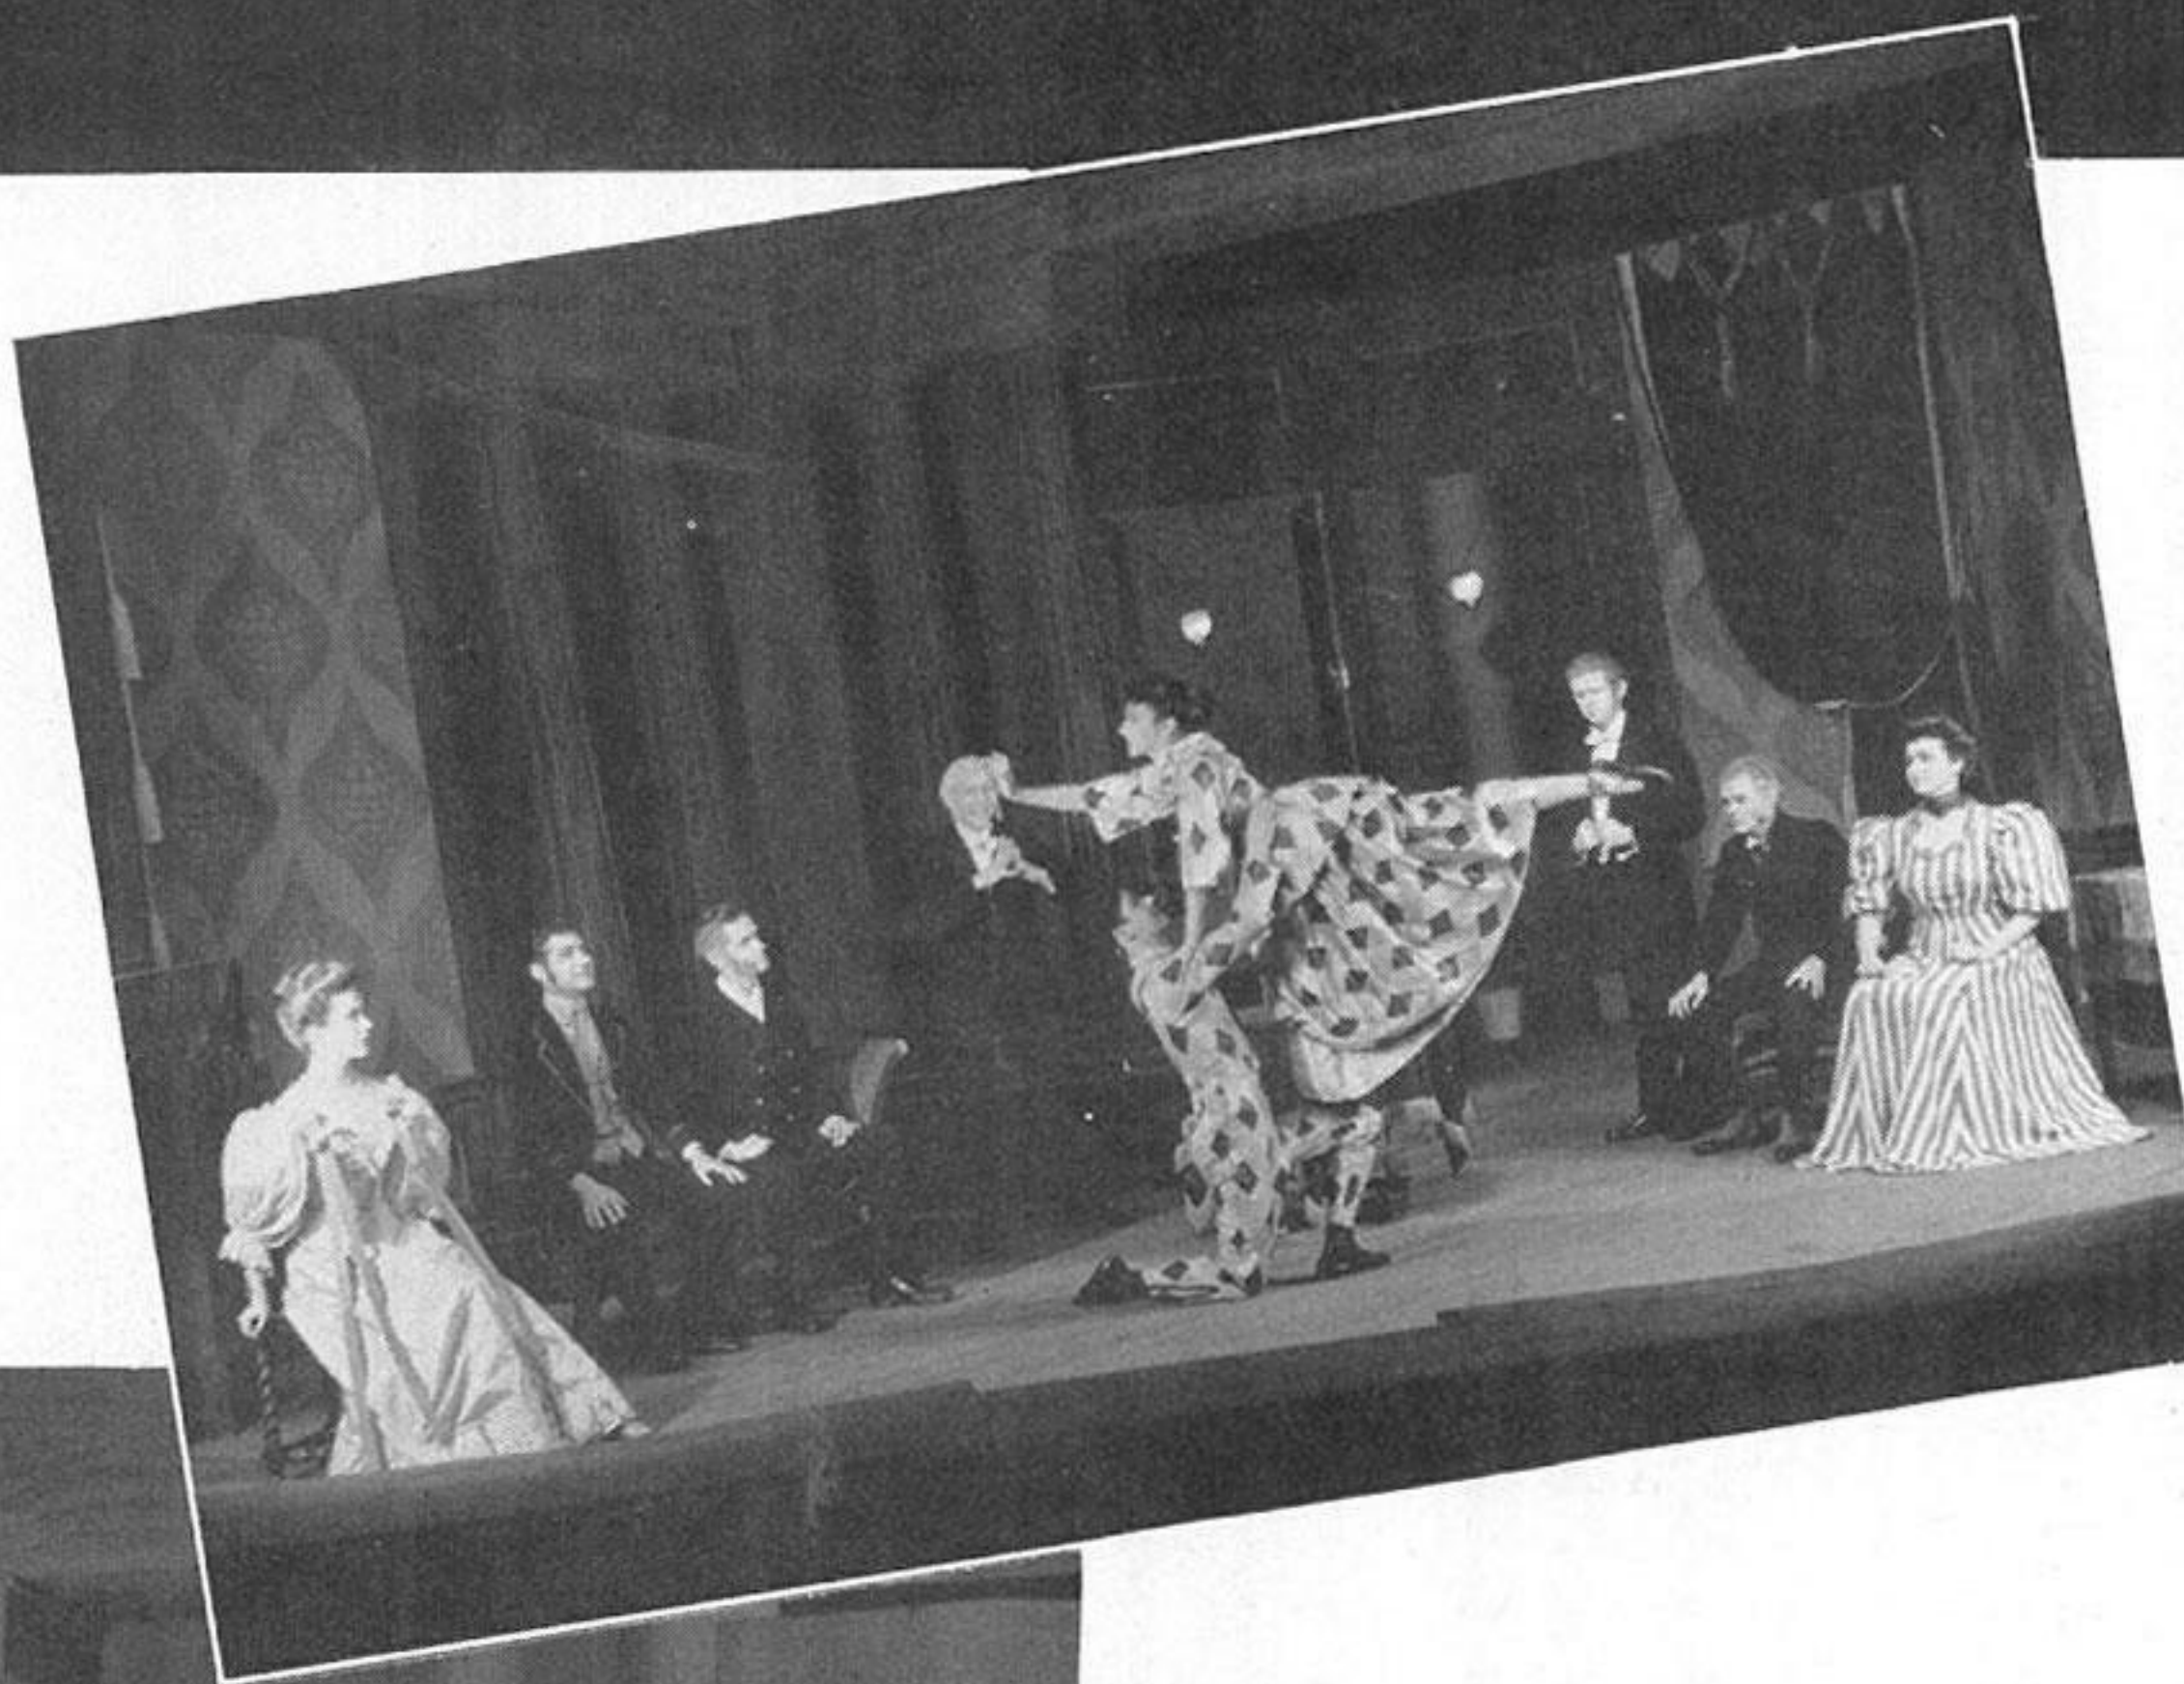

(Below) Kenn Carr and J. Gloria Miller as a turbulent Mr. and calm Mrs. Fraser.

THIS Shavian comedy was directed with understanding by Donal Harrington and was done in 1890 costumes and sets designed by John Conway. At the right, the twins Phil and Dolly (Leslie Green and Grace Stribling) invite the dentist (Bob Jackson) and his friend to lunch. Older sister (Margretta Ramsey-left) and mother (Pauline O'Hare) unsuspectingly let them do it.

You Never Can Tell

Claudia

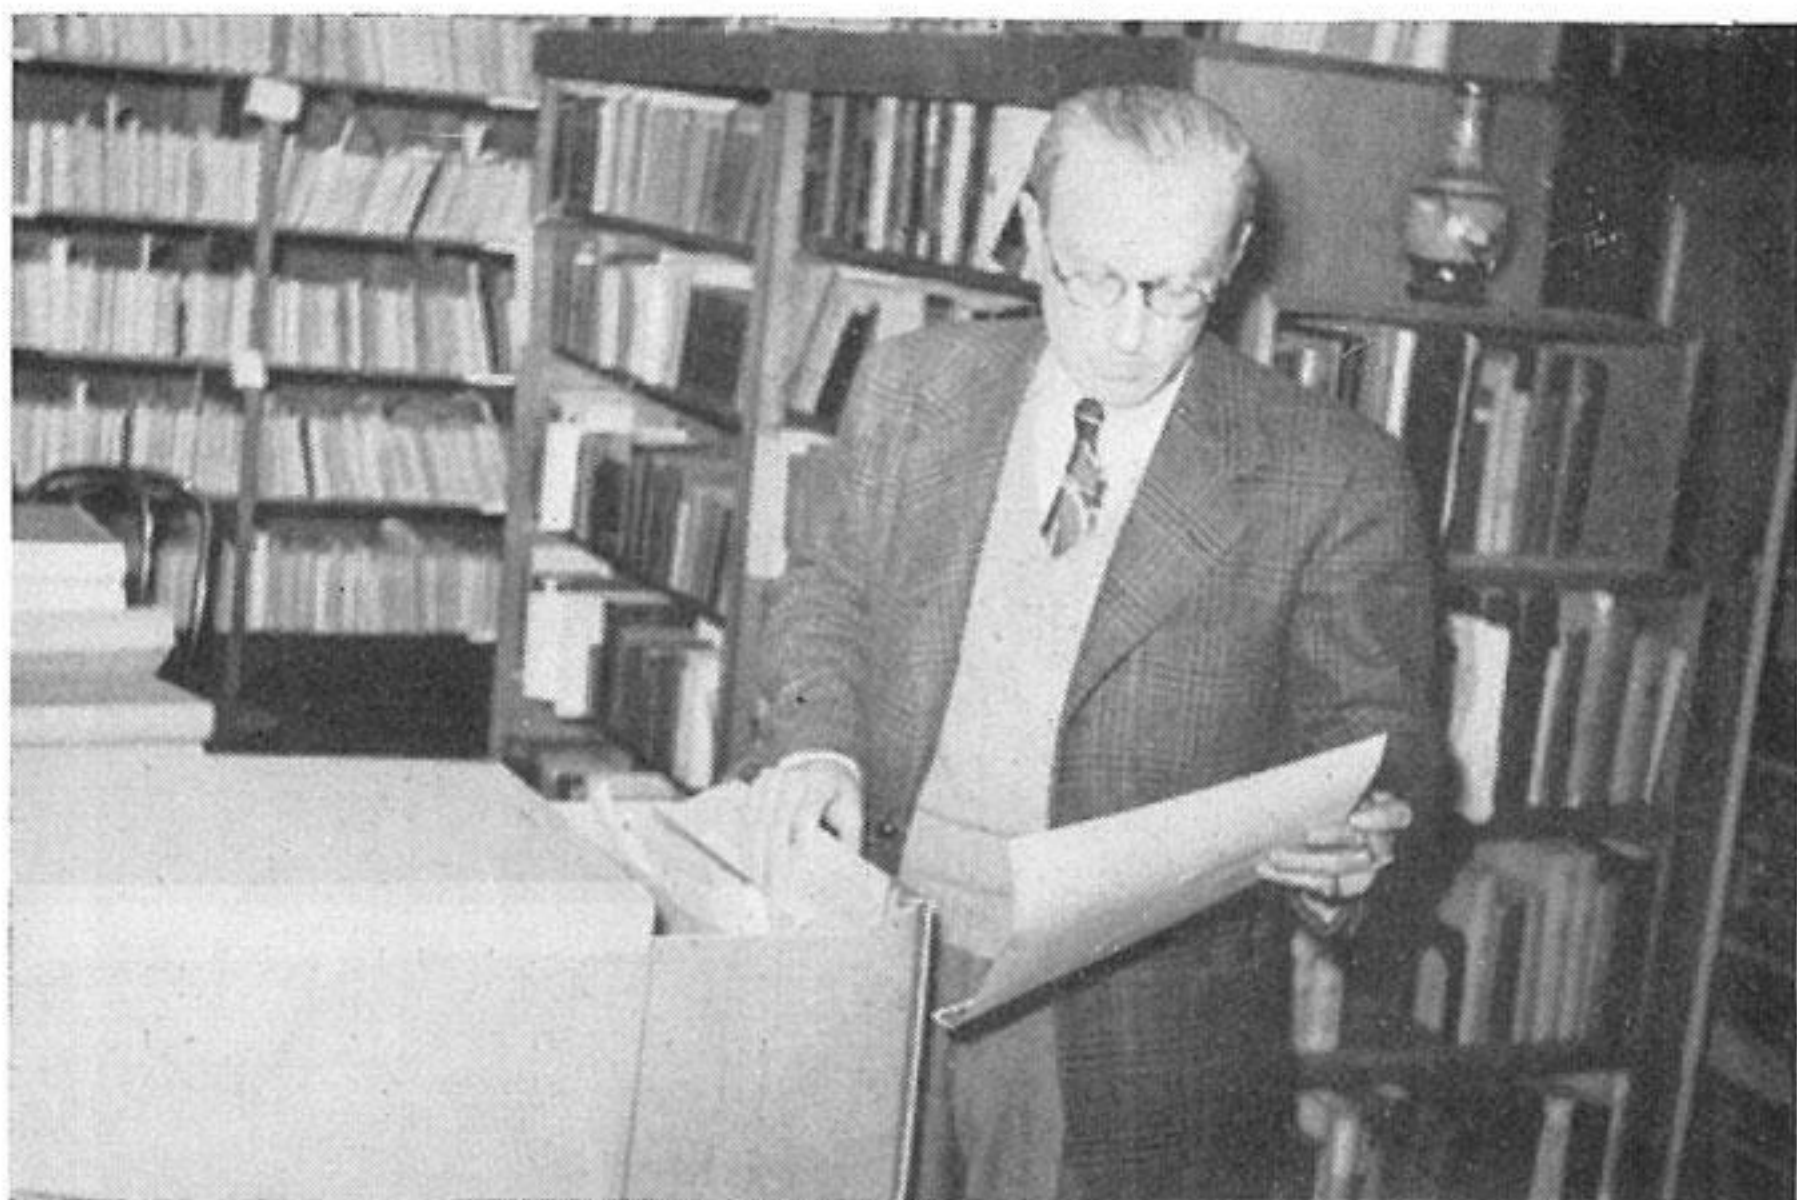

CLAUDIA played to a full house every night of its run despite the fact that Seattle had seen recently two professional road productions and the motion picture of the same show. Joyce Miller and Dick Hopkins (in circle) played Claudia and David in this warm human melodrama.

Professor Glenn Hughes, head of one of the nation's best drama departments, finds more than one star of today's professional stage and screen in his files.

Off Stage

FROM Maine to California, from Texas to Canada, "out-of-state" students have come to the University of Washington to get sound theatrical training and the actual experience of playing a show night after night for six weeks in the picturesque Showboat or the unique Penthouse theatres. This, coupled with regular college life, fulfills many a young actor's idea of preparing for the professional field. They also have access to the drama library which contains over 16,000 volumes and has a wealth of material on all phases of the theatre.

Suspense of tryouts is climaxed when the cast is posted. Surprise and congratulations on fourth floor Denny and actors get new scripts.

The recorder, the sound effect machines, and the various kinds of microphones attract many students to the radio lab.

All plays are rehearsed in Denny Hall and moved to the Penthouse and the Showboat for dress rehearsals—four in number. Above, Seven Keys to Baldpate.

Gwen Parry and Sheila Norton learn to fashion a wig in the costume department. Many authentic period clothes and accessories are used in productions.

Back Stage

THE REVOLVING stage enables quick and eye-appealing scene changes.

Students study modern scene design and construction as well as lighting effects.

Behind the scenes at the Showboat, thespians like Mary Ellen Murphy and Jim Cunningham (top center) listen for their cue to go on stage.

Grace Stribling listens for Floppit and herself in Booth Tarkington's play Seventeen (left).

Director Michael Ferrall drops in to see that contact and cue pickup is as it should be.

Charles Harader and Ed Austin sing themselves into the wings.

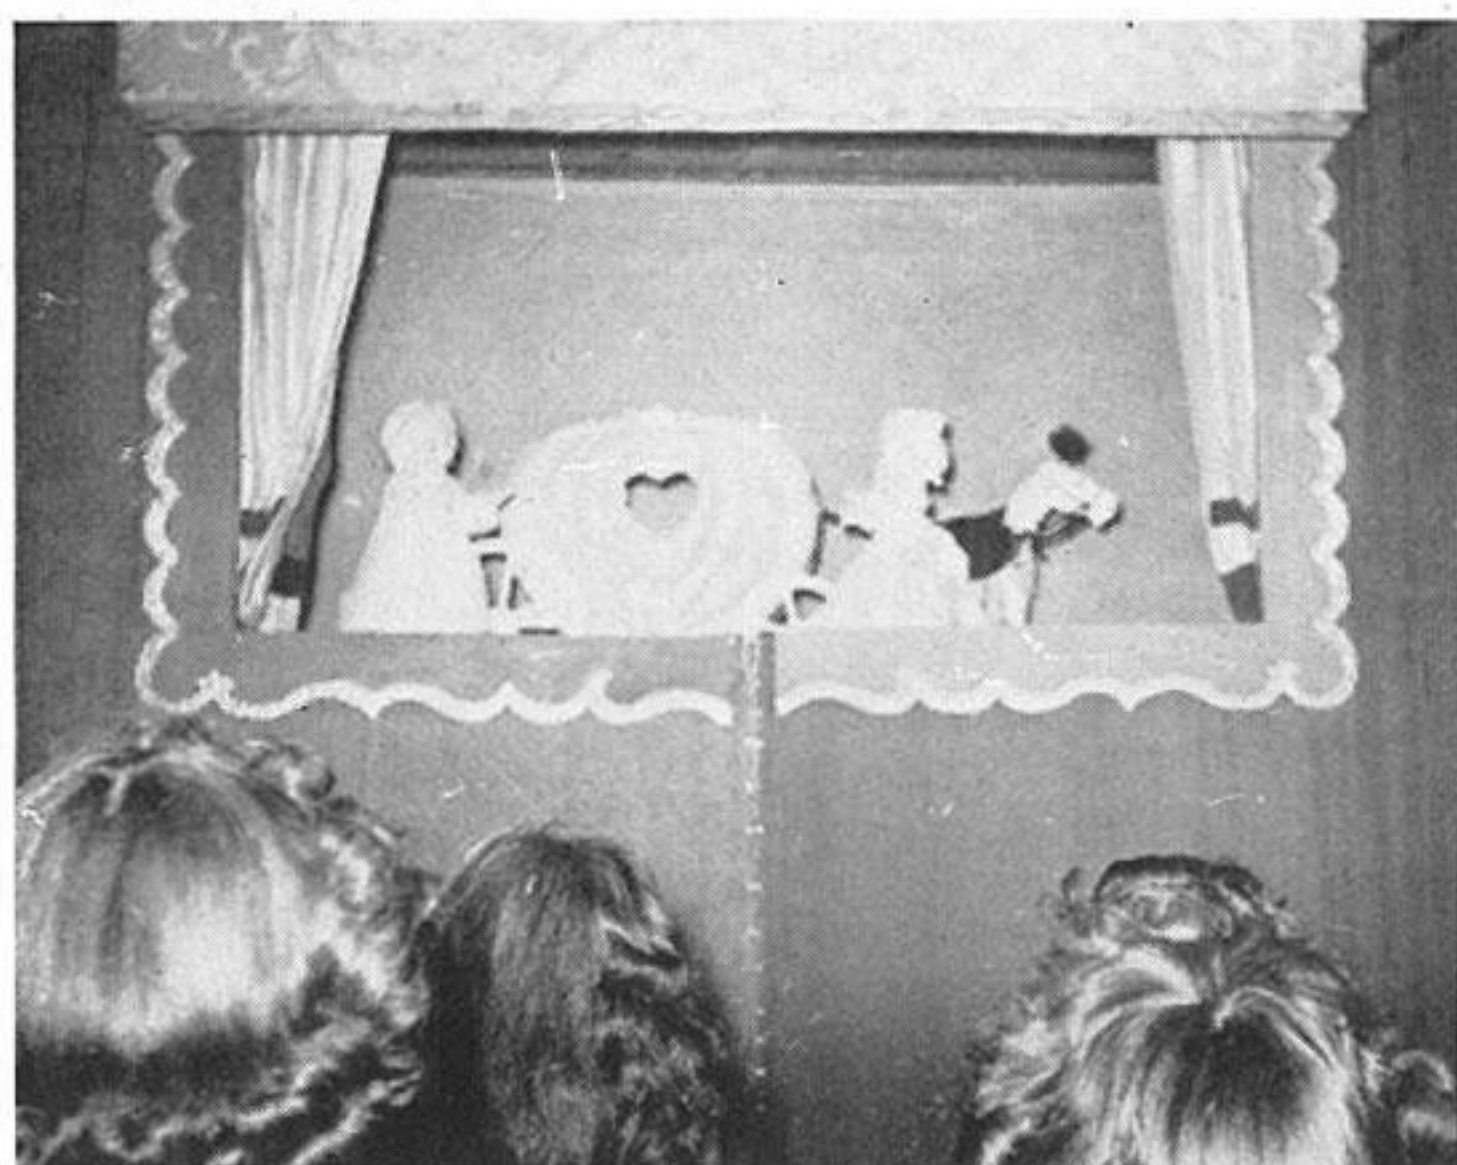

Grace Stribling, Marjorie Esterbrook and Pauline O'Hare laced up old-fashioned high top shoes every night of the six-week run.

Aurora Valentinetti watches her students as they memorize scripts and coordinate the action of the puppet with the speech.

Puppetry

FASCINATING characters of wood and glue, cloth and strings, the puppets and marionettes lined along the wall in the Denny Hall basement, are as real troupers as live actors. Twice a week they go out in the big drama department truck to entertain thousands of school children. The puppets are of an ageless art extending far back into the centuries.

A clever pumpkin coach delights Cinderella and all the audience. The script for this production was one written by Professor Glenn Hughes.

Every student makes a puppet—sketches, carves, molds the head, attaches the hair, paints the face, dresses it, and finally after stringing learns to manipulate it.

Marionettes are worked by strings (right). Puppets are moved by the hand (far right). The scenery for these shows is designed and painted by John Conway. The students make the furniture, perfect magic lighting effects and provide appropriate musical recordings for atmosphere. They get to keep the puppets they make. Many interesting oriental puppets are displayed in the drama library showcase.

Dance Drama

PORTRAYING old African warriors of the Azande tribe, the featured dance of the annual spring Dance Drama production was "Sahdji," with Carmen Nelson dancing the lead. Other dances on the program consisted of a well-patterned "Waltz," the colorful and lively "Tropical Suite," and the "1944 Night Club" scene where war-regimented people asserted their individualities. The command performance, presented February 9-12 with a repeat performance the 18th, was under the direction of Mary Aid deVries. Taking part in the Dance Drama cast were Janice Aitken, Mary Case, Joyce Davenny, Betty Deutsch, Sarah England, Joan Hackman, Virginia Hesketh, Genevieve Liberato, Marilyn Marmaduke, Jeanne McCurrach, Mary Belle McGee, Marcia Miller, Muriel Moran, Carmen Nelson, Shirley Nelson, Mary Annette Peterson, Lark Puckett, Rosemarion Simonton, Pamela Smith, Harriet Spencer, Sheila Stanley, Evelyn Westerling, Jo Worden, Lelonne Wright.

Public

Margaret Aller, Manager

UNDER the supervision of Prof. A. L. Franzke, the men and women's public discussion groups were combined in one "streamlined" organization this year. The women, coached by Wade Kniseley, participated in discussions before more than one hundred service and commercial clubs, high schools, forum groups and colleges throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia. The topic for the year was "On What Basis Should We Cooperate With the Soviet Union?" or "Russia—Our Future Ally?"

The men, coached by Lester L. McCreery, spoke on "What Is America's Role In the Post-war World?" Due to a diminished ranks, this program was necessarily limited. However, a number of successful appearances were made during the year.

Discussion

COEDS participating for the first time were Pat Pelegren, Patty Burwell, Pat Niesz, Merry Franz, Eleanor Nazareus, Marian Herzog, Elizabeth Pearson, Glenna Finley and Harriet Maxwell. Second year veterans included Ann Marinakos, Jane Fisher, Pat Ostroot and Miriam Jacobs. Lola Mayer and Virginia Smith won three-year awards, while Margaret Aller completed her fourth year.

The discussion program was managed by Margaret Aller with Pat Ostroot, assistant.

Music

Symphony Orchestra

UNIVERSITY Symphony orchestra, directed by George Kirchner, topped its year of concerts with an invitation to join the Tacoma Symphony in a concert in the neighboring city. Suffering from a decrease in numbers, the orchestra, nevertheless, came through with two popular Sunday afternoon campus concerts and was the mainstay of the annual Christmas program, December 19.

Concert Band

HARD-HIT by the manpower shortage, the Concert Band, directed by Walter C. Welke, carried on without the traditional marching band. A rallying group at Washington football and basketball games, the band was also heard in three Meany Hall concerts. High-point of the year was the annual swing concert, including on the program "Turkey in the Straw" and "St. Louis Blues."

University Choir

THE University Choir, under the direction of Charles W. Lawrence, was the most popular campus group at Victory Square, appearing for War Bond and Community Chest drives. The Navy Choir, also directed by Prof. Lawrence, augmented the University Choir at the Christmas concert.

Women's Glee Club

STRAINS of "Night and Day" issuing from the Music building are sure to come from the rehearsals of the Women's Glee Club, directed by August Werner. The coeds have given their popular concerts at Ft. Lawton and on the air where they were joined by the Spar chorus. One of the most informal and popular of campus musical groups, the Glee Club appeared in the Christmas concert.

Lectures

HEADLINERS of the concert and lecture stage appeared in Meany hall during the 1943-44 Concert and Lecture series, sponsored by the Associated Women Students. Rise Stevens, soprano star of opera, radio and screen, was presented in recital October 28. Dorothy Maynor, Negro soprano, delighted her audience February 1 by singing a group of spirituals. Ballerina Mia Slavenska presented a program of ballet February 17. Selections from "Porgy and Bess" starred in the program of Todd Duncan, baritone star of the Gershwin folk opera, March 28. Josef Hofmann concluded the concert series with his piano artistry April 25.

Robert St. John, correspondent and author, opened the lecture series January 5 with his report on "The World at War." The story of the war in Russia was given by Walter Duranty, foreign correspondent, February 24. Fulton Lewis Jr., radio commentator, spoke of "Washington News" March 14. William Lydgate, editor of the Gallup poll, lectured April 6.

Headed by live wire Gamma Phi, Ann Janett Becker and Alumni Chairman Eddy Benz, the war subdued week-end kept up the old traditions. Students rallied and danced, cheered a victorious Husky team to a 27-7 victory over the Fourth Air Force Football team from March Field, California, admired vivacious Tri Delt Homecoming Queen Wilma Ross.

Campus

Campus Day, an old time tradition revived by Oval club in '42, was sponsored by Totem club fall quarter. Headed by joint chairmen Austie Sundberg and Marion Herzog, coeds took a Saturday off on November 13, to act as campus valets. Clad in old jeans, rakes and brooms on their shoulders, coeds gave the campus a brush-off and removed—for a short time—the "fall o'clock" shadow while jazz-equipped sound trucks whipped hither and thither building up workers morale.

viser Morello. Despite new classroom status, the almost all-women's staff scored two coups fall quarter: opened drive for constitution, Totem Post.

GEORGE ASTEL, faculty's grand vizier on Daily during winter, spring quarters . . . ex-publisher of Whidby Island Farm Bureau News, other bucolic weeklies . . . his pet peeve: newspaper women.

NORMAN VAN BRUNT, only male JJ . . . developed bellicose attitude to ward off henpecking . . . edits sports page with odds against him

MARGIE WELTON, editorial "we" of Scuttlebutt . . . one jump ahead of the Navy in criticism of CPO's . . . capable, perennial night editor

GWEN JOHNSON, Titian-topped perpetual soc staffer . . . wheedles columns of space for YM-YW lecturers . . . avers all secretaries on her beat weep on her shoulder

PAT COCHRANE, feature writer par excellence . . . immortalized "beige-brown rabbit", other campus fauna . . . boasts impressive JJ grades

CHRISTINA MIOVSKI, stoically suffers constant mispronunciation of her name . . . gratified ASTU trainees with reams of publicity copy

FRANKIE GOODWIN, blase Daily drama critic . . . consigns props, artists, plays to a single category: good . . . packs P.-I. copy weekends

JACQUELINE BURNS, only female JJ to edit sports page . . . beams across P.-I. classified ad counter part-time

NEW Daily policy called for the shifting of thirteen J. J.'s on the managing editor's desk throughout the year as faculty control of the paper continued. Editor's office became the hangout for Advisers Morello and Astel as revolving editorial board of three students decided what needed attack and praise. Deadline was set at 5 p.m. and makeup completed by 10 p.m.

Daily Reporters

HANDICAPPED by a constantly changing staff, Daily beats were covered by a succession of new reporters, most of them freshmen or sophomores. Gone were the days when men dominated the Daily Shack for women took over top reporting positions. An occasional V-12 trainee or civilian comprised the male portion of the staff. New and inexperienced, they built a basis on which to start when they take over next year.

General Reporters: Daphne Berlin, Mary Stuchell, Helen Wahgren, Mary Hood, Marjorie Brazier.

MIMI VAN WATERS, fall quarter Daily business chief . . . ran ad copy to Herald in yellow convertible . . . press of studies forced resignation

COLUMNS

BUNNY ROSS, dark-haired, Theta editor of Columns . . . three years of Daily and Columns experience to her credit . . . combined a keen eye for students' wants and the ability to get the most out of a staff of inexperienced writers and artists . . . became engaged to her editor-at-large, Wally Graves, at year's end.

UNDER the watchful eye of Bunny Ross the new, oft-quoted version of Columns rose to great heights in popularity, joined the ranks of top college humor magazines. Editor Ross cut out stuffy literary contributions, gave her readers a magazine packed with laugh-provoking stories, near-professional cartooning, racey jokes. Proof that Bunny had the right slant: every issue a sellout. Feature issue of the year was Columns' "True Concessions" take-off on love mag. Out at 7:30, "True Concessions" was sold out by 9 the same morning.

KAY LINDE . . . assistant editor who helped Bunny with the administrative details . . . a staunch individualist . . . plans to follow her mother into the diplomatic service . . . married NRO Irving Lowell.

WALLY GRAVES . . . editor-at-large . . . most talented member of the staff, dabbled in everything from writing to cartooning . . . big, blond Phi Kap . . . made a name for himself on Washington publications . . . likes to beat out boogie-woogie in his spare moments.

WES HOTCHKISS, shy, unaggressive artist from the Marines . . . came to Columns this year as a freshman . . . has a professional rhythm and swing to his cartooning . . . picked by Editor Ross as the most promising artist on the staff.

LEW CRUTCHER . . . blond, NRO artist . . . only experienced member of the staff . . . has already acquired some fame as an artist in Northwest art circles . . . also hit by Cupid; married after NRO graduation.

Writers: Rosella Steiner, Vince Martin, Jean Allen; (Standing) Betty Watkins.

JO ANNE LATTA . . . talented frosh staff member . . . concentrates on writing bits of whimsy . . . a quiet blonde, she has a mature style for her age . . . claimed by Phi Mu sorority . . . goes in for activities.

BILL ALLER . . . gift from the V-12 to the Columns art staff . . . came to the mag as a frosh . . . the most prolific cartoonist on the staff, Aller's work is near-perfect in detail . . . trained in commercial art.

Columns Business

Tyee Business

LOIS McCONNELL, Business Manager . . . dictator of room 114, Lewis Hall, . . . the gal who oversaw the hectic circulation and advertising campaigns . . . pert, brunette, drama major.

CAROL SMITH, cyclonic '44 editor . . . fresh off Daily managing editor's desk . . . sparked a green staff through stormy weather despite her own lack of Tyee experience . . . reward for herculean efforts: most original book in years.

"GRADUATION, May 20th," reechoed with a deadly sound from the walls of 116 Lewis hall as the staff met to lay plans for recording life at Washington, 1943-44. Three important weeks had been lopped off the year's production schedule. The book endeavors to show the change that the military has brought to the campus with a greatly expanded military section, reduced fraternity and honoraries section.

Carol Smith was elected editor following Sally Fleming's resignation in July. An inexperienced editorial staff plus an ever-changing photography staff hindered progress at the year's beginning, but as time went on the speed picked up.

Panel paste-ups, dark room headaches, lists, lists, lists . . . thus Volume 45 goes to press.

TED MORELLO, editor-at-large, . . . administration's valuable contribution to Tyee . . . military and publication sections, his particular headaches . . . scorned expense in planning colorful and varied layouts . . . boasts latest achievement of mastering Speed Graphic.

MARJORIE DAVIS, associate editor . . . only experimenter Tyee staffer at year's beginning . . . artistically inclined, designed cover and general layout plan . . . wrestled with photographic problems . . . left in January to marry former Tyee photographer, Herb Luckin.

BILL GALBRAITH, sports editor . . . most promising Tyee recruit . . . tyro who met deadlines on the nose . . . sports completed, filled in wherever needed . . . fiendishly insists on perfection in his own work as well as in others.

Lew Roberts, art and layout expert . . . lent talents as architecture major to Tyee . . . transfer from an Idaho college where he edited annual

Marguerite Rouse, patient office manager . . . plugged faithfully through year of typing, copyreading interminable lists of student names

Joe Hermes, V-12 ace cartoonist . . . pulled Tyee's Little G. Washington out of inkpot . . . boasts hitch at sea with Navy . . . plans future in commercial art

VERLIN LANE, trim NRO veteran staffster . . . saw Tyee through dark days... never turned down an assignment . . . traded Graphic for ensign stripe.

BILL CUTTER, portrait man with a mania for artistic photos . . . predominantly a Columns man . . . left V-12 program for active duty in Navy Air corps.

PUBLICATIONS' photography got off to a bad start. With experienced cameramen in the services, green V-12's, NRO's, Marines offered doubtful aid fall quarter. Seasoning came slowly for the new men. The price: bales of film; cartons of flashbulbs; over-, under-, double-exposures by the score. But year's end found publications with a well-focused shutter staff.

Photographers

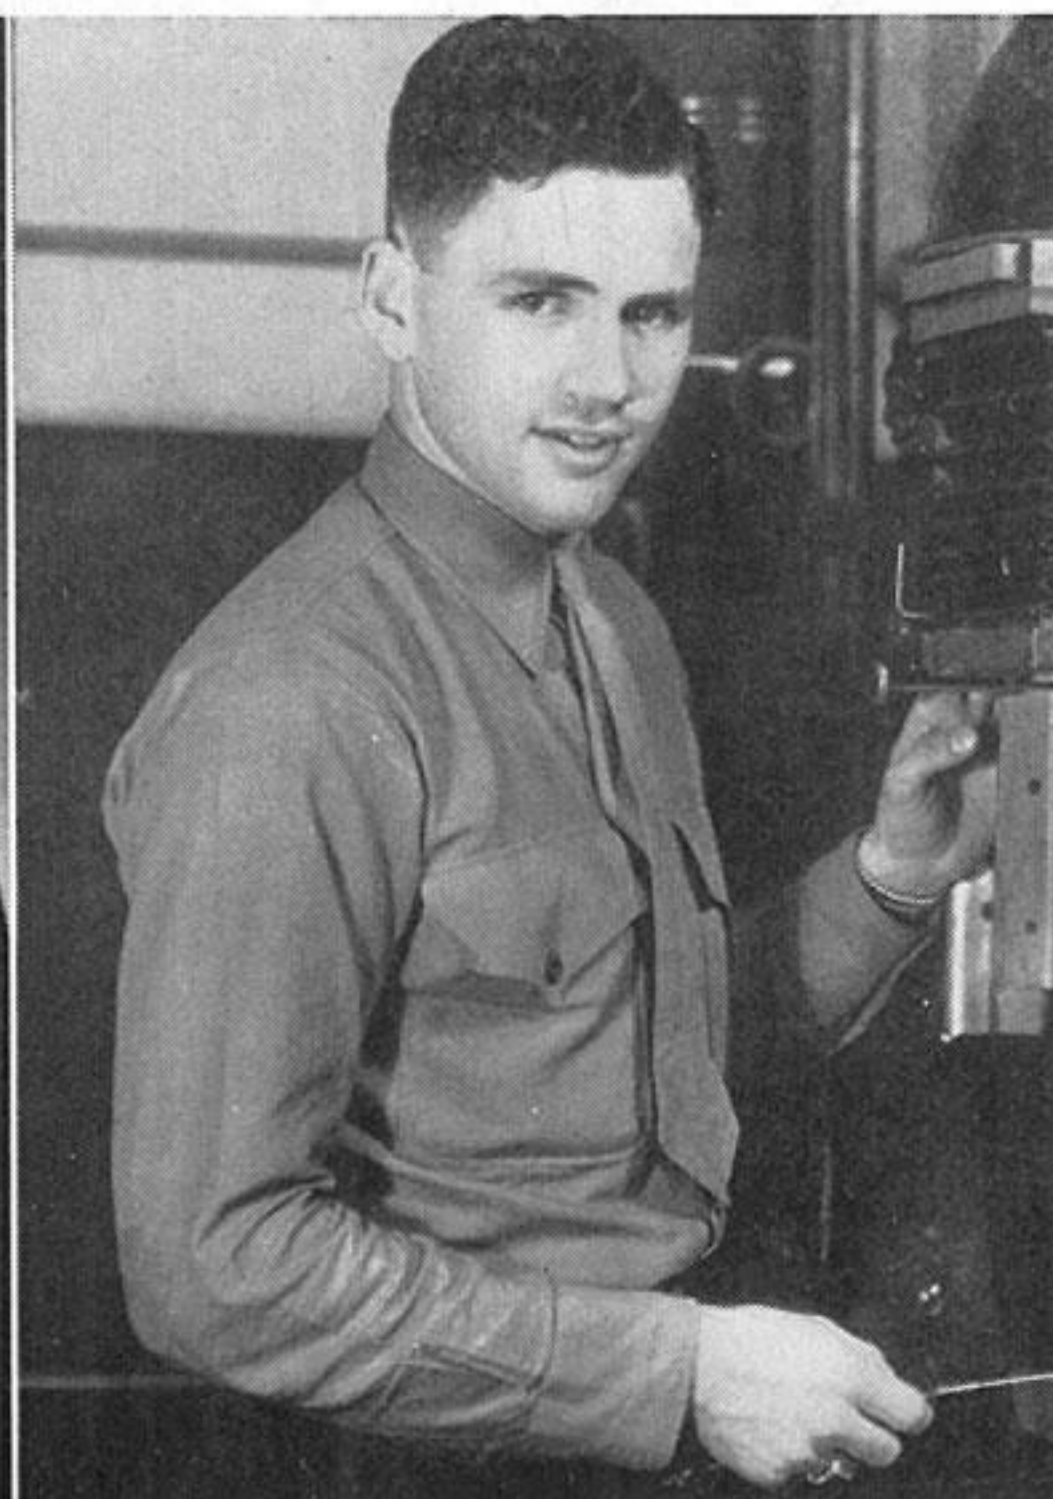

HARRY KIRWIN, only professional photographer on staff . . . boasts colorful record as shipwrecked merchant mariner, traveler and soldier of fortune.

HARLAND WADE, lanky V-12 shutterbug . . . pre-empted Columns photo-crime assignments . . . scooped the field with shots of Bunny Ross' announcement party

MEL HANSEN, handsome, convivial Marine... snapped fellow Leather-necks tirelessly to fill Tyee's Marine candid section . . . post-war plans: photography

OMER OSTENSOE, newest addition to photo corps . . . phenomenally lucky in first encounter with Speed Graphic . . . rapidly qualifying as seasoned cameraman

V-12 Commandant

CAPT. ERIC BARR, Navy V-12 C.O., trails a long, impressive record at the University. A 1911 Annapolis grad, Barr reported here in '26 to establish the NRO unit. Shifted into full command in '39, he was upped to captain later the same year, wound up as V-12 topman. Interim duties included hitch as gunnery officer on USS Idaho, exec officer at New London sub base.

Brass-polishing brigade

More than 1300 V-12's stormed onto the campus, swept into frat houses, usurped women's dorms, generally dominated University life beginning July 1. Composed largely of U.W. students, the program included a sprinkling of battle-wise vets. Quick to adjust to the bell-bottom trousers brigade, remaining civilians and coeds adopted Navy slango: scuttlebutt, topside, chow.

Compass Ring

Stars in her eyes

NROfficers and dates trickle in

Sparking an old Annapolis tradition with their own twist, campus NRO's staged the annual Ring Dance January 15 at the Nile Country club. The kiss-in-the-ring ceremony carried all the authenticity of the naval academy ritual, lacked only the class ring. Tiny, white plastic anchors pinned on starry-eyed coed dates served nicely, brought uniformed escorts the same reward, as couples stood in the oversized wooden ring. High point in intermission entertainment: the NRO chorus.

Though somewhat de-splendorized by war restrictions, the traditional C & C formal lost none of its traditional glamour for the festive crowd that packed the Spanish ballroom, Olympic Hotel, November 13. Chairmanned by NRO Jack Barron, the annual dance was probably the war's last.

Training period over, the tyro officers made their debut in the Armistice Day parade downtown, marched with Prussian precision down Fourth Ave., won plaudits from the flanking throng. Admiral's Day brought the platoons out in full regalia once more at the campus ceremonies before admiring students.

The crowning touch for Queen Carol Williams

V-12's Go Dancing

SLANTED at an outgoing Navy class, the all-V-12 informal at the Civic Auditorium January 8 gave many a trainee his last fling at University social life. Chairmanned by Barry Rogers, the dance featured Queen Carol Williams. Decorations appropriately depicted battle zones from Iceland to New Guinea. The Guardsmen, Coast Guard band, pushed notes for gliding couples.

SPIKING the rumor that sailors can't swim, V-12'ers invaded the Men's Pool December 3 for their first splash party. Trainees and dates playfully paddled and frolicked through an evening of water basketball, diving exhibitions, races.

Most of them slouched along University paths not so long ago, decked in dazzling sport coats, grimy saddle shoes. The Navy changed that. Steps become firm, precise. Dress and undress blues relegated collegiate garb to mothballs for the duration. Reluctant to give up past activities, V-12's entered into campus social, political, academic life as of old.

OFFICER IN CHARGE

CAPT. PAUL MOORE, tall, youthful head of the University Marine detachment, teaches his men rugged living and the traditional Leatherneck pride in the Corps. A Yale graduate, Capt. Moore went into the service in the fall of '41, absorbed a tough officer's training course, landed with the first men at Tulagi and Guadalcanal. Wounded in action, he returned to the States, took over Washington's Marines in August. His men know him as a "regular guy" but a strict officer.

ARMY C.O.

LT. COL. H. B. JOSEPH, blue-eyed, soft-spoken Washington graduate, took command of the University Army programs in September when Colonel Eden left for Stanford. After receiving his reserve commission in 1927, Colonel Joseph spent his summers on active duty with coast artillery units. Always in close contact with the Army even in civilian life, Colonel Joseph worked eight years with Boeing's, building Flying Fortresses for the service.

HEAD man in the grid department is big, rugged "Pest" Welch. A former All-American player, Welch proved he could coach too by developing a Rose Bowl team in his second year as boss.

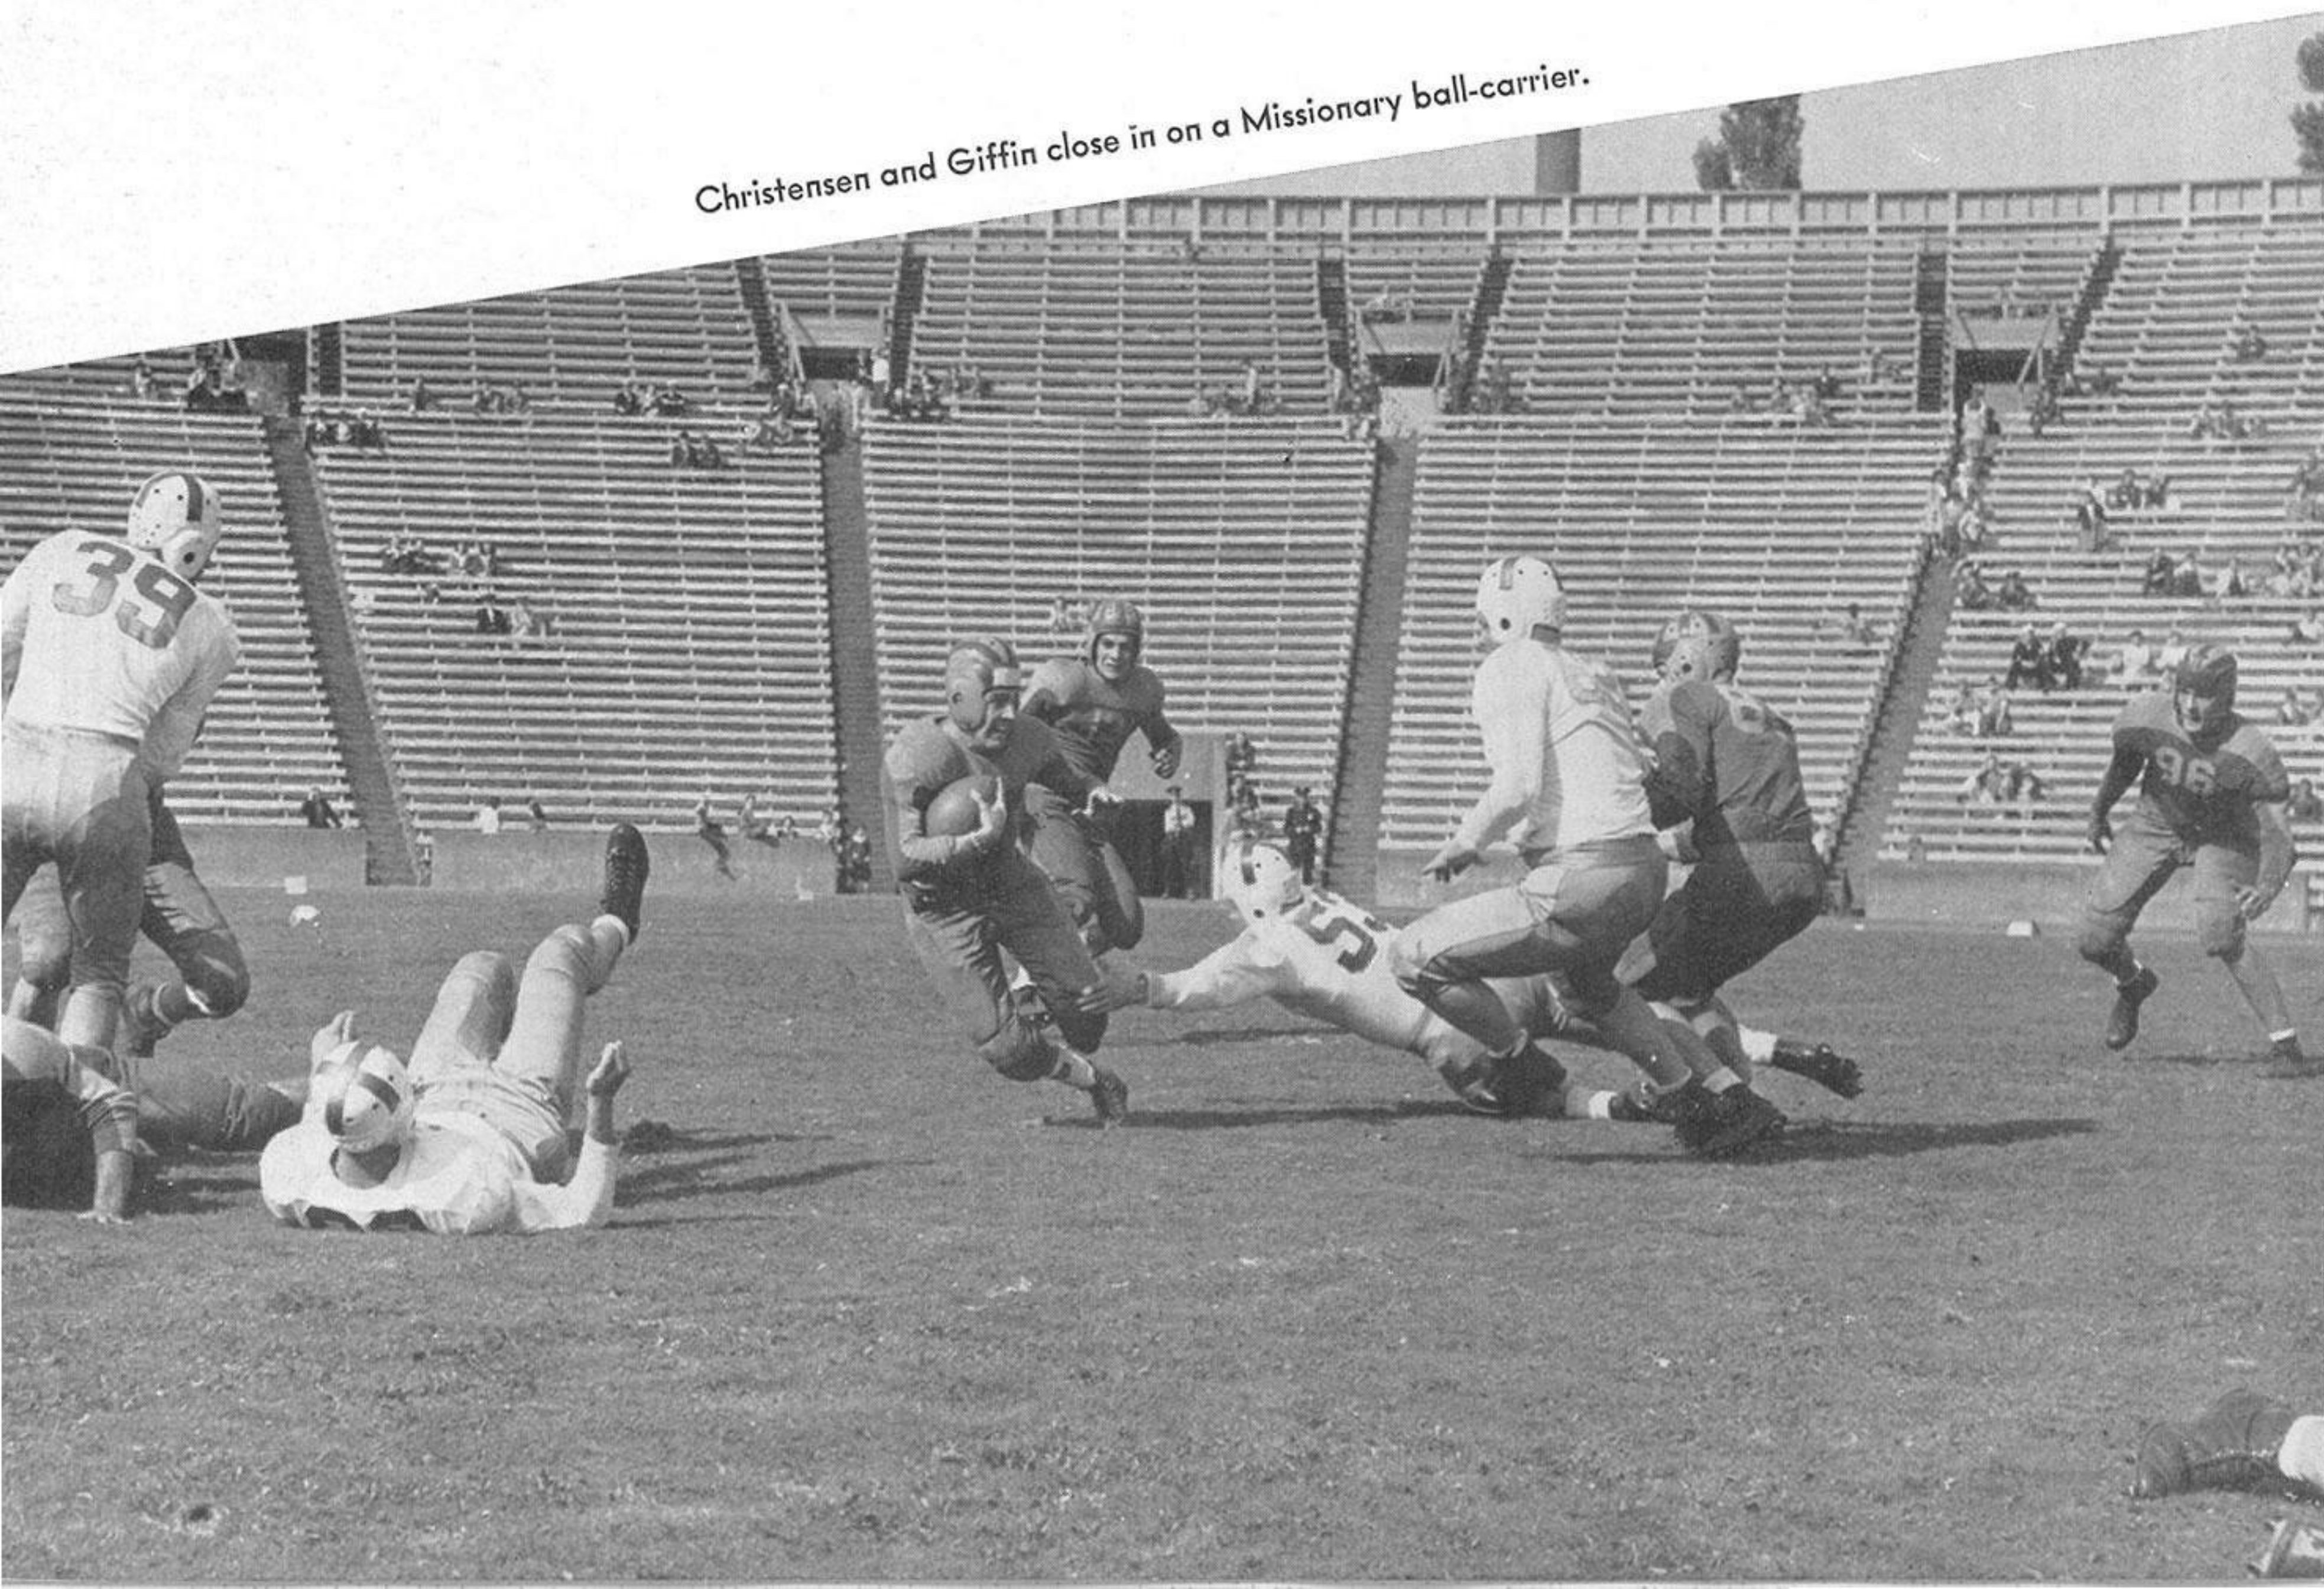

Huskies 35
Missionaries 6

WELCH'S '43 version of the Husky football machine opened the season by bowling over a lighter, inexperienced but game Whitman team with a 35-6 score. While showing traces of a powerful offense in punching over five touchdowns, the loss of six other scoring chances left much to be desired in the Husky attack.

Held Scoreless throughout most of the first half, the Huskies had Jay Stoves to thank for their 7-0 half-time lead.

But in the second half the Welch men uncovered a battering offense that paid off with four more touchdowns. Play after play the Husky backs reeled off 10-, 12- and 15-yard gains to smother the fighting Missionaries. In the closing minutes of the game Whitman's little Ben Holcomb sparked his team in a 76-yard drive to its lone score.

FOR their second game of the season the Purple and Gold gridders traveled to Spokane where they dumped the Spokane Air Service Command by the score of 47-12. Gaining a total of 306 yards, the Husky team again displayed a crushing, unstoppable offense that was typical of their regular season play.

Three former W.S.C. players—Stoves, Akins and Ward—led the way to victory by scoring 35 of the Washington's 47 points. Stoves tallied three times and made two conversions, Akins rambled to two touchdowns and Ward took time from his line play to make three conversions.

The Commandos' score came from Aubrey Minter's sure-fire passing.

IN THEIR game with the previously unbeaten Fourth Air Force Flyers the Huskies, instilled with the "old college spirit" and the inspirational playing of Sammy Robinson, toppled the team of former All-American greats by a score of 27-7.

Failing to make headway through the Husky ground defenses, the Flyers turned to the aerial route and immediately scored on DeFruiter's touchdown pass. Not to be outdone, the Purple and Gold also looked to the air and tallied on Robinson's near impossible catch of Austin's pass.

In the second half the Huskies found a pass defense that effectively stopped the Flyers' passing attack while Robinson, Susick and Akins boosted the Washington score to 27.

THE return engagement between the Spokane Air Service Command and Washington at the University stadium saw the offensive-minded Huskies keep their high scoring record intact by turning in a 41-7 win.

It took the Huskies only 14 plays to score two touchdowns, the first coming a little more than four minutes after the opening whistle. Four minutes later Stoves spotted Jack Tracy open in the end zone and floated a pass into his arms for another score. The Purple and Gold players spent the rest of the afternoon racing down the field to touchdown territory.

Once again Washington's weak pass defense was broken through by Minter's accurate passing which accounted for the only Commando score.

COLLAPSE of Northern Division football competition left only the Huskies as representatives of the Pacific Coast Conference in the North. Forced by wartime restrictions to shift the Rose Bowl game from the traditional East-West contest to a West Coast affair, Conference big-wigs pitted the Purple and Gold gridders against the Southern Division winners, U.S.C., in a championship playoff.

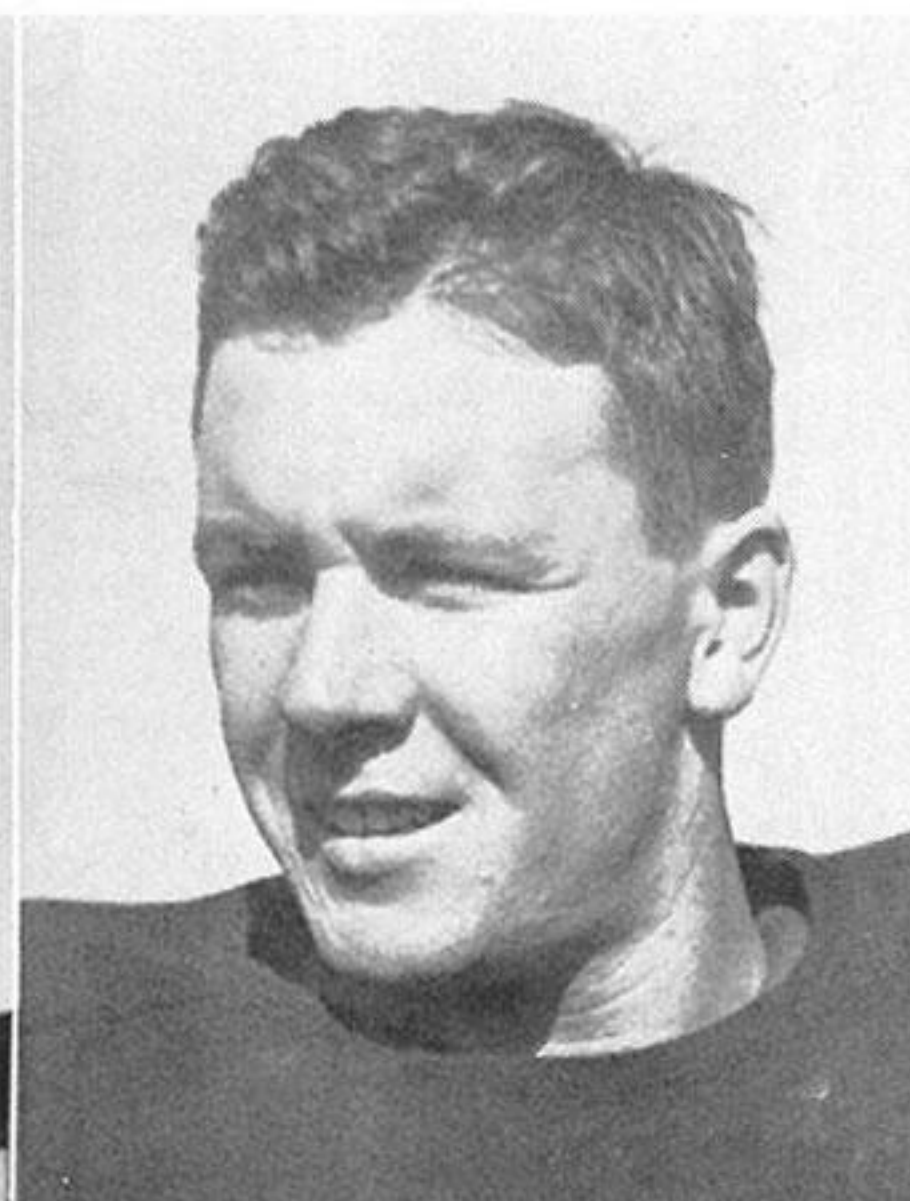

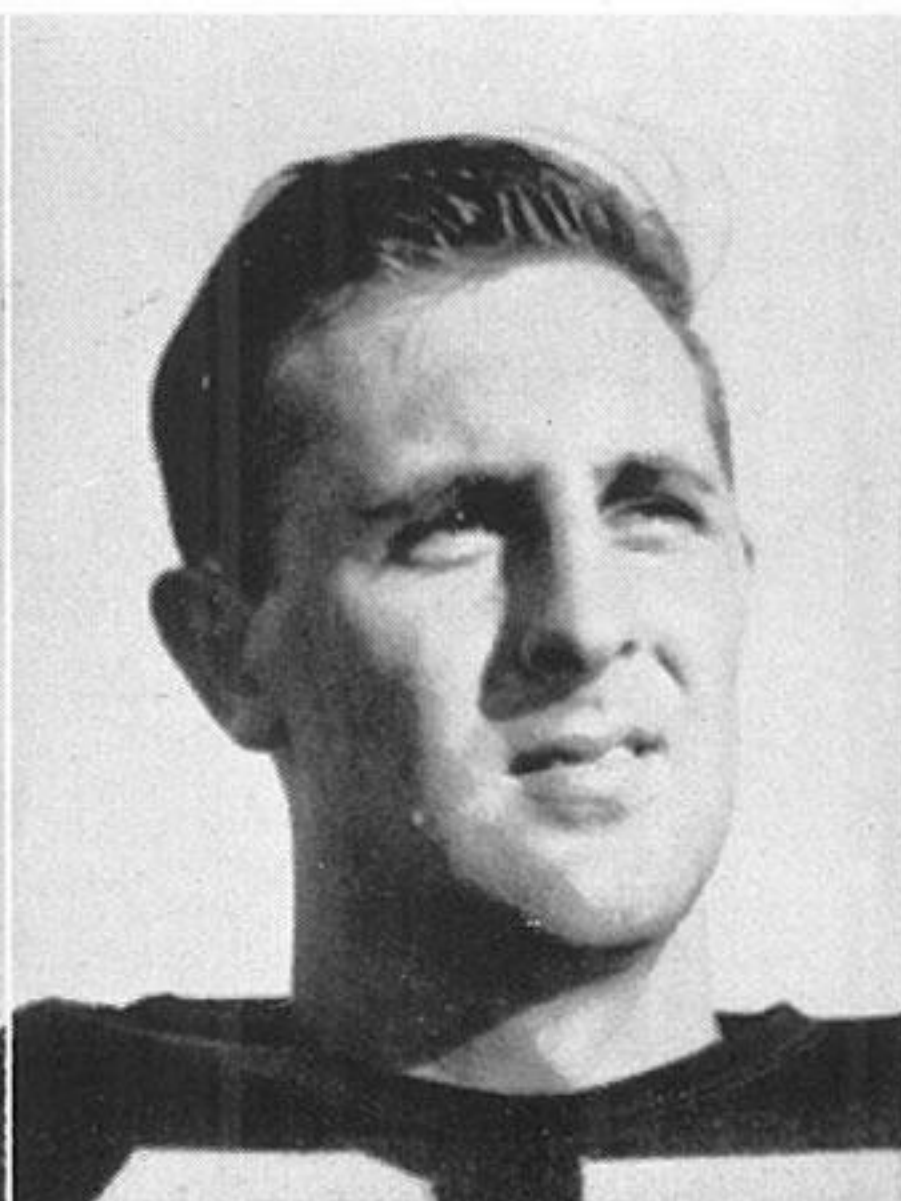

Until the final seconds of the first half both teams battled to a scoreless tie. Led by rugged Sammy Robinson and speedy Al Akins, the Huskies twice plunged deep into Trojan territory only to be turned back by the determined Trojans.

AFTER being stopped cold on the ground for almost the entire first half, the Trojans unmasked a deadly passing wizzard, Jim Hardy, who shot three touchdown passes through the Husky defenses. The bewildering passing attack and loss of Washington's All-Coast backs Susick and Stoves shattered the powerful Husky offense, paid off the Trojans with a 29-point victory.

So went the story of the '44 New Year Day classic and Washington's fourth trek into Rose Bowl land. The Huskies made their Rose Bowl debut in 1924, tying Navy 14-14. Two years later the Purple and Gold lost a 20-19 decision to Alabama, and in '37 they lost to Pitt 21-0. 1944 had failed to bring Washington its first Tournament of Roses championship.

SLIM, tense, gum-chewing Hec Edmundson, in his twenty-fourth year at Washington, won his tenth Northern Division Championship. Forced to build both a home team and a road squad this year due to travel restrictions on trainees, Hec drilled so much basketball into both teams that they set six new division records, missed a perfect conference season by one defeat. "Uncle" Hector had to forgo the chance to defend his Pacific Coast Championship because conference heads cancelled the North-South playoff.

"BREMERTON Bill" Morris, Hec's All-American guard, returned to play his usual hard-driving, aggressive game. Competing for his fourth year under the new wartime eligibility ruling, Bill led the Huskies through one of their most successful seasons.

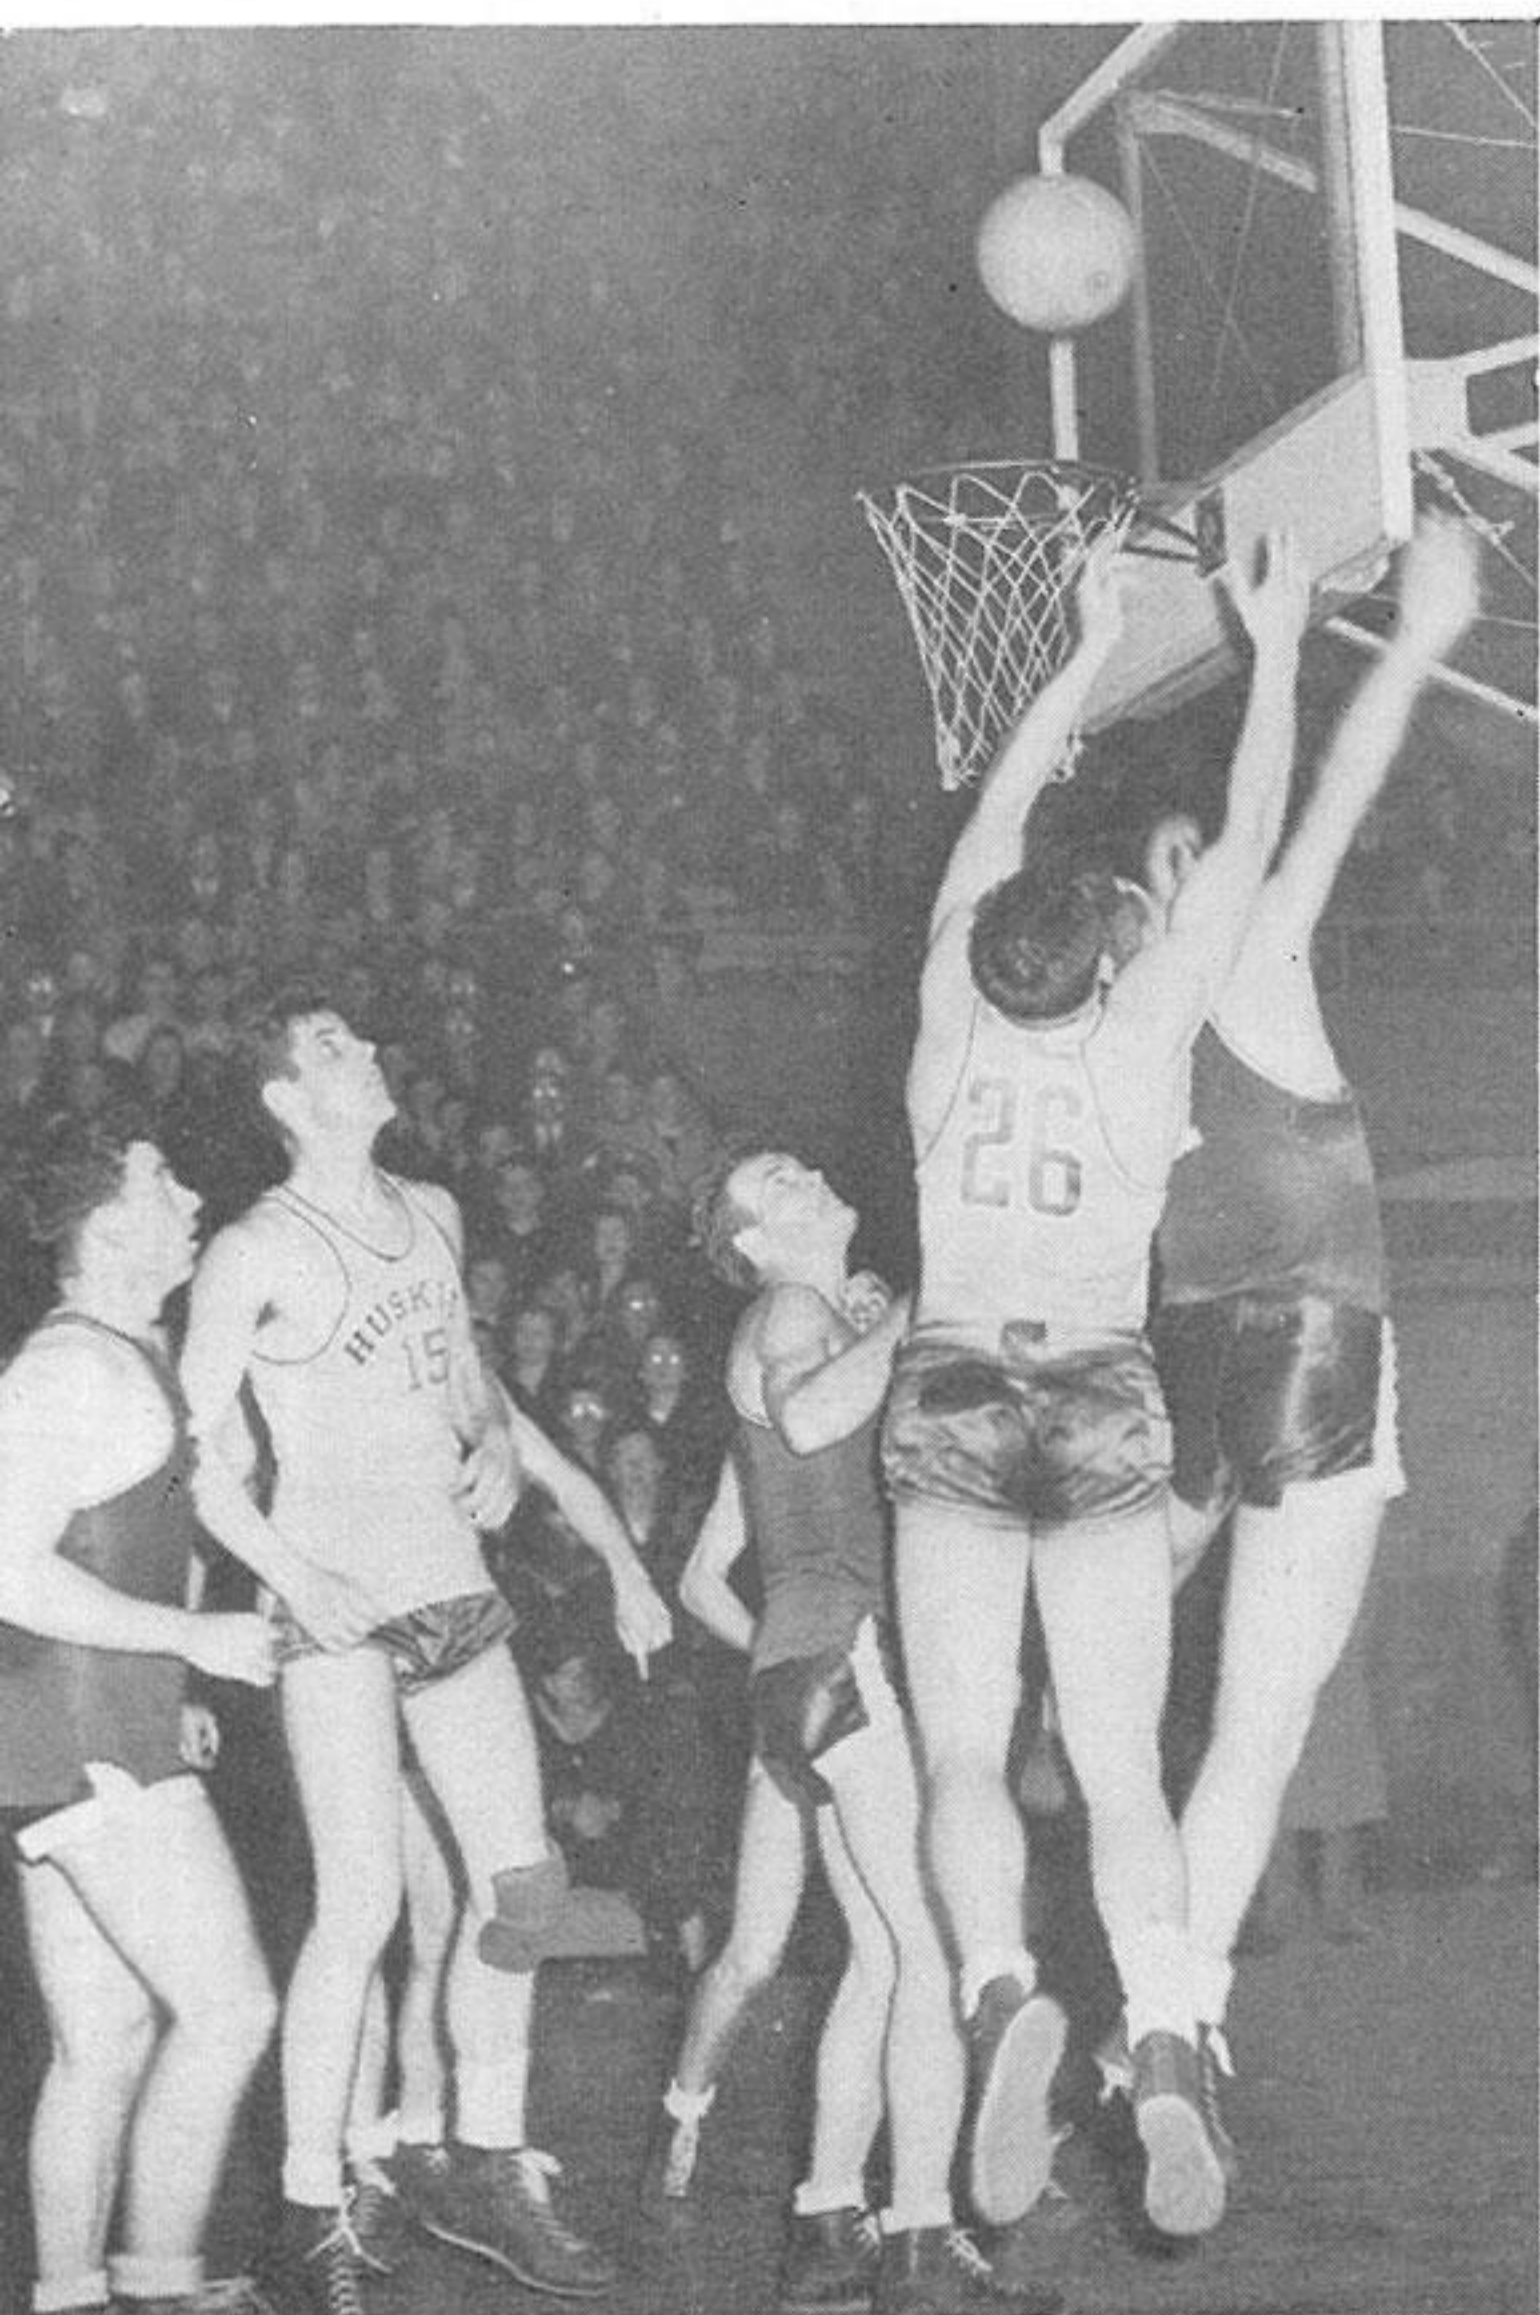

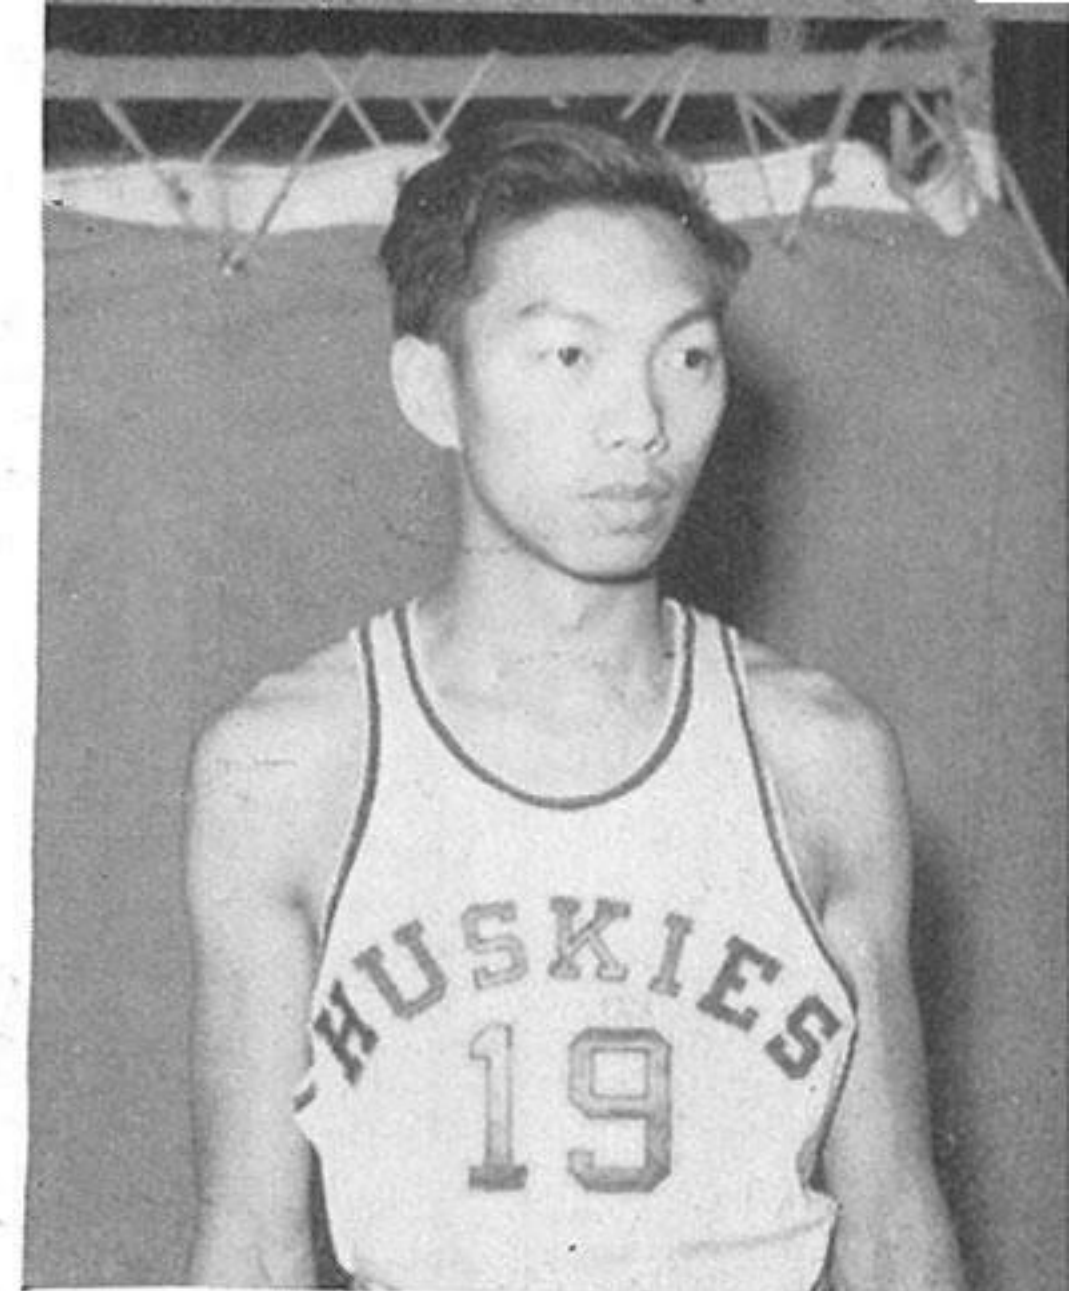

FRESHMAN Jack Nichols made such effective use of his height that he stole the center position from former varsity men. Proclaimed by coaches, players and scribes as one of the best frosh to hit the campus, "Nick" is pegged for future All-American honors.

BLESSED with six returning members from his '43 Pacific Coast Champions—Servicemen Morris, Taylor, Ford, Gronsdahl, Nelson and Brown—Coach Edmundson found himself able to field an unbeatable hoop squad on the Pavilion floor but only a young and untried civilian team in the enemy camps. However, by mid-season "Uncle" Hector had polished his young hopefuls so much that without the service stars the Huskies still would have been kingpins in the Northern Division race. Hec's road squad, carrying the brunt of the conference schedule, overwhelmed the opposition to win all but one game.

Pre-season games saw the service squad take the Sand Point Navalairs 62-48, while the civilians suffered a 30-48 beating at the hands of the U.W. Army. The next night Alpine downed the servicemen by a 38-30 score, but the civilians trimmed Boeing 44-41. Other pre-season game scores were Washington 53, Sand Point 49; Albina 36, Washington 32; Washington 30, Oregon 19; Washington 17, O.S.C. 17; Washington 23, O.S.C. 20; Washington 26, Oregon 18; Washington 44, Gonzaga 48; Washington 39, Gonzaga 76; Washington 43, Whitman 41.

Two W.S.C. men gang-up on a lone Husky.

Bill Taylor

IN the conference opener the Huskies nosed out the Oregon Ducks by a score of 40-38. The score might have been much different had Coach Edmundson let his service team play the entire game, but instead he played 15 men, giving everyone a taste of competition. The next night the Huskies showed no mercy for the Oregon team, trouncing them 67-25. Bill Taylor scored at will, chalking up 22 counters in only 28 minutes.

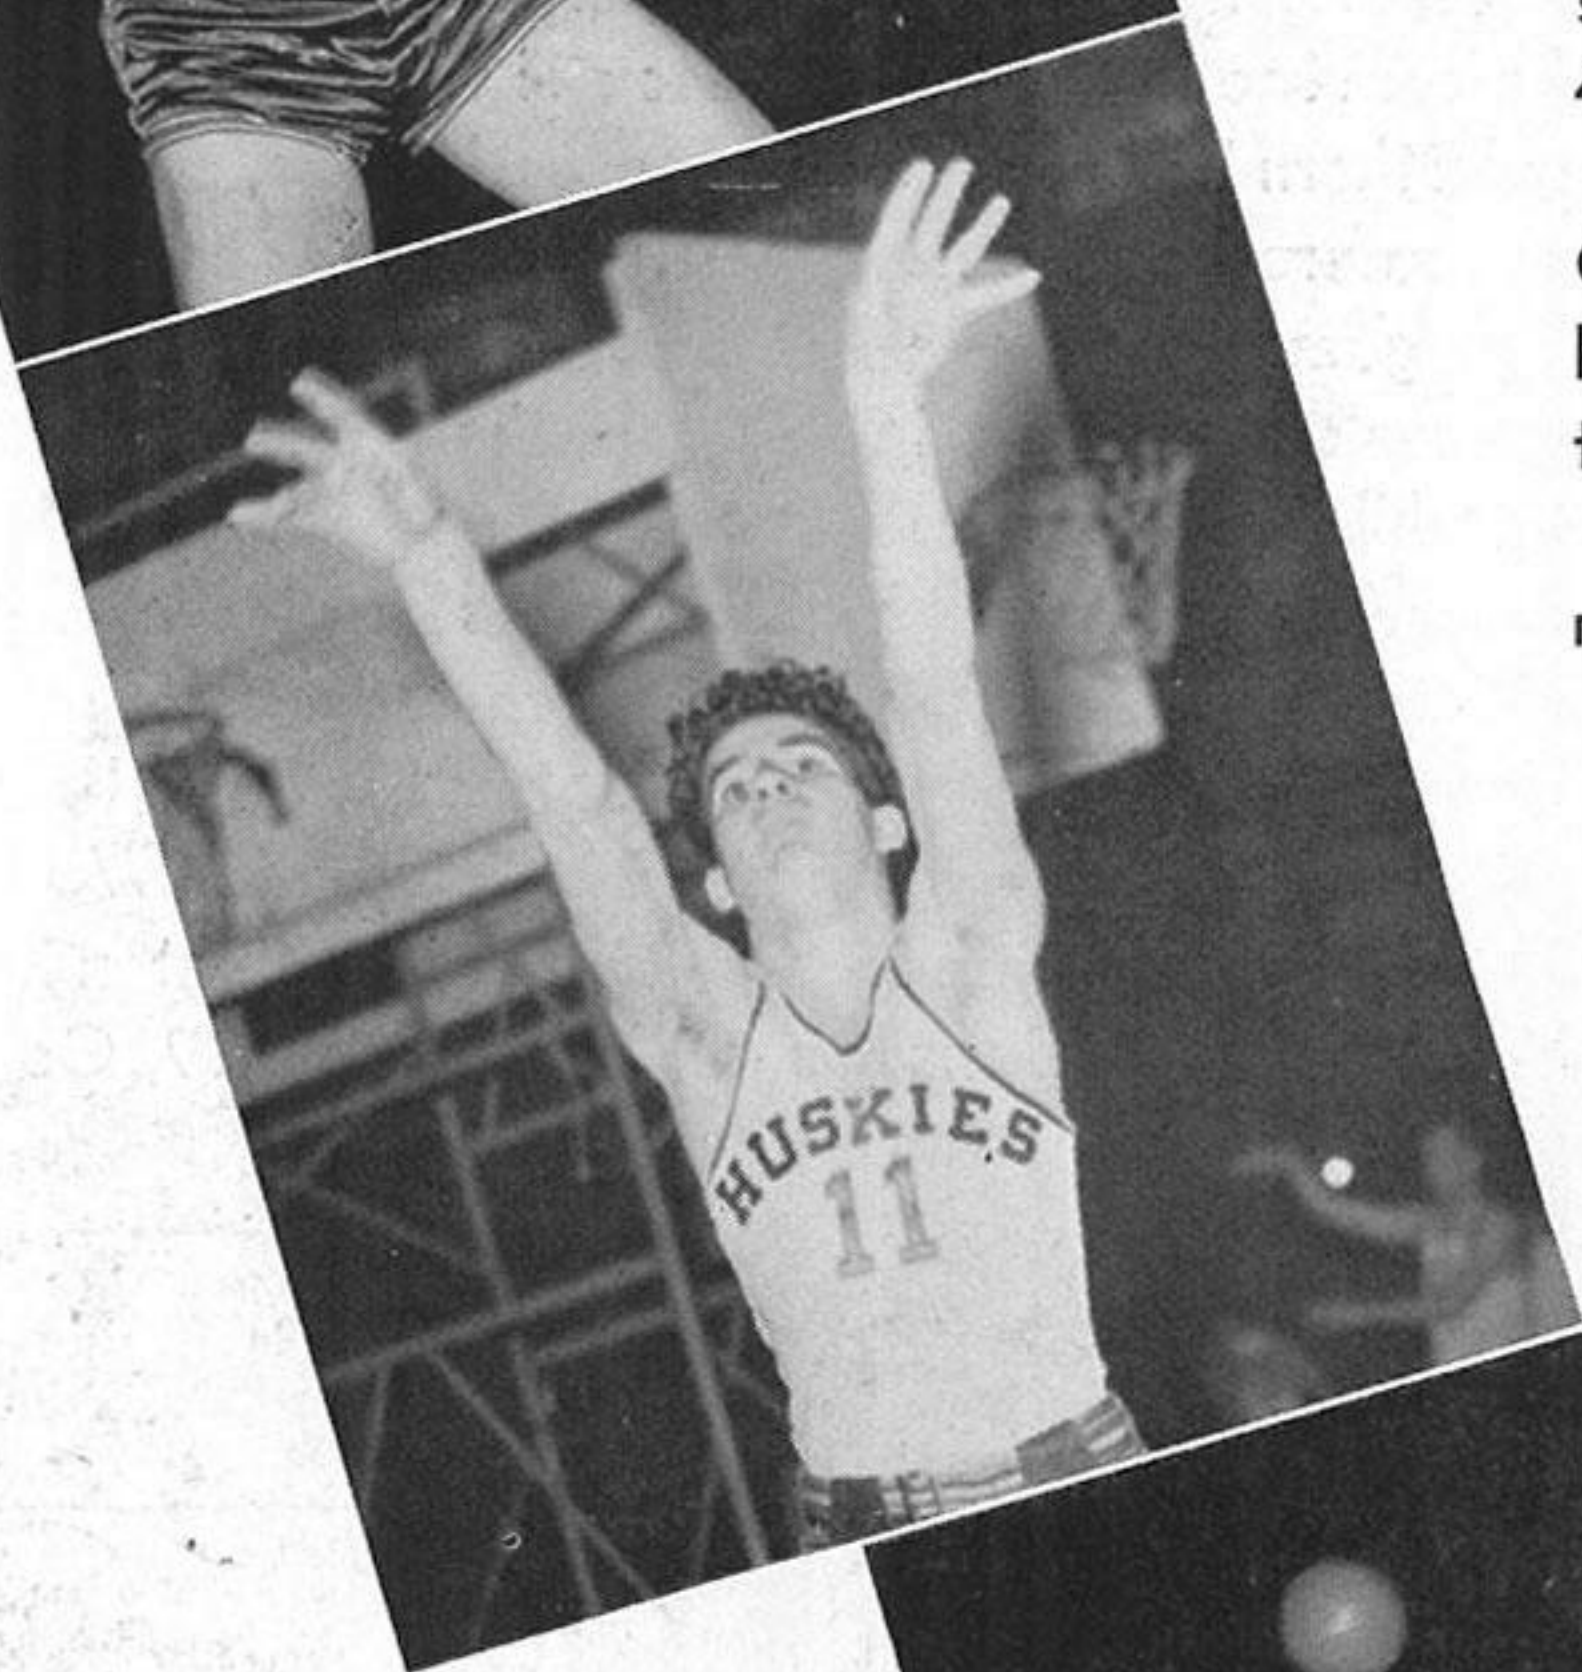

A combined service-civilian team went to Western Washington College of Education for another non-conference game and came back with a close 38-35 win.

The civilian team was next tested in conference competition during an invasion of Oregon. Washington dumped the Webfoot team twice, 57-38 and 56-47, to take four straight games from Oregon. Codd was high-point man the first night with 19. In the second game Mallory, Mar and Nichols scored 16, 16 and 14 respectively. The same night Whitman downed the service team 43-30.

Continuing their victory march, the Husky civilian team took the Oregon State Beavers into camp 38-33 and 42-36. The civilians had proved their worth. Fans no longer asked who would win the title but would anyone stop the Huskies.

While the road squad was rolling through Oregon, the servicemen dumped Whitman 46-38. Morris hit the basket for 16 points.

Don McMillan

ANOTHER non-conference affair saw the civilians come from behind in the final minutes of a return engagement with the Western Washington College of Education to take a 31-28 decision. The next evening the service team defeated Willamette 56-27.

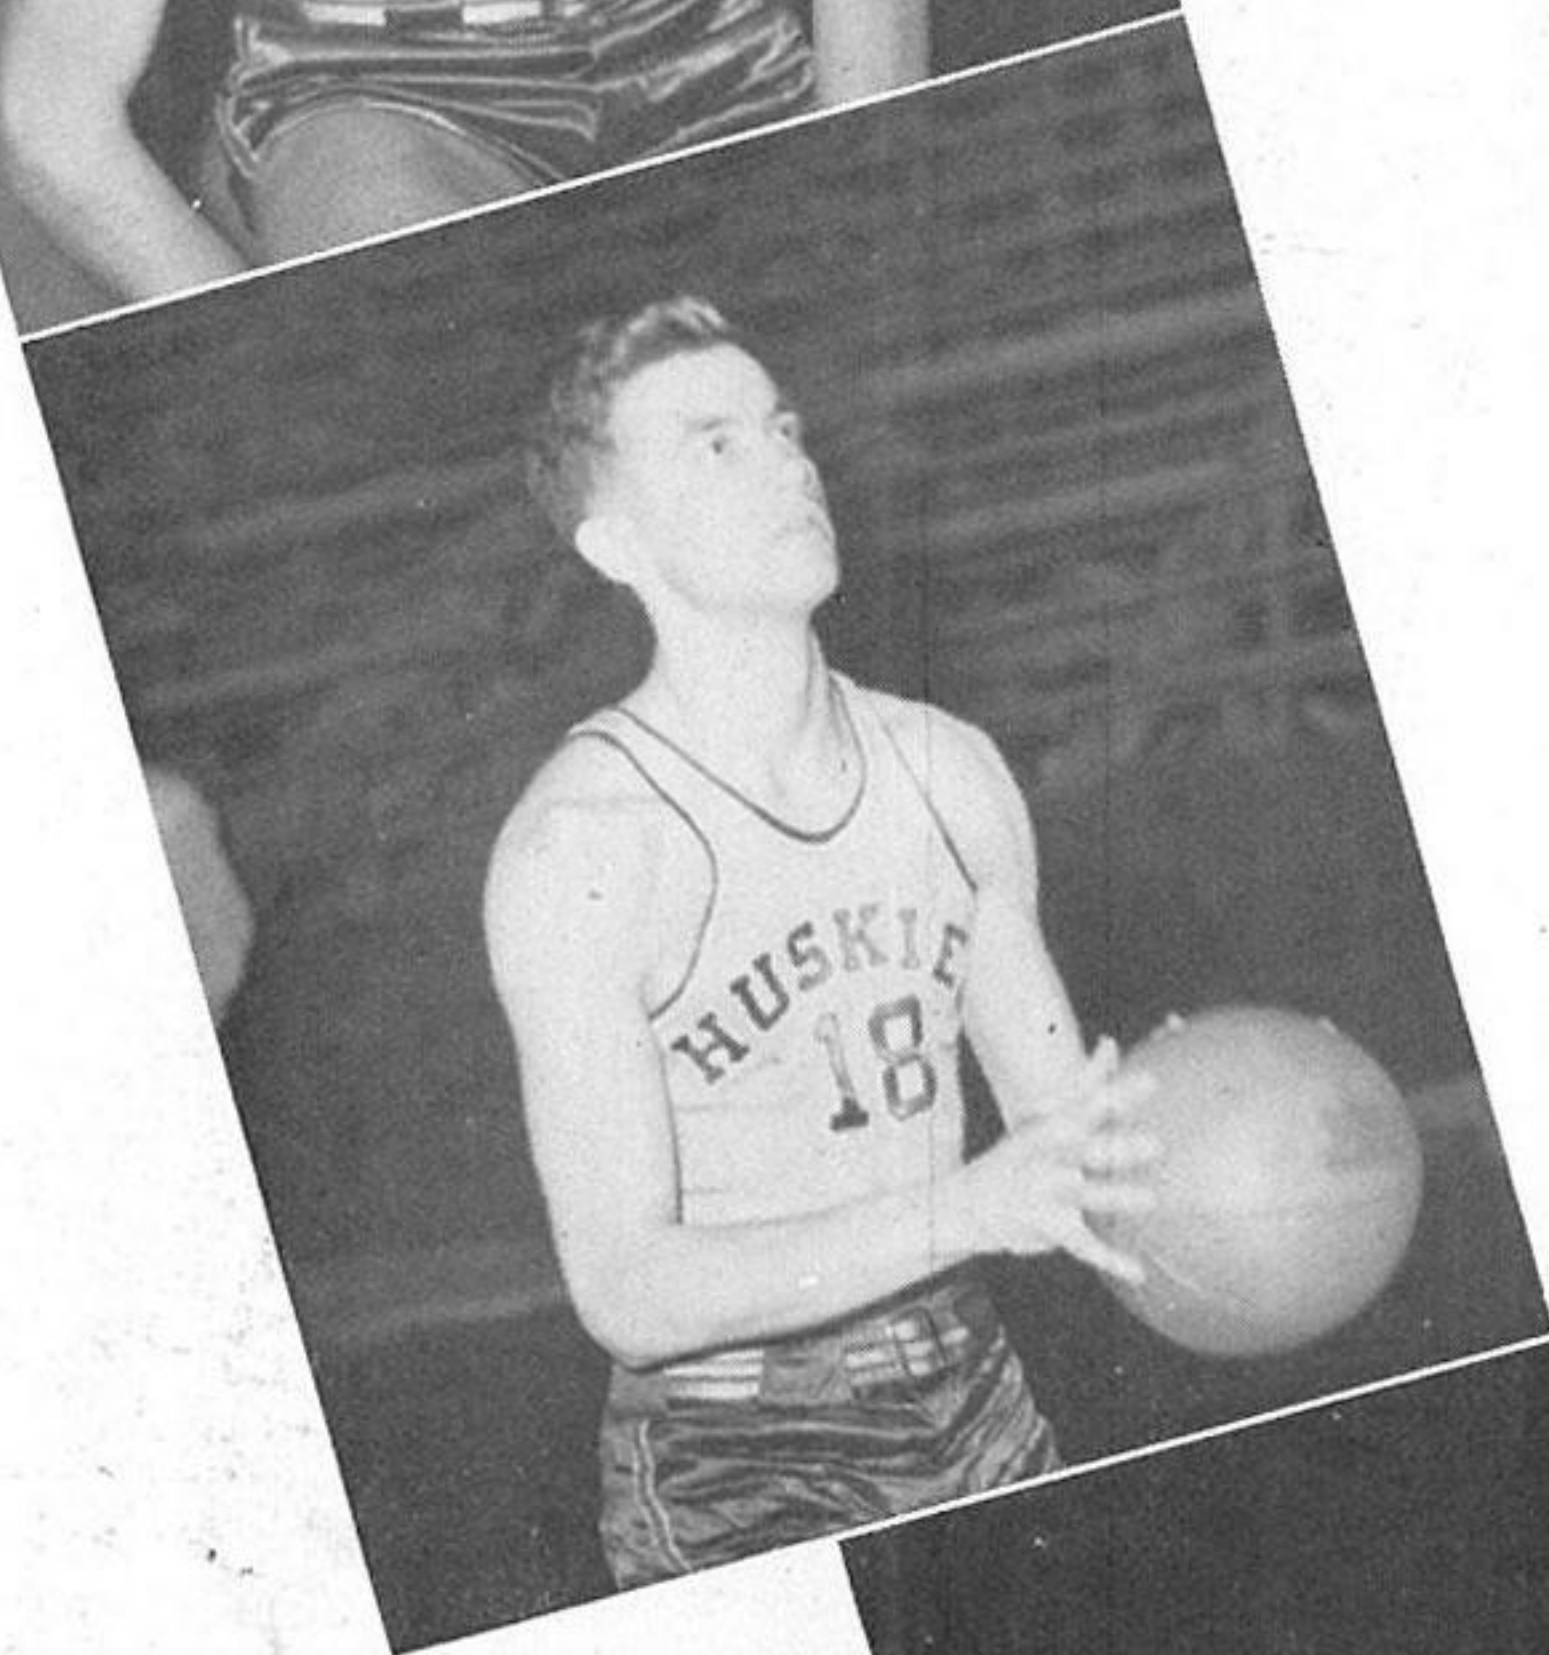

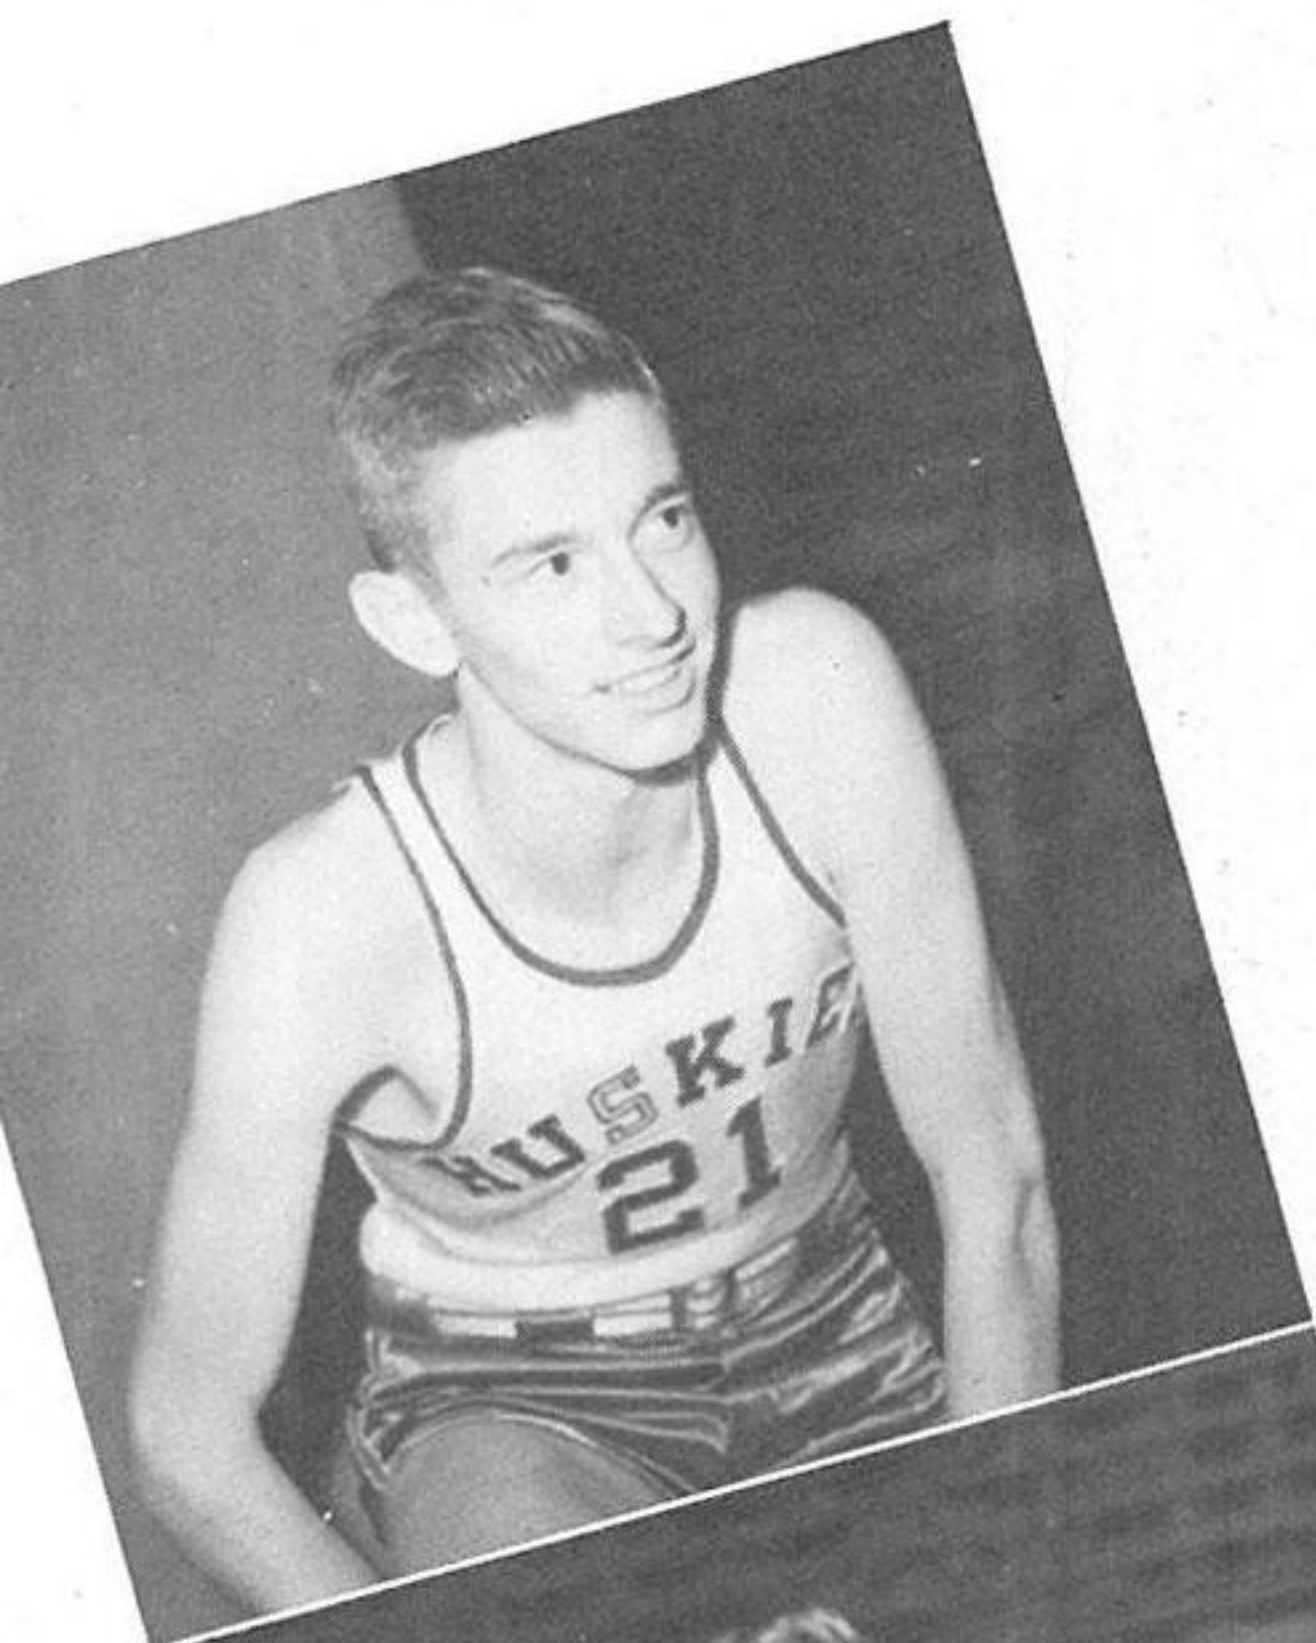

Going after their seventh and eighth conference victories this season, the Huskies poured power into their line-up to trounce O.S.C. 54-30 the first night and 56-29 the second. Both games were highlighted by a duel between Washington's Chinese player, Al Mar, and the Beavers' "Happy" Lee. The two wore the same number, checked each other and turned in sterling performances.

Washington State came to town next to test the Purple and Gold hoopsters and fared no better than other conference teams. Sparked by diminutive Al Mar and his 22 counters, the civilians handed the Cougars a 53-40 set back the first night. The next night was a repeat performance with the service team dominating the game for a 61-41 victory. Playing their last conference game, the trainee unit went all out to win and establish a new record of sixteen straight conference wins.

Perry Nelson

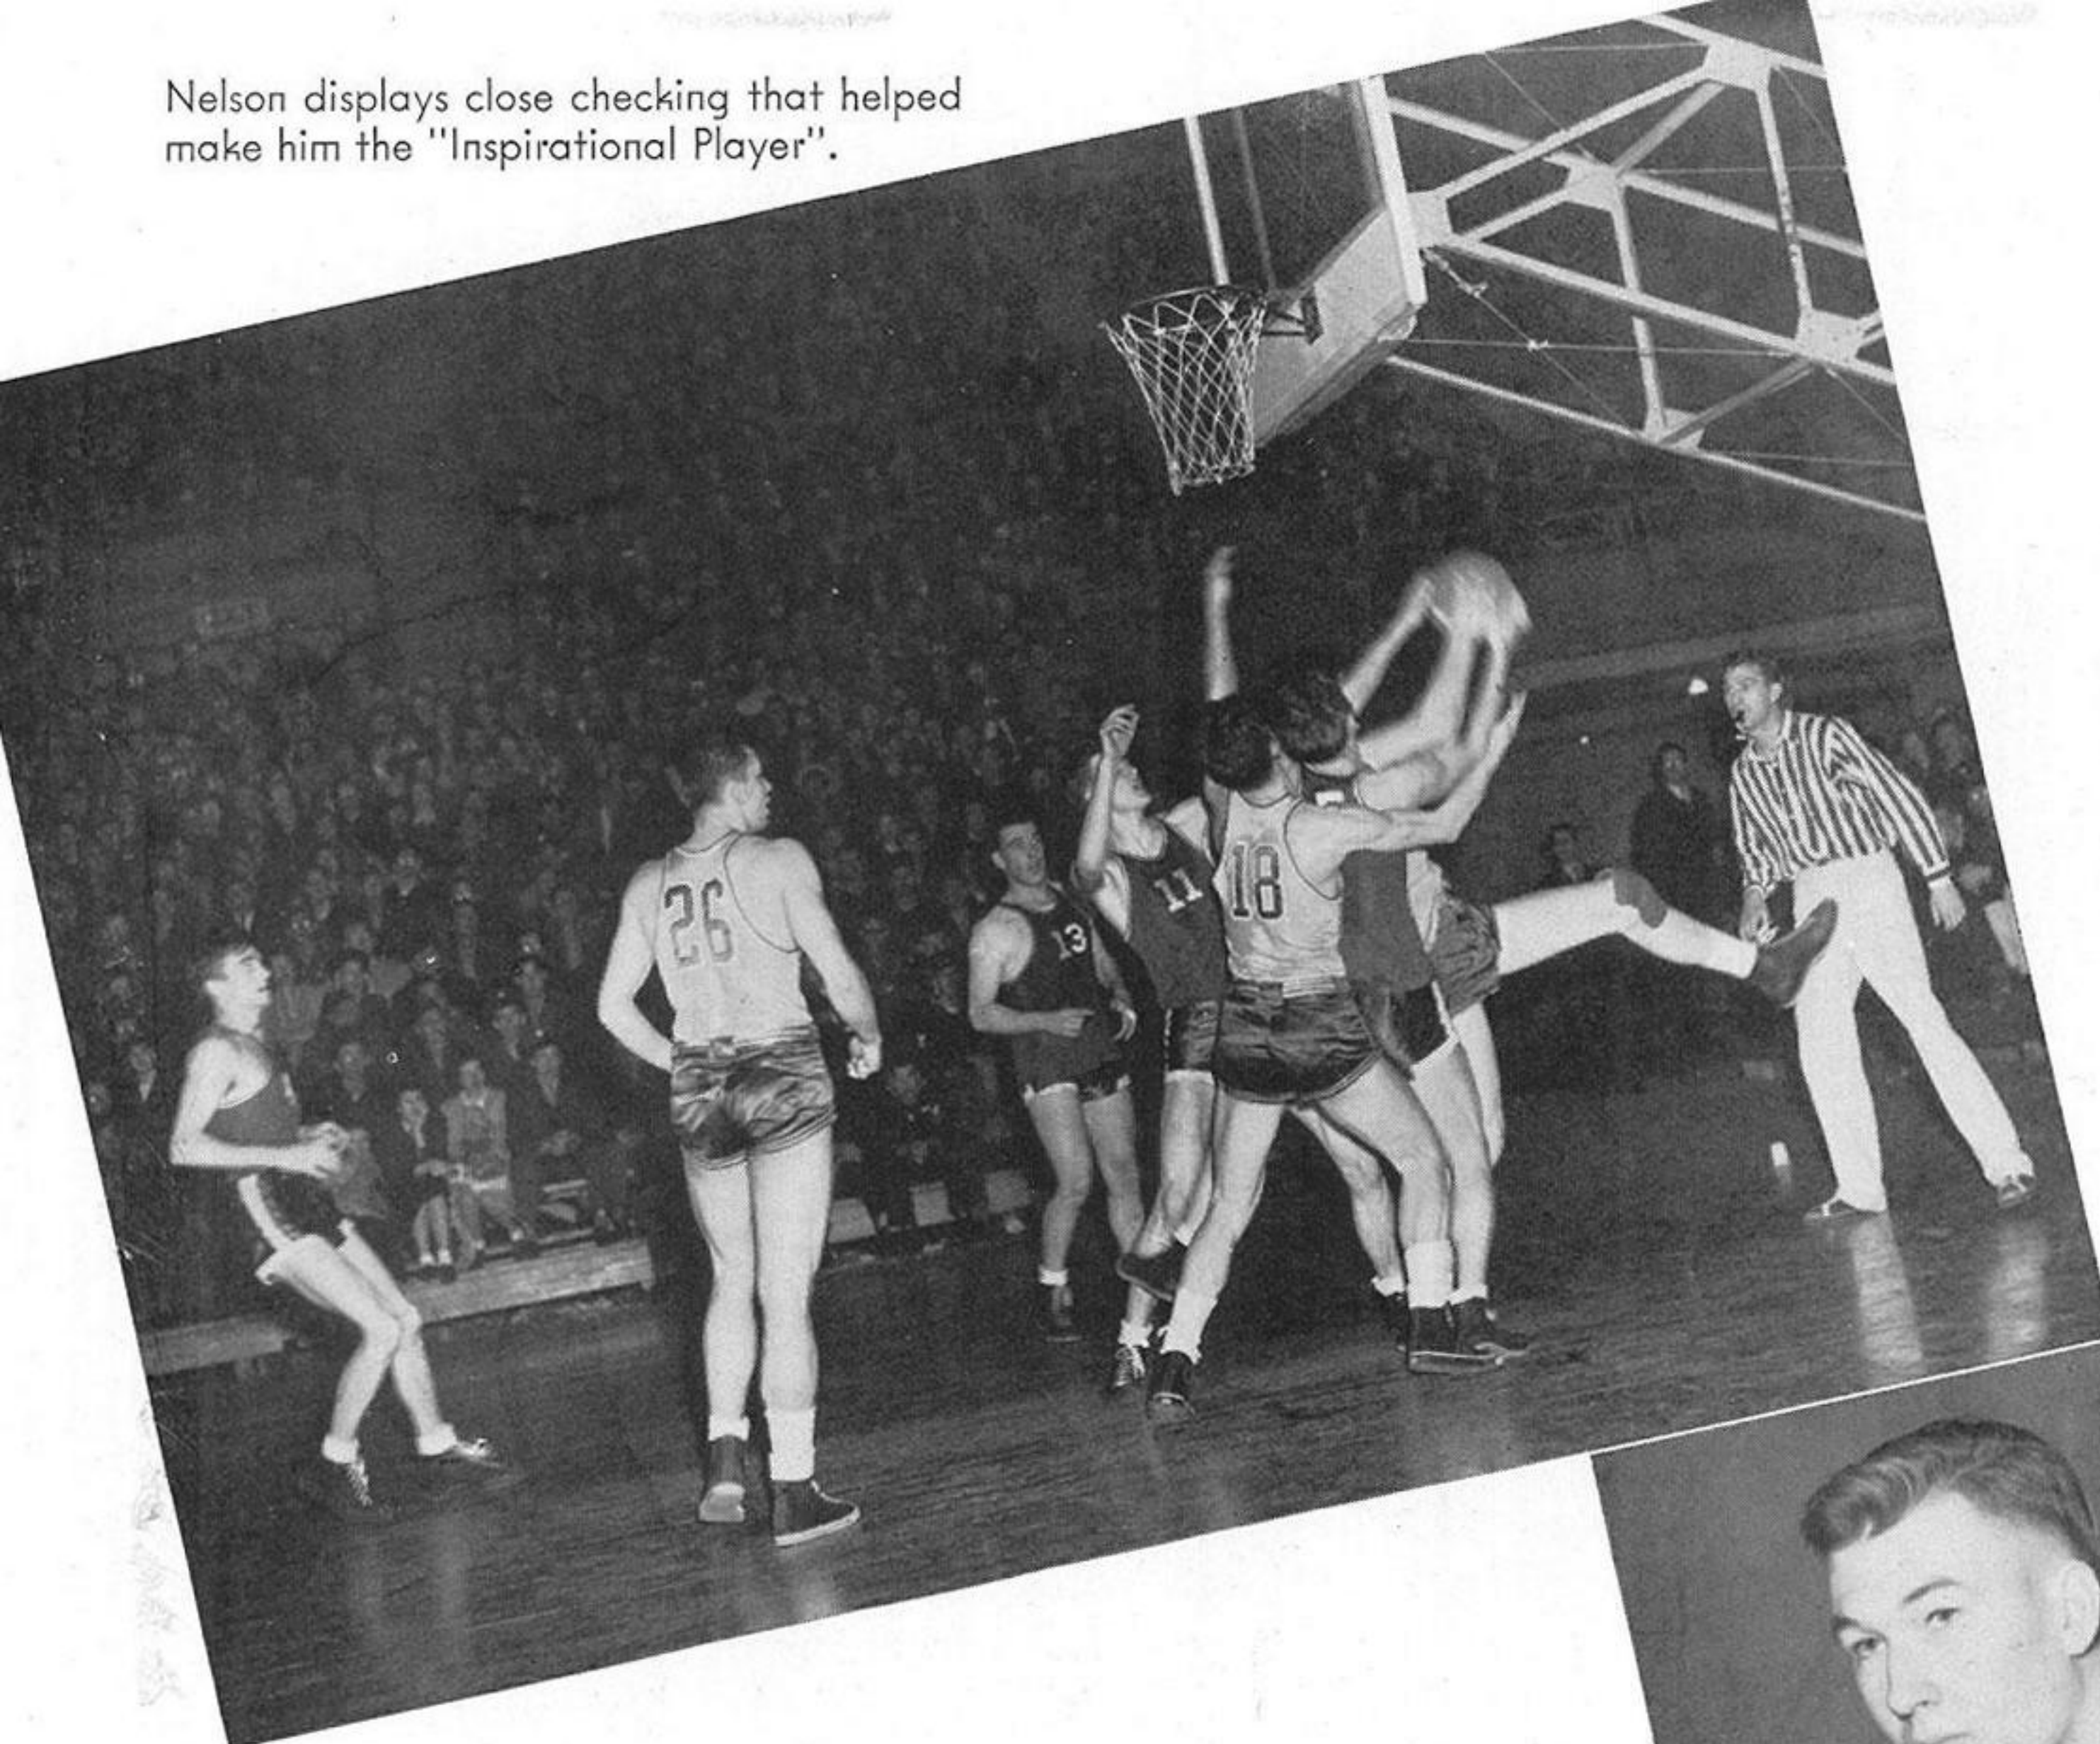

OUT to revenge a 76-39 defeat at the hands of Gonzaga, rated one of the Coast's top teams, the Huskies, sparked by Perry Nelson's scoring, ran up a 21-16 lead in the first 13 minutes of the game. But at this point the Zags turned on the pressure to show why they were tops. In the next seven minutes the Zags outraced the Huskies, outchecked the Huskies, and outplayed the Huskies. During those seven minutes Gonzaga scored 11 points and at the same time held Washington scoreless. Early in the second half Captain Bill Morris fouled out, leaving the Huskies without their leader. Nelson was high with 17 points.

Winning the second game 53-40, Washington played the brand of basketball that had made them unbeatable in conference competition. The victory for the Huskies gave the Zags their second defeat in 24 starts. Akins, Taylor, Morris, Nichols and Gronsdahl matched the Gonzaga scoring in the early minutes of the game and then pulled ahead never to be caught. All five starters, who played the first 30 minutes without a substitution, scored 10 points or over. But Gonzaga's Baker was high-point man for the game with 17 points.

Morris fires a sure score against the Beavers.

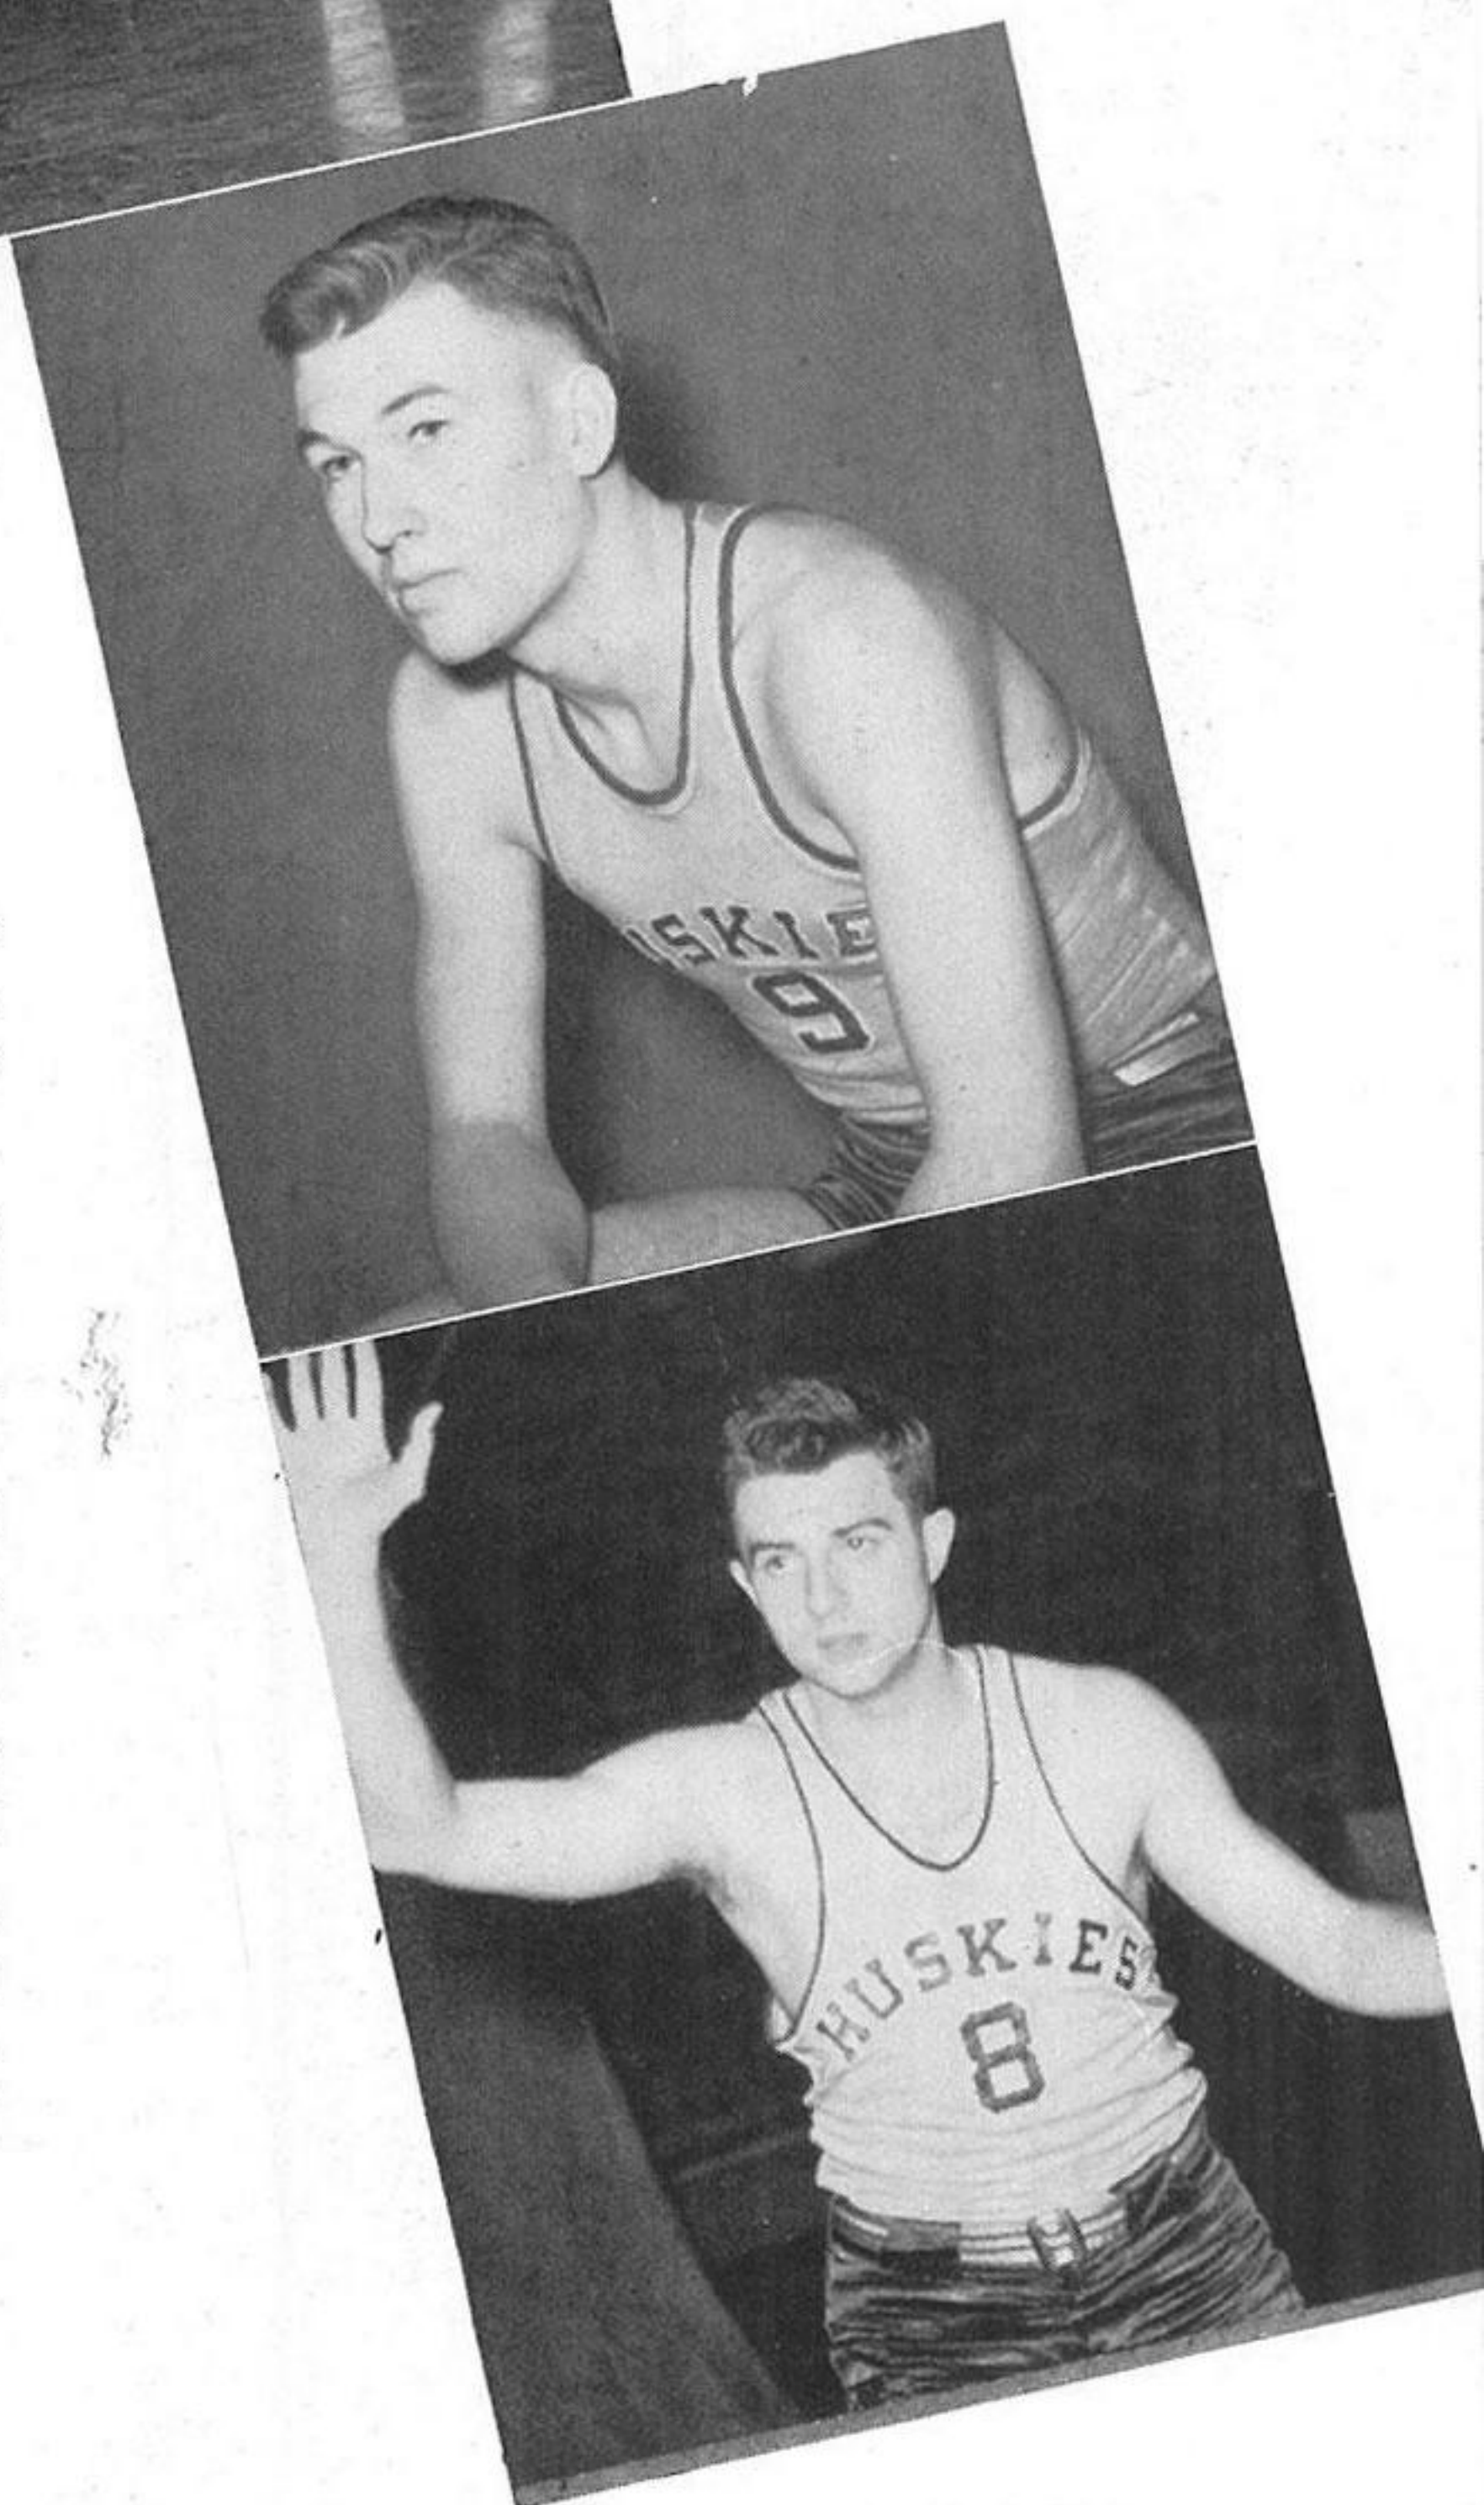

Nelson displays close checking that helped make him the "Inspirational Player".

Bill Vandenburg

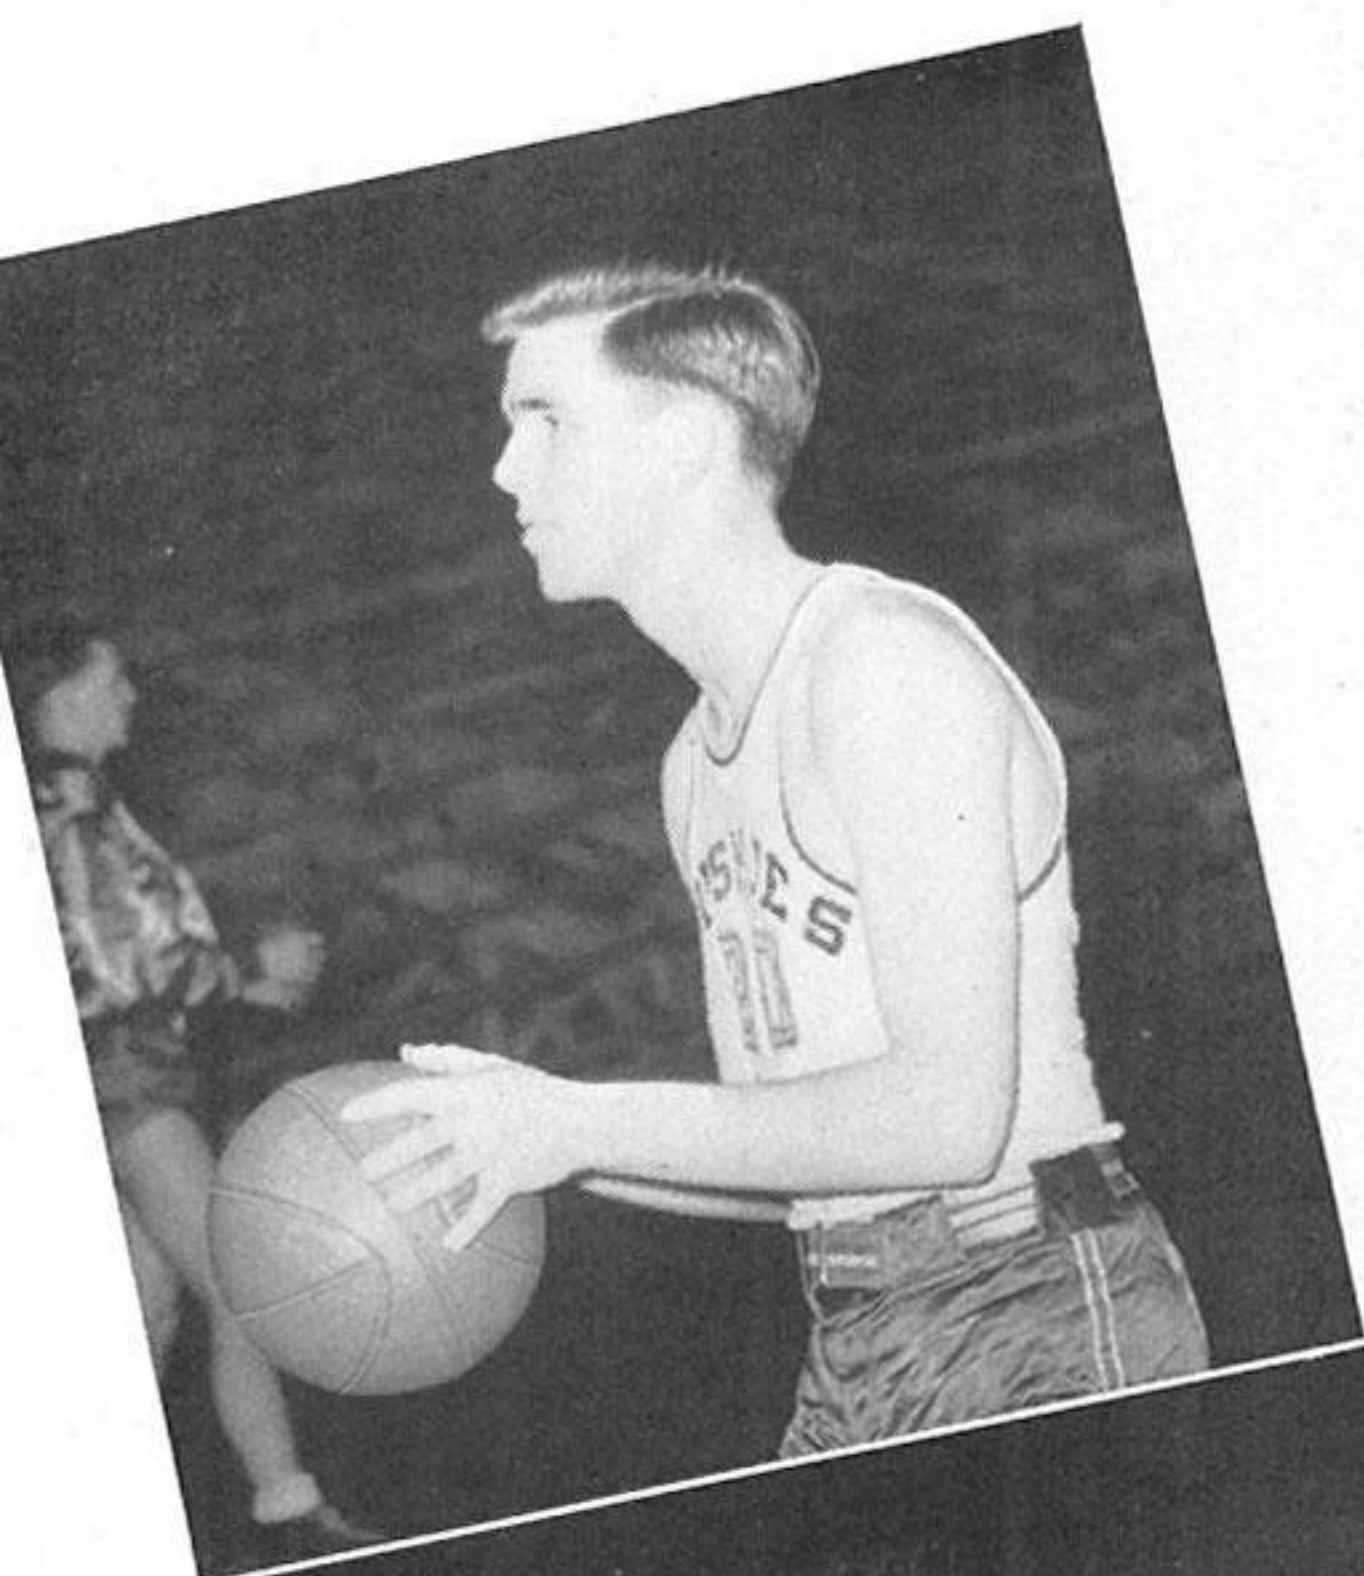

MEETING Idaho for the first time this season, the Husky cagers walloped the Vandals 64-32 to extend their consecutive conference win record to 17. Using a civilian lineup with the exception of ace Bill Morris, Coach Edmundson had the game his way throughout the contest. After Morris had scored 10 points in 14 minutes of play, Hec sent his All-American guard to the showers and watched his youngsters continue to outplay the game Idaho team. Jim Mallory was high for the night with 15 points.

Once again with the aid of only one serviceman, veteran Bill Morris, the Husky hoopsters trimmed Idaho, this time 69-55, to clinch the Division title. After a disastrous first half that ended with Idaho leading 35-28, the Purple and Gold machine looked as though it might be stalled at 17 straight wins. But sparked by Bill Morris, who was playing his last game before the hometown fans, the Huskies closed the gap and finally forged ahead, never again to be threatened. Morris put on a one man shooting demonstration, scoring 30 points for a new Northern Division individual scoring mark.

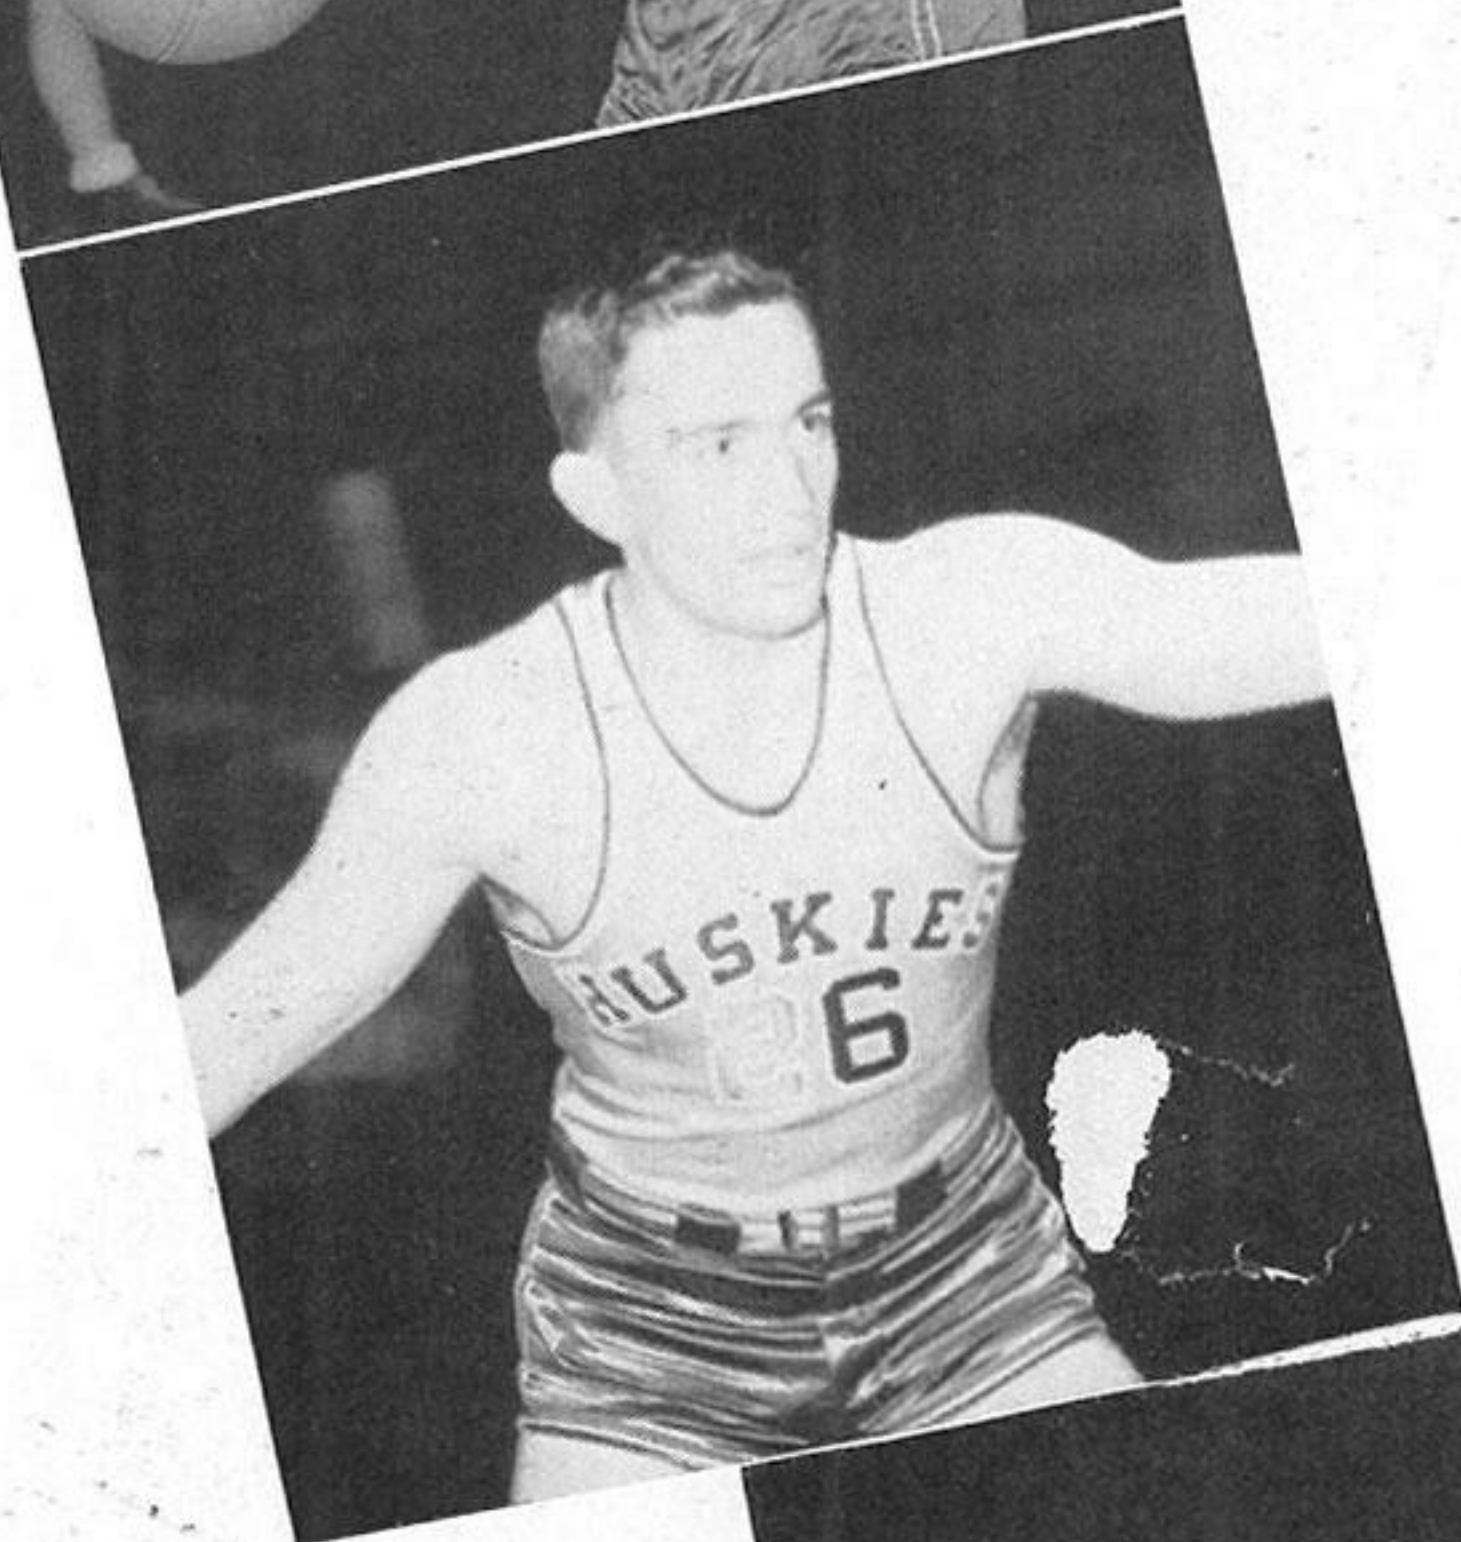

Jack Getaz

Don O'Neil

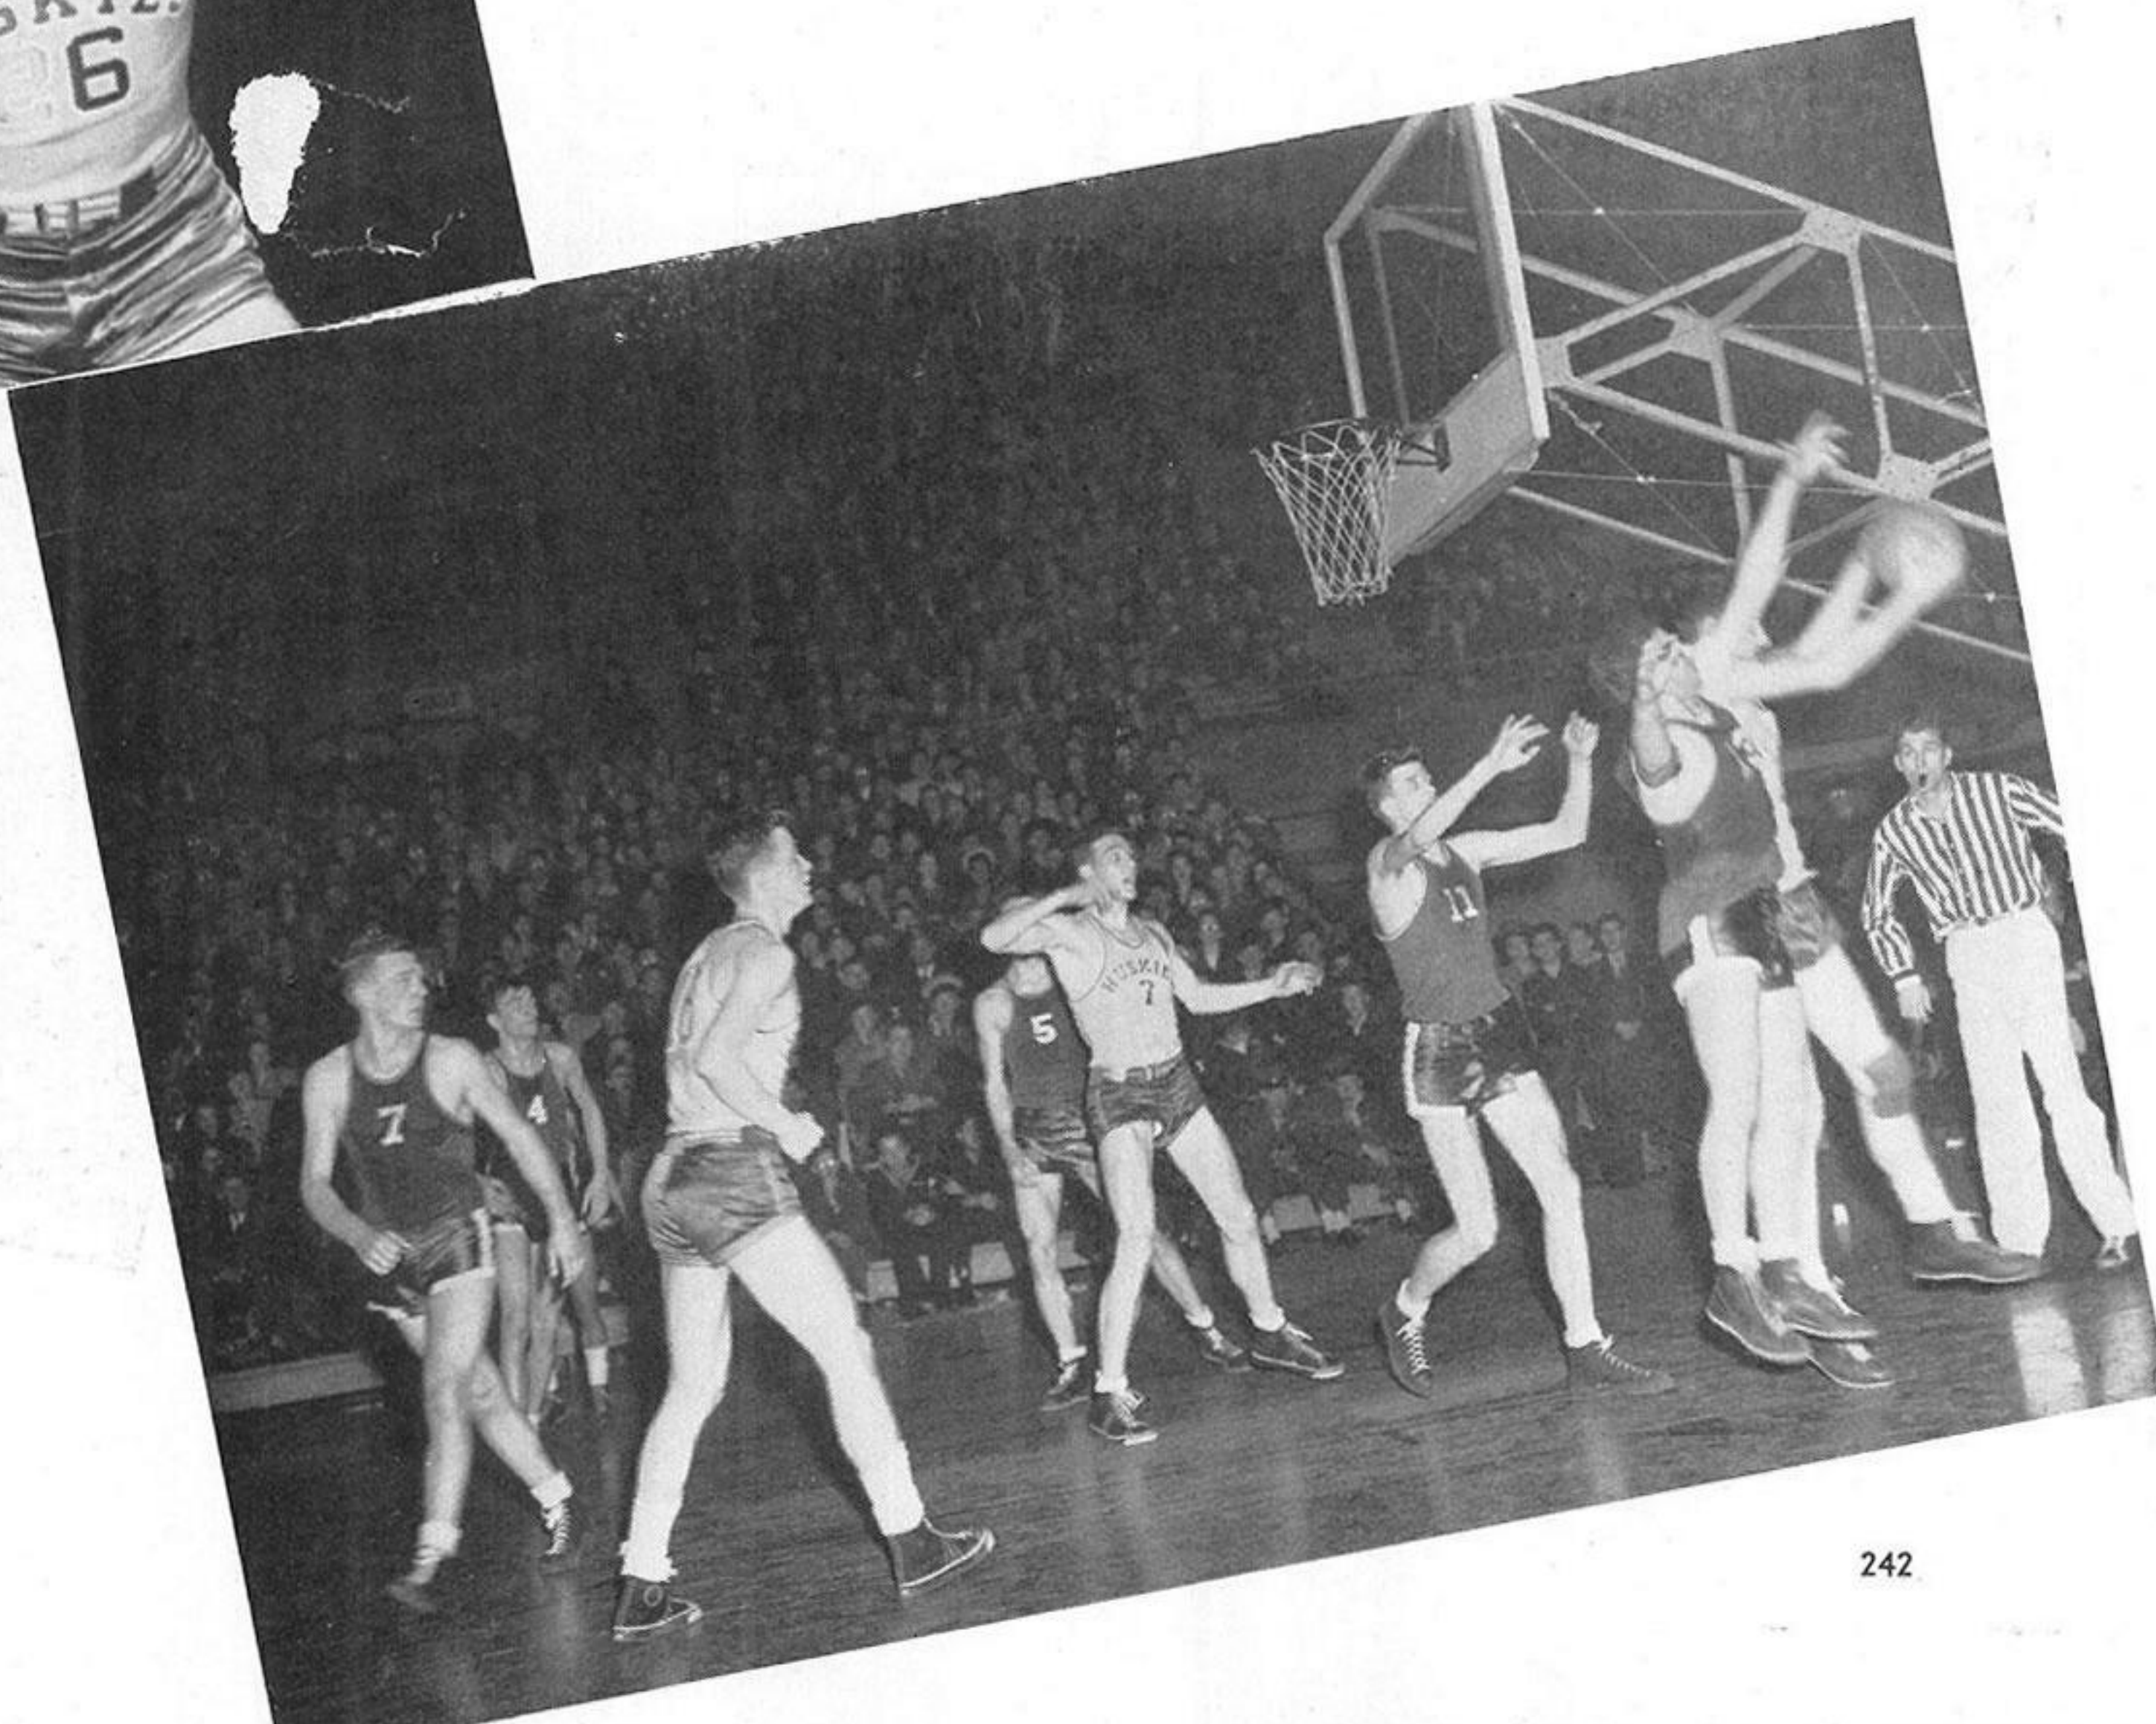

WITH the Division title already neatly tucked away, Hec and his gang of civilians headed for the Palouse country in an attempt to extend their consecutive conference win record. In their first game against Idaho the Husky casaba squad ran through the Vandals to take the game 63-48. Codd, Mallory, and Haug set a stiff scoring pace from the beginning and at one time in the first half had gathered a 20-point lead. John Codd was high-point man for the game with 18 counters.

Moving over to Pullman, the Husky squad, reinforced by the addition of Don McMillan and Al Akins, downed W.S.C. 71-50 in a game that featured McMillan's individual scoring record. Unsatisfied with Morris' week-old record of 30 points, McMillan poured 12 field goals and 10 free throws through the basket, boosting the mark to 34 counters. Akins also hopped on the scoring bandwagon with 15 points to help down his former teammates. For the first half W.S.C. managed to match the Husky team almost point for point. But from the outset of the second half the Purple and Gold quickly jumped ahead, steadily increasing their lead.

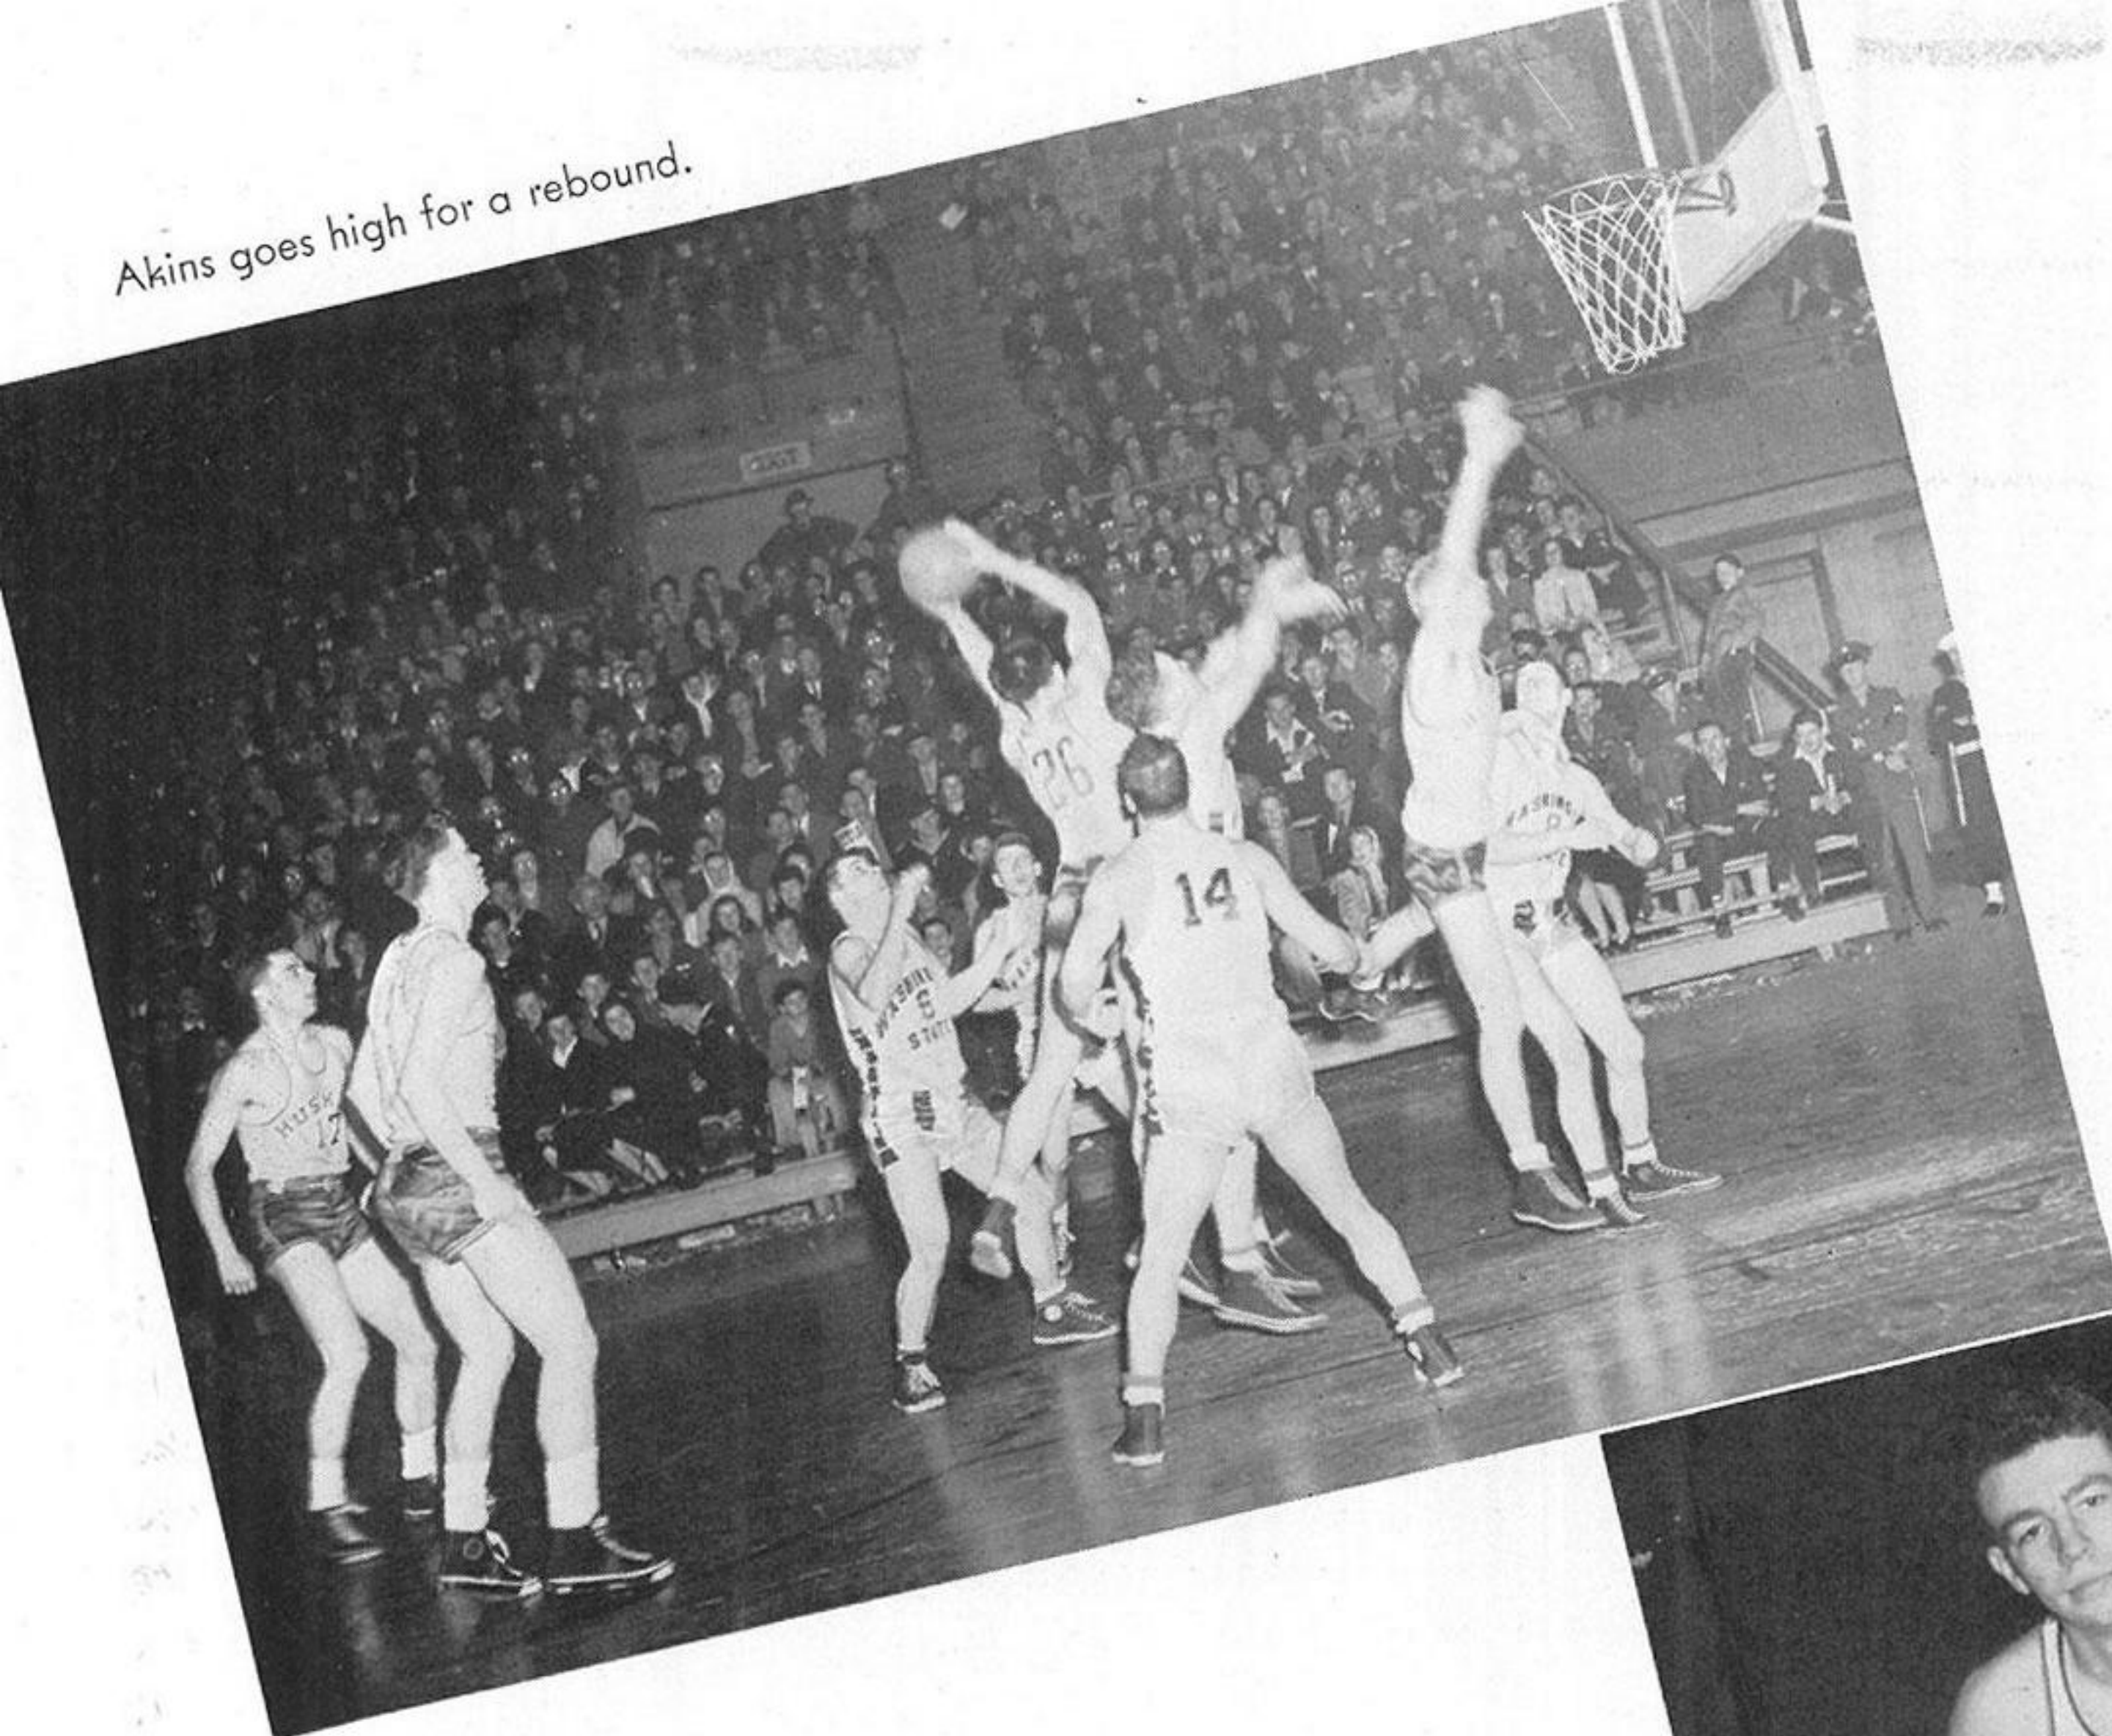

Al Akins

Nelson and McMillan watch a teammate fight for the ball.

Hal Robinson

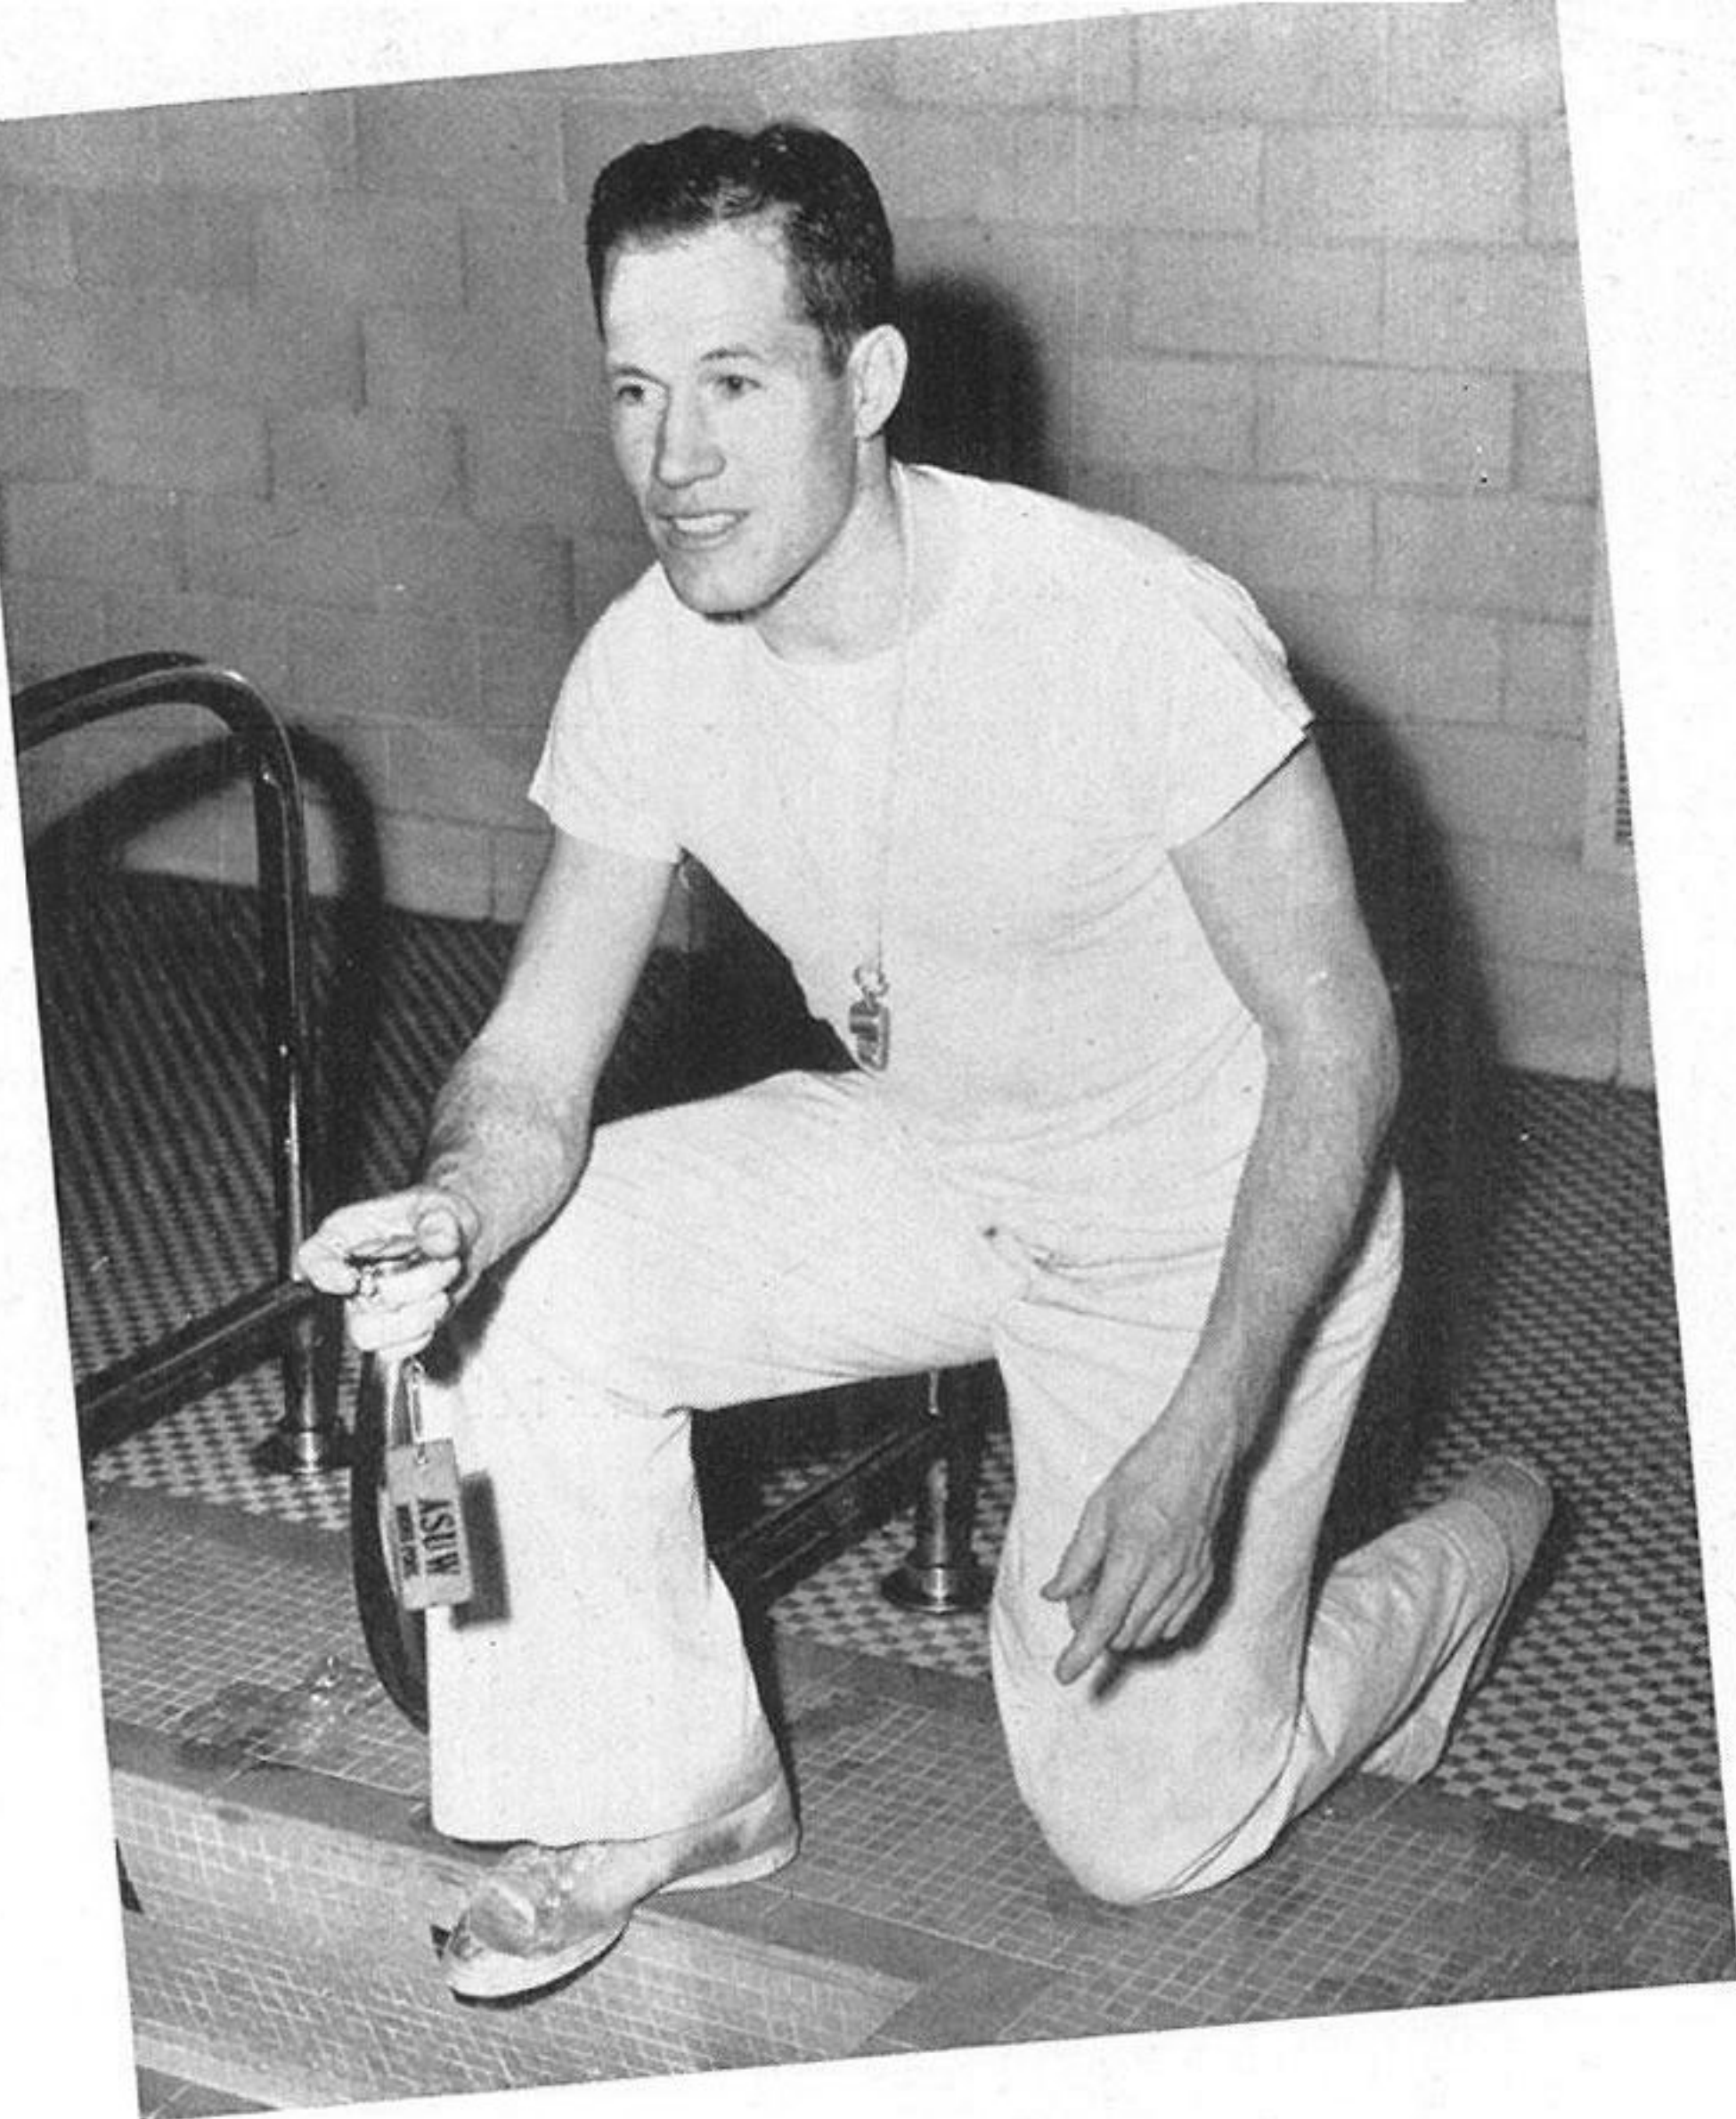

A SCRAPPY Idaho team, trailing the Husky "unstoppables" throughout most of the second game, pushed ahead of the champs in the closing minutes to take the game, 55-33. Thus, to an end came the Washington dream of an undefeated season and the end of the Huskies' 20-game consecutive conference win streak. Although the Huskies led most of the game, they never had more than a 6-point lead. With only two minutes to play Idaho's little Dale Albin tied the score at 53 all; then with less than a minute to go Albin came back with another score to put the Vandals in front.

At Pullman the Huskies bounced back from their only defeat to hand the Cougars a 62-43 set-back in the season's finale. The win gave the Huskies a new record of 15 wins in one season. Both teams fought on even terms throughout the first half with Washington holding a 25-24 lead at halftime. Once again Don McMillan returned to the Cougar floor, on which two nights ago he had set a new Northern Division scoring record, to take high-point honors with 17 tallies.

Dale Gronsdahl

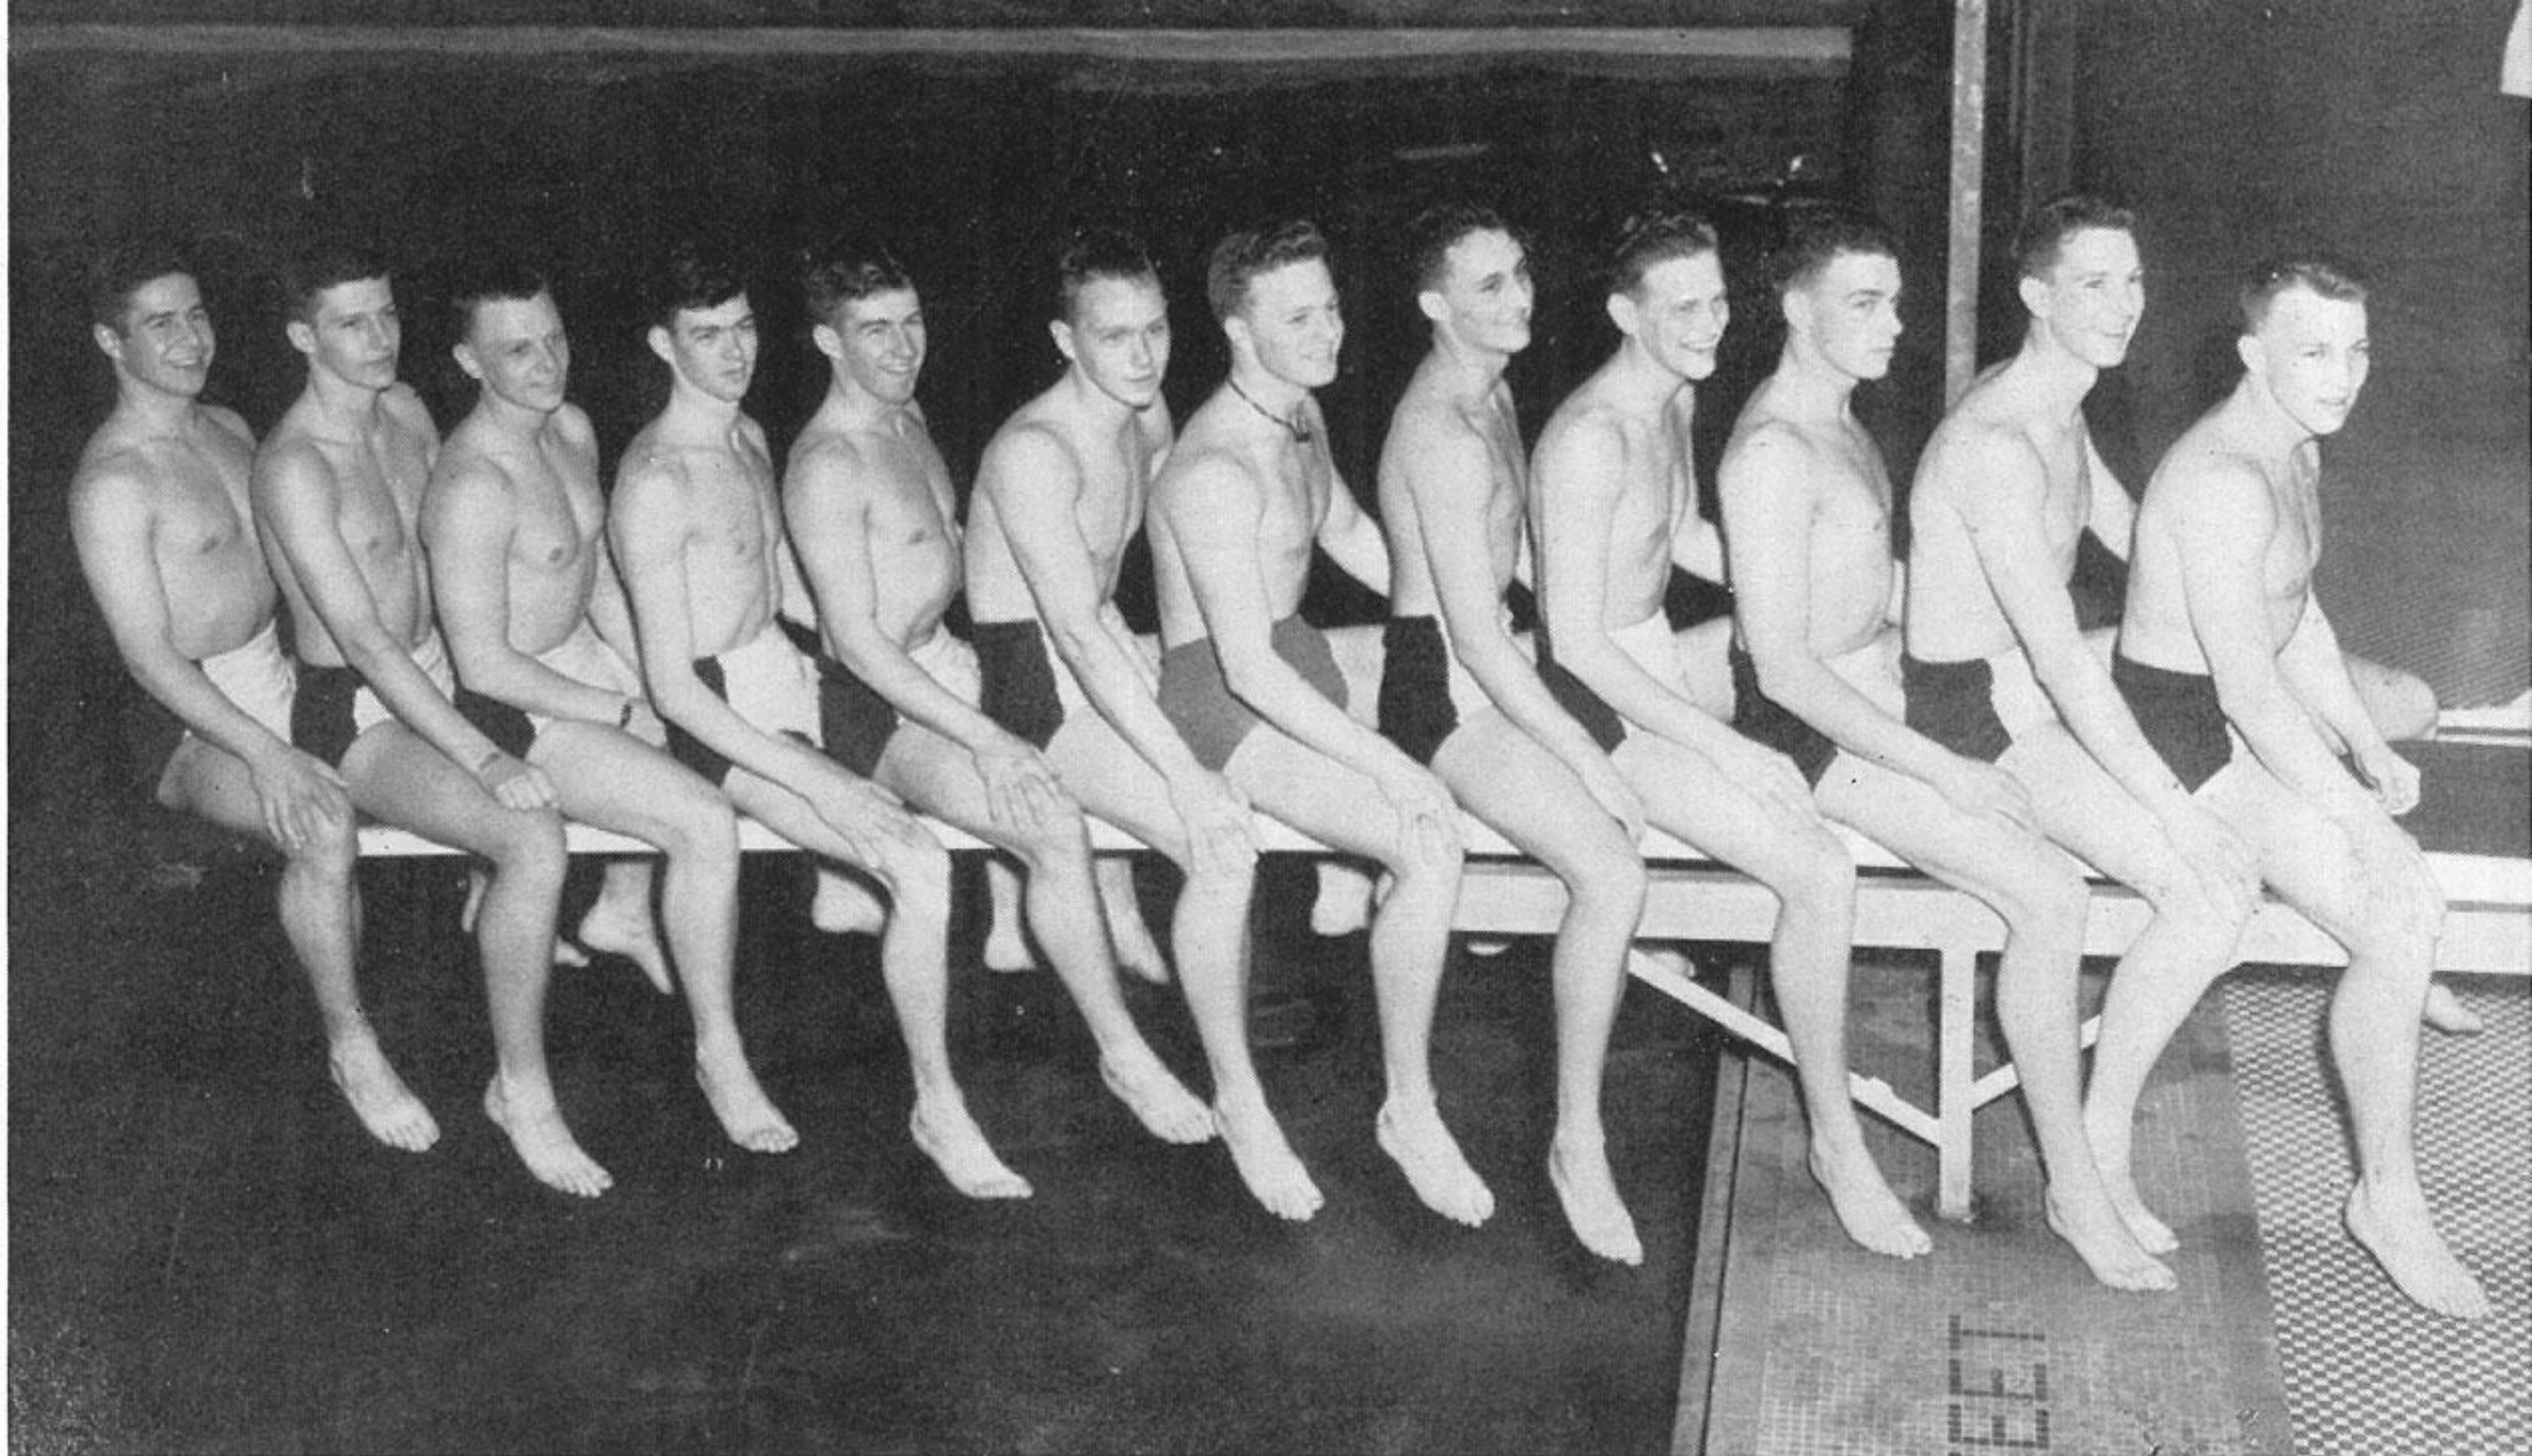

SWIMMING

GOODNATURED, young Eric Kirkland, following Bob Buckley as head swimming coach, fought military regulations to build a well-rounded swimming squad. A Washington graduate, Eric knows his boys, combines his friendly ways with sound coaching technique to develop all potentialities. He proved his mettle this year by bringing Washington the National A.A.U. Junior 200-yd. relay championship.

"A" squad: Heslin, MacLane, Sines, Gloyd, Powell, Sherwood, Ladd, Flagg, Voorhees

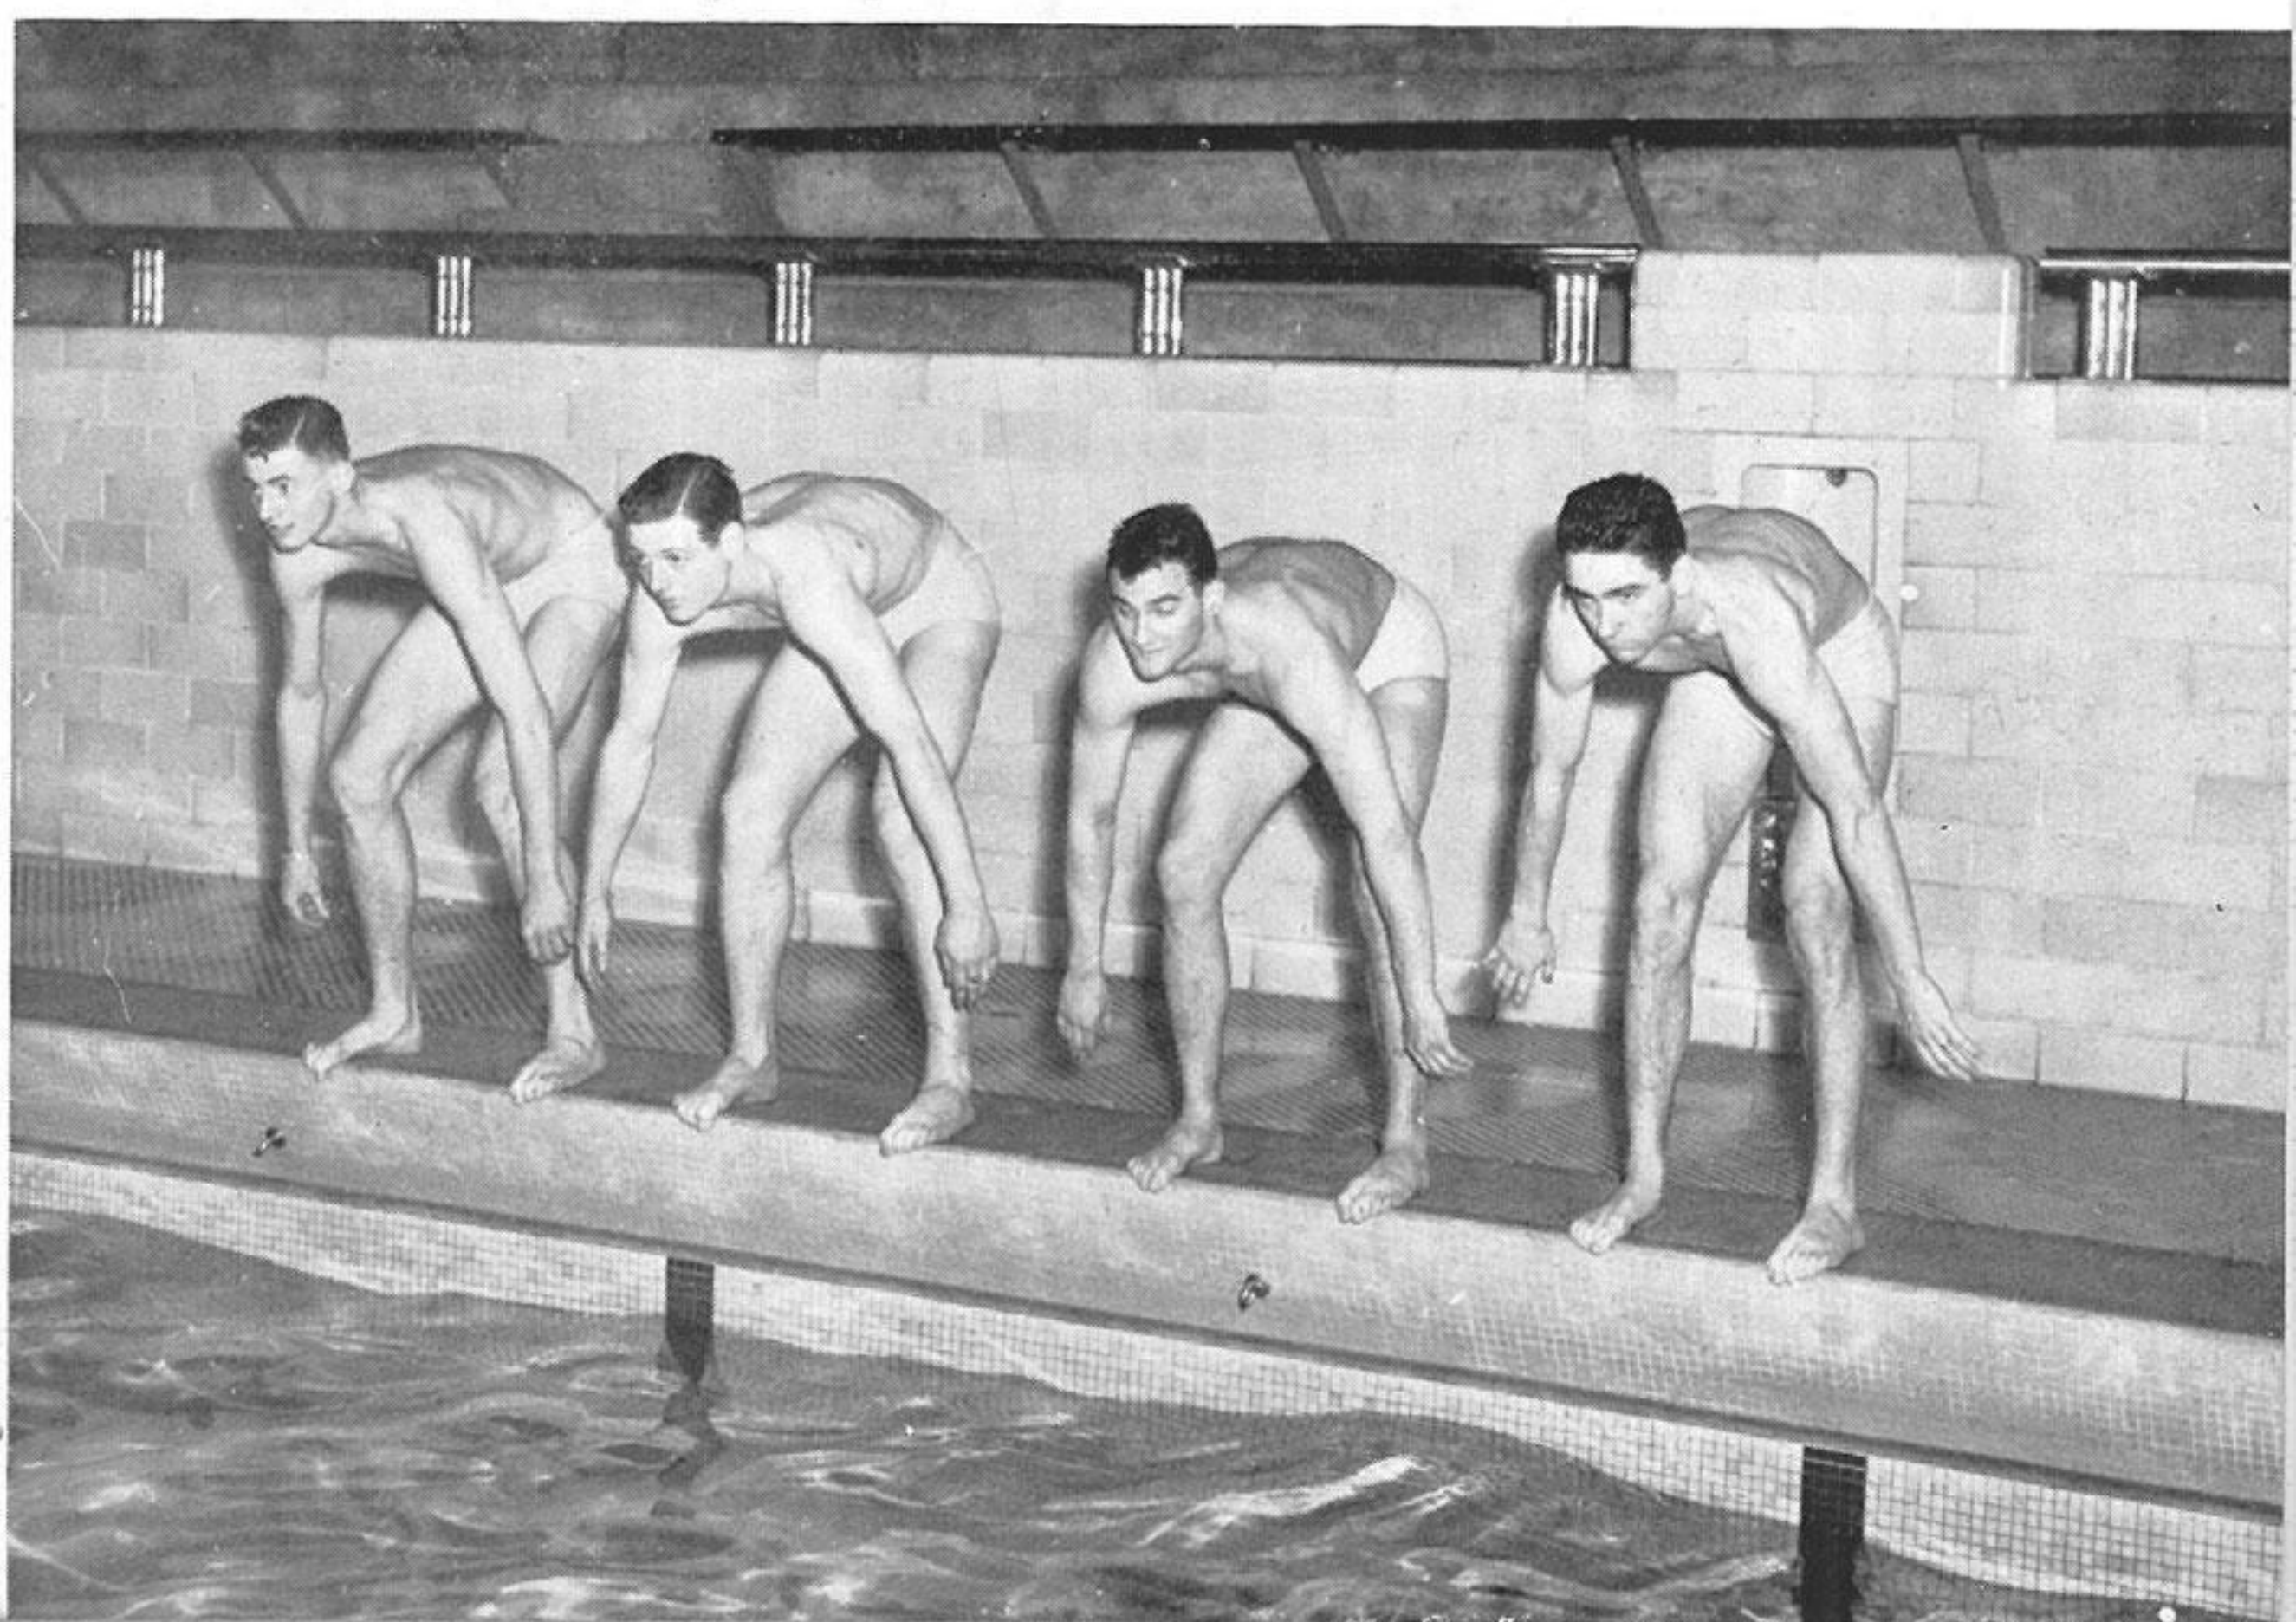

"B" squad: Eddy, Briggs, Sneed, Scholes, Chalk, Rokke, Holland, Smith, Humphrey, Donoghue, Dresslar, Robinson

DIVIDING his squad into "A" and "B" teams, Coach Kirkland dug up what competition he could find in the local area. Swimming only two meets, both against Sand Point, the Husky "A" team twice overwhelmed the sailors, first 60-10 and later 52-20.

Top performers of the "A" team included the National A.A.U. Junior 200-yd. relay championship team of Gloyd, Flagg, Sherwood and MacLane.

Competing against local high schools, the "B" team turned in a fair season. Top men were Briggs, Eddy, Rokke, Chalk, Dresslar and Humphrey.

Track

DEAN of Husky coaches, Hec Edmundson has been tutoring Washington athletes for 23 years. Known in track circles since 1912, when he competed in the Olympics, tall, gum-chewing Hec stresses conditioning to get results. During the '43 season Hec fought against losses to the armed forces. His men took the Northern Division, placed eighth in the N.C.A.A. championships.

ANGULAR Percy Egtvet, assistant track coach, speaks with a voice of experience as he puts his men through their paces. A star trackman during his student days at the University, Percy held the Washington field record for the high jump in '25.

HALF-MILER Gene Swanzey, track captain and nominee for "Athlete of the Year," has been a big gun of Husky cinder teams for three years. Holder of the Northern Division and Pacific Coast half-mile titles in '42, he was nosed out this year by O.S.C.'s Norene.

TRACK

WHEN THE season got under way, the Husky cinder team was built around a handful of returning letterman and a group of promising but inexperienced freshmen.

The Huskies met their first defeat in a meet that was deadlocked until the final event tipped the score to 68 for Oregon, 63 for Washington. The meet was lost in the final seconds when Oregon's Beckner nipped Swanzey at the tape to take the relay. Best performance of the day was Swanzey's earlier 1:55.3 half-mile.

Bolstered by the return of sprinter Bob Smith, the Huskies jumped into the winning column by downing Oregon State 70½-60½. Jack Barron gathered 8 points in the hurdles to take Washington high point honors. Pitman and Swanzey took the quarter- and half-mile for the Huskies.

N D MEET

GOING into the Northern Division meet with complete disregard for the dope sheet, the Huskies displayed a well balanced squad that finished 22 1/3 points ahead of its nearest competitor, Oregon State. Washington men took only five firsts, but gathered enough points from seconds and thirds to boost the Purple and Gold total to 54 1/3. Oregon State followed with 32. Other scores were Oregon, 31; Washington State, 30 1/3; Idaho, 15 1/3; and Montana, 1.

Freshman Evert Pitman turned in the most sensational performance of the meet when, from a boxed position, he cut around the entire field to win the 440.

Another frosh, Tom Kamm, brought more glory to his class and points to the Husky score by capturing the Northern Division broad jump title with a jump of 23' 4 3/4". Strobe and Rubstello placed second and fourth respectively for Washington.

Dick Yantis picked off the discus championship and Bill Kydd won the javelin throw with a heave of 194' 3".

The Purple and Gold relay team, which had met nothing but defeat during the dual meet season, made it another Husky win in the final event. Excepting one poor baton pass, Clinton, Swanzey, Bell and Pitman looked like winners all the way.

NCAA MEET

IN THE summer of '43 Coach Edmundson and a seven-man squad—Tom Kamm, Bill Kydd, Dick Yantis, Bob Smith, Gene Swanzey, Evert Pitman and Ron Garretson—competed in the N.C.A.A. championships at Northwestern University and brought home eighth place.

Although the Huskies were no threat to the well-rounded Trojan team from Southern California, which ran up a total of 46 points to take the meet for the ninth straight year, individual Washington men did place high enough to garner 17 points and eighth place.

Top performer for the Huskies was freshman Tom Kamm, Northern Division broad jump champ, who took third place in the national meet with a jump of 23' 2½".

Bill Kydd, another Northern Division titleholder, and Dick Yantis both won fourth places. Kydd won his 4 points in the javelin with a toss of 192' 2½". Yantis's mark of 137' in the discus event was good for 4 more points.

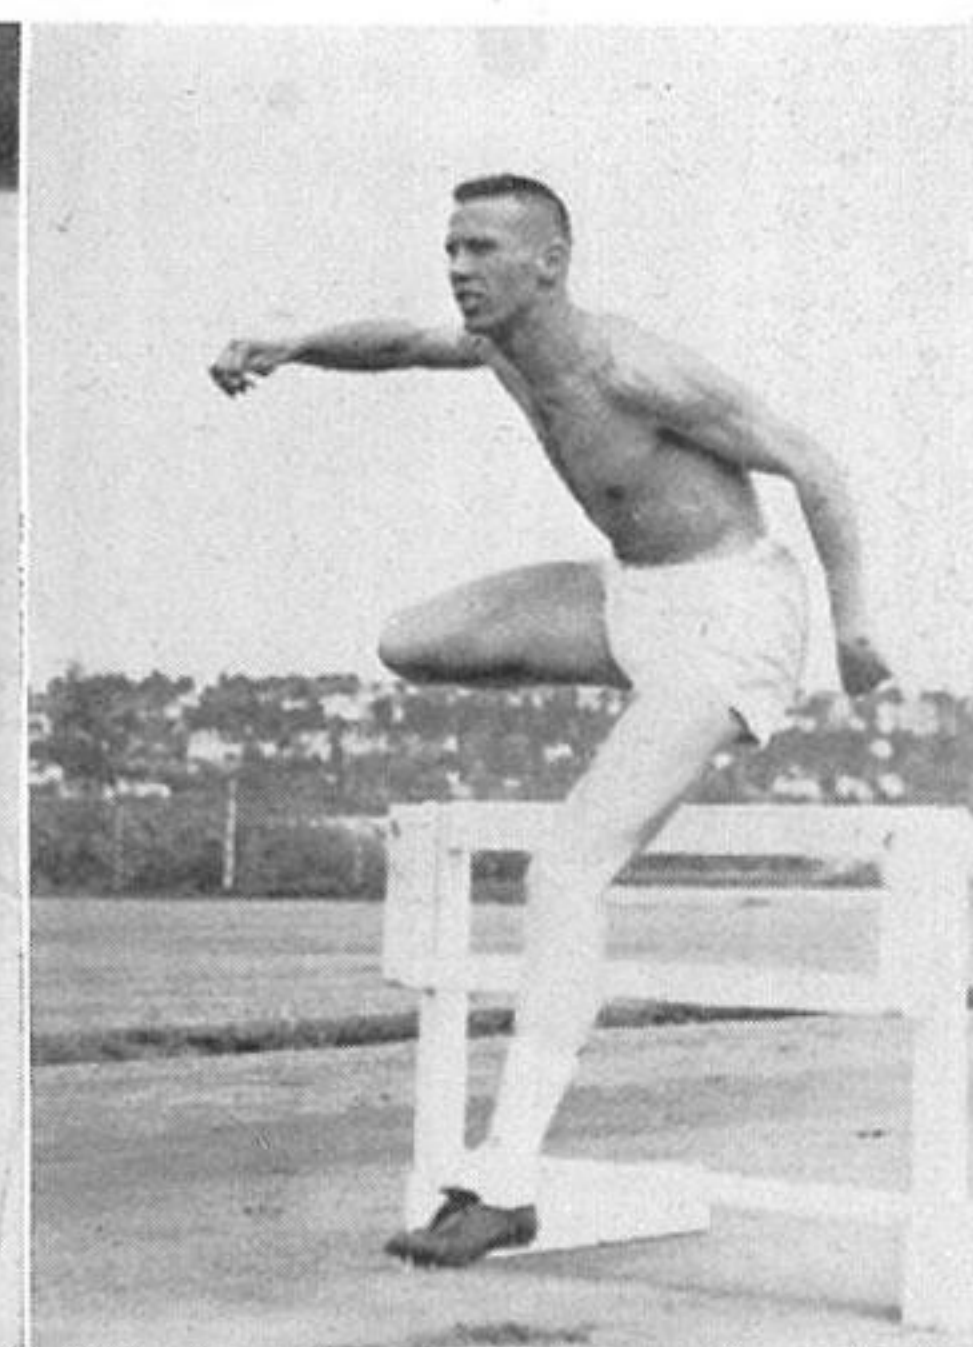

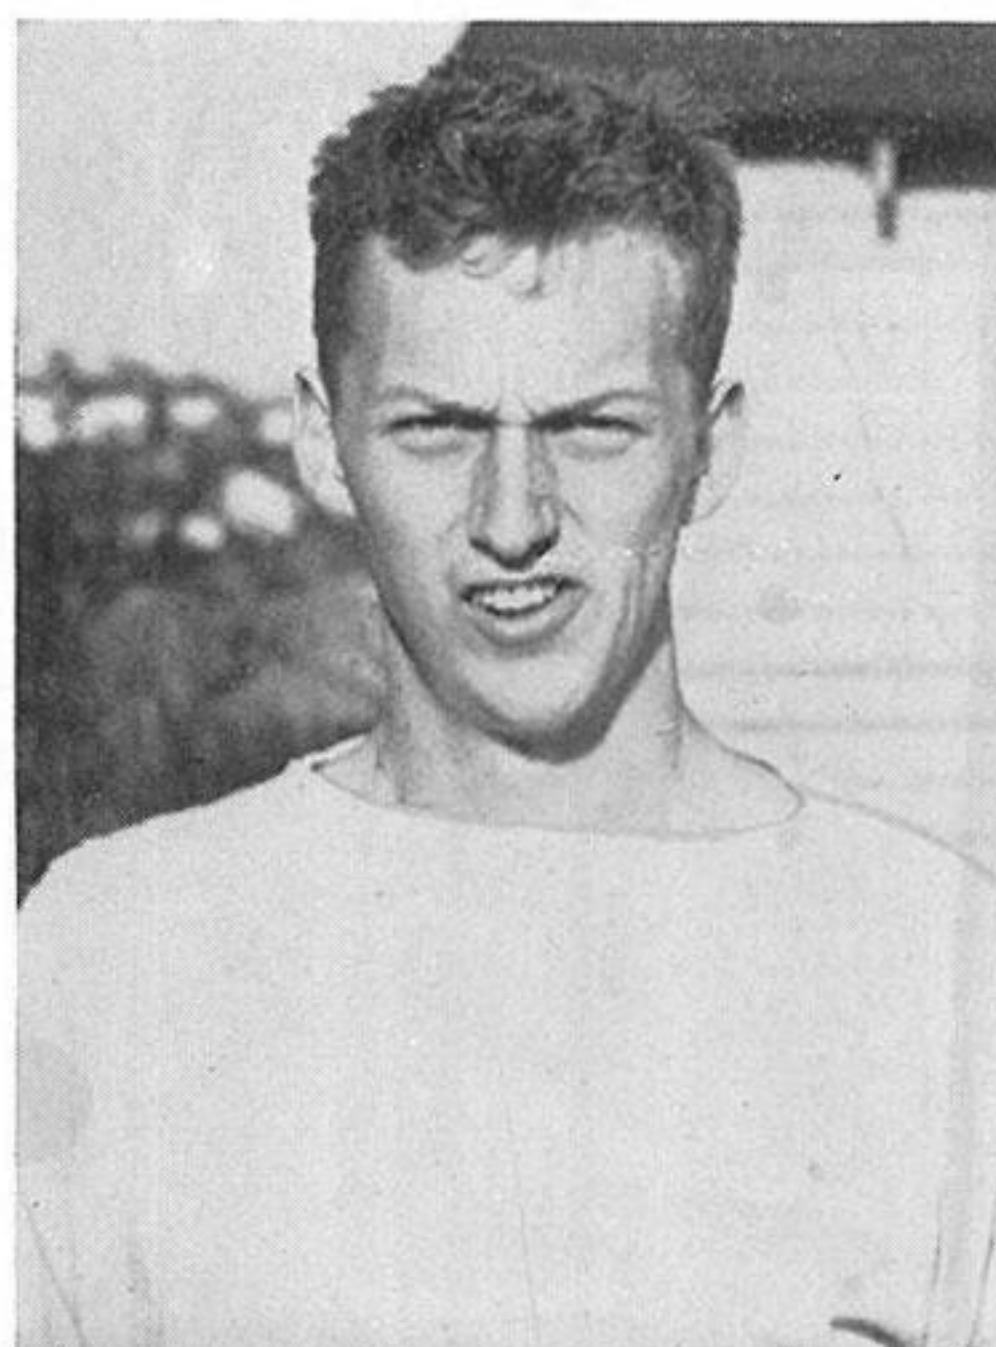

Bob Smith placed fifth in the 220, adding 2 points to the Washington total, and Captain Swanzey brought in another point with a sixth place in the half-mile race.

TITLE of most colorful coach down Pavilion way goes to Dorsett V. "Tubby" Graves, mentor for Washington diamond men since the '20's. A one-time pro ballplayer, Tubby knows the game from cellar to garret, can dig out the best in his men. Gifted with a keen Missouri wit, Graves rates as a yarn spinner extraordinary.

LIKE THE WIND and tide, Washington's 1943 baseball fortunes rose to high expectations at the season's beginning, fell down to a sad state in mid-season, and then rose again before curtain time—too late to annex the pennant.

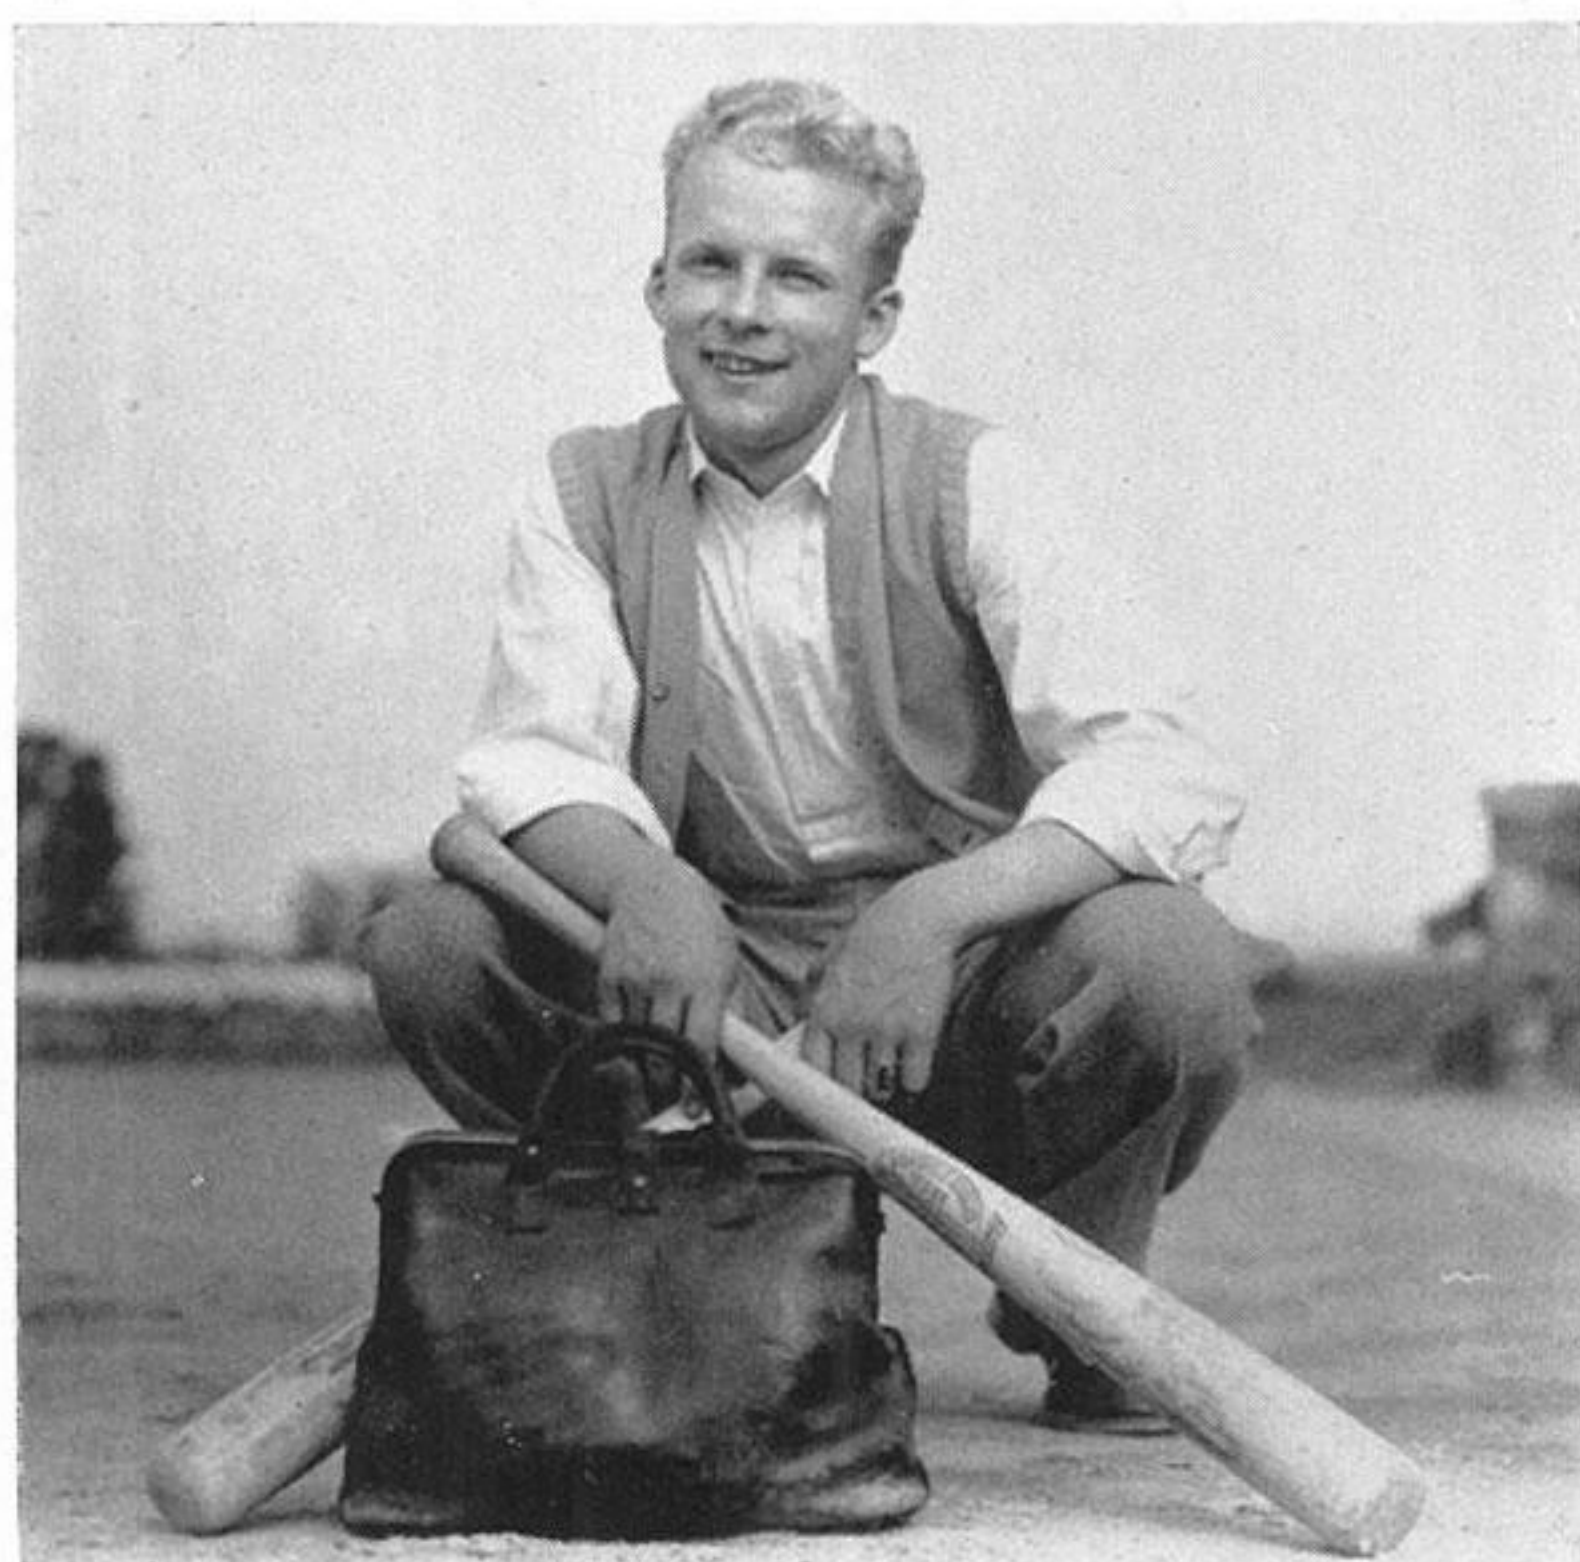

But a hard-working, snarling, fighting gang of youngsters under the watchful eye of Coach Tubby Graves ended by nailing down third place in the N.D. standings with a record of eight wins and seven losses.

Getting off to a grand start, the Huskies won their first four games with a team loaded down with young rookies. Leaving the home grounds, Graves' men lost three important games in a foray into Oregon, lost three more when they played host to the two Oregon schools and ended the playing season with a victory march through the Palouse country by taking two contests from Idaho and splitting a two-game series with W.S.C.

The opening of the season found the W.S.C. team going down twice before the Huskies 6-4 and 7-3. The Idaho Vandals were pinned 7-5 in the first game of the next home series while the second game was rained out.

Heading into Oregon, the team won its first game 3-1 but dropped three more contests in a row—0-7, 4-5, and 1-2. Back at Graves field the squad won its first two games from the Beavers, 2-0 and 4-3. Oregon came to Seattle on May 10 and let the Purple and Gold down with two defeats of 0-4 and 3-13.

BASEBALL

The Huskies had lost their chance to cop the league title but headed for the Palouse country in high spirits. With late season enthusiasm they took on the Idaho Vandals and rolled them twice with scores of 8-1 and 6-2. The season concluded with a 1-2 defeat by the Cougars and a final 5-4 victory over the Staters.

Big W's were awarded pitchers Jack Crockett, Doug Ford, Dick Hazel and Howard Kafer; infielders Bill Taylor, Bill Gissberg, Len Tran, Franck Orrico, Bob Wenke and Bob Schoning; outfielders Warren Noyes, Jack Pomfret, Glenn Young, Tex Warren and Bob Zech, who also served on the mound. Varsity catcher was Harris Anderson. Senior manager was Don Dwinell.

Crew

FOUR-STAR admiral of the Husky navy, Coach Al Ulbrickson rates tops with crew enthusiasts from Lake Washington to the Thames. Head coach since 1928, Inspirational Al moved in as manager of athletics fall quarter. Only mentor to sweep the Hudson, Ulbrickson pulled the stunt twice for good measure.

THE UNIVERSITY read the news—"John Bracken Drowns"—and a gray pall settled over the campus. Bracken—crewman in four Husky championship shells, Big W man, '42 crew captain, Oval club president, student leader. Other men have piled up more impressive activity records. But never has another man captured the wholesale respect and admiration won by affable, easy-going, one-dimensional Long Jawn.

The Husky frosh move up to overtake the Cal yearlings for a Washington victory.

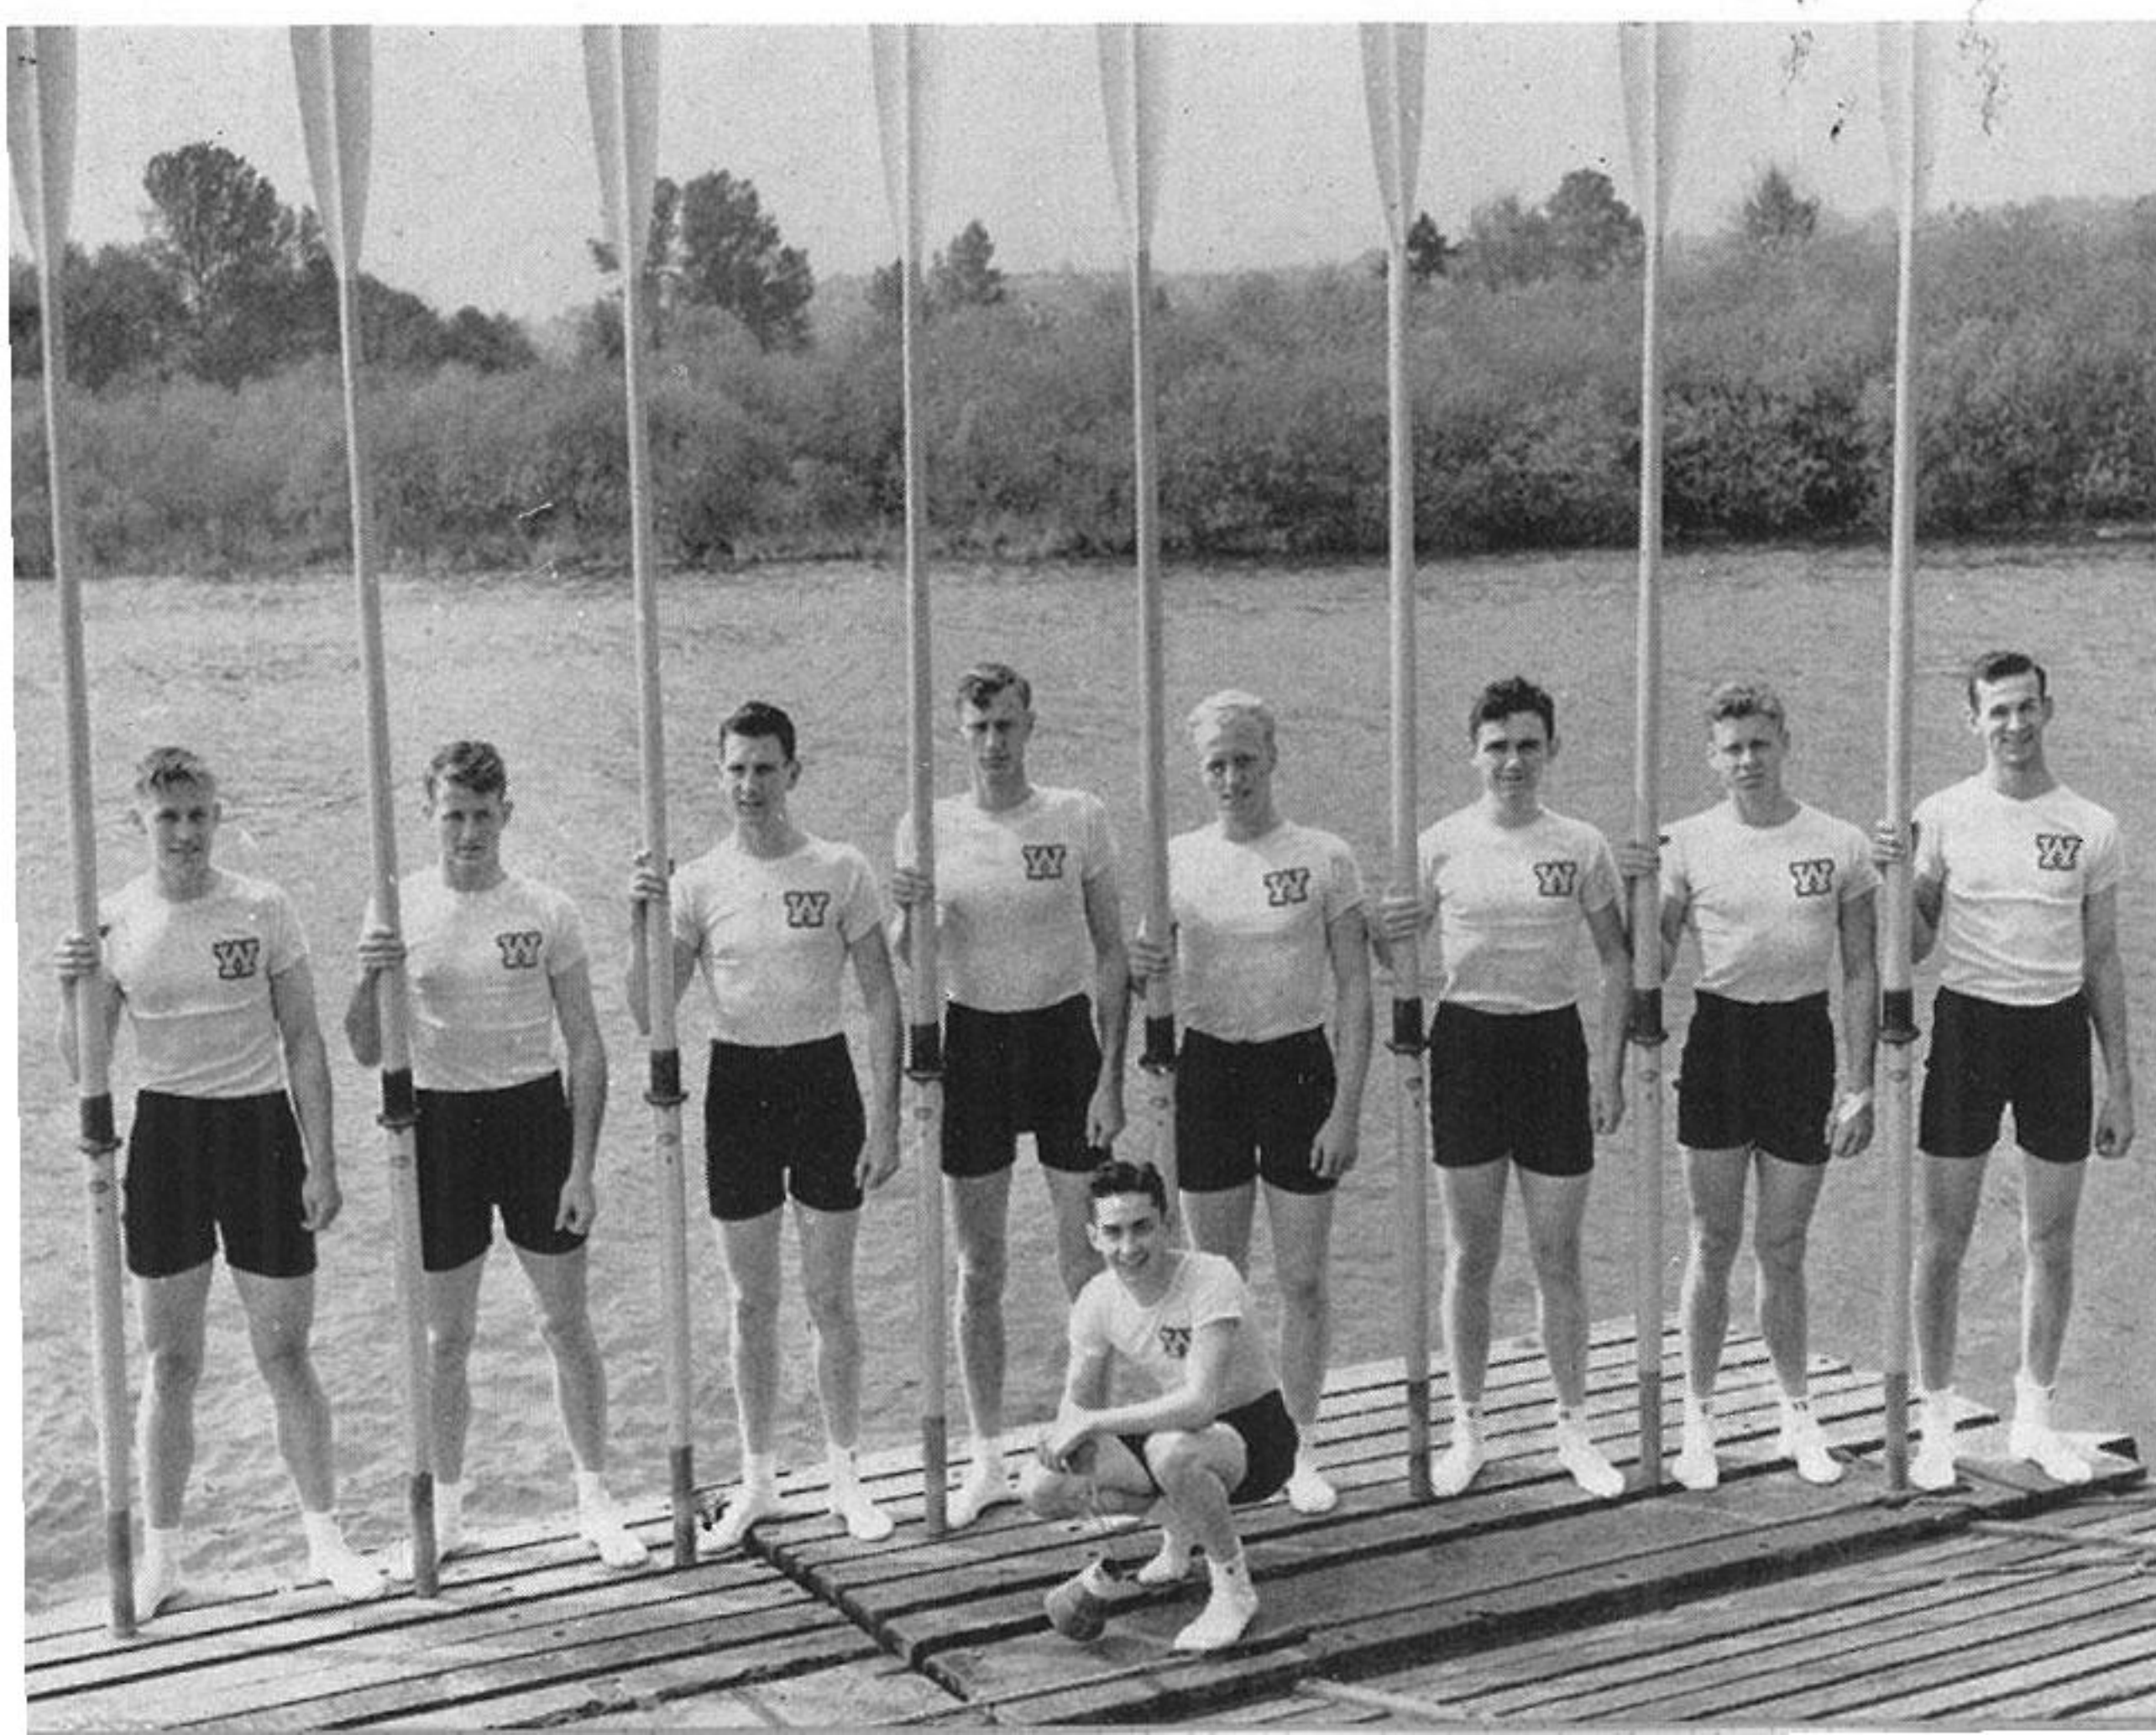

NOSING out the California cubs by a 12-inch margin, the Husky frosh boat glided across the finish line to cop Washington's only '43 win on the Oakland Estuary. Less fortunate varsity oarsmen, trailing from the starter's gun, limped into port nearly eight lengths behind the victorious Bear varsity. Thus the Huskies, custodians of the Pacific Coast crown jewels for three years running, turned over the title to their southern rivals. Only other Washington naval engagements of the season was the Husky lightweights' double-barrelled victory over the University of British Columbia—one on the Fraser river course and a return race on Lake Washington.

GLAMOURLESSLY toiling backstage for Washington's crew is a trouble-shooting, four-man corps of managers: Logan Long, Phil Bogue, Senior Frosh Manager Bob Ross and Senior Manager Jack Wilson.

VARSITY CREW letter winners: Bob Payne, cox; Elliott Loken, stroke; Hal Willits, 7; Jack Dresslar, 6; Jack Ervin, 5; Art Mortensen, 4; Ernie Miller, 3; Wally Soli, 2; Bill Dehn, bow.

HARD LUCK kids of the '43 Husky athletic program, the crew ran into stormy weather from the first. Decimated by the armed services, Ulbrickson's phalanx suffered further setbacks as rough waters, injuries, measles swept the ranks, throwing the much-needed practice period into chaos. Payoff came on the Estuary: Cal by eight lengths.

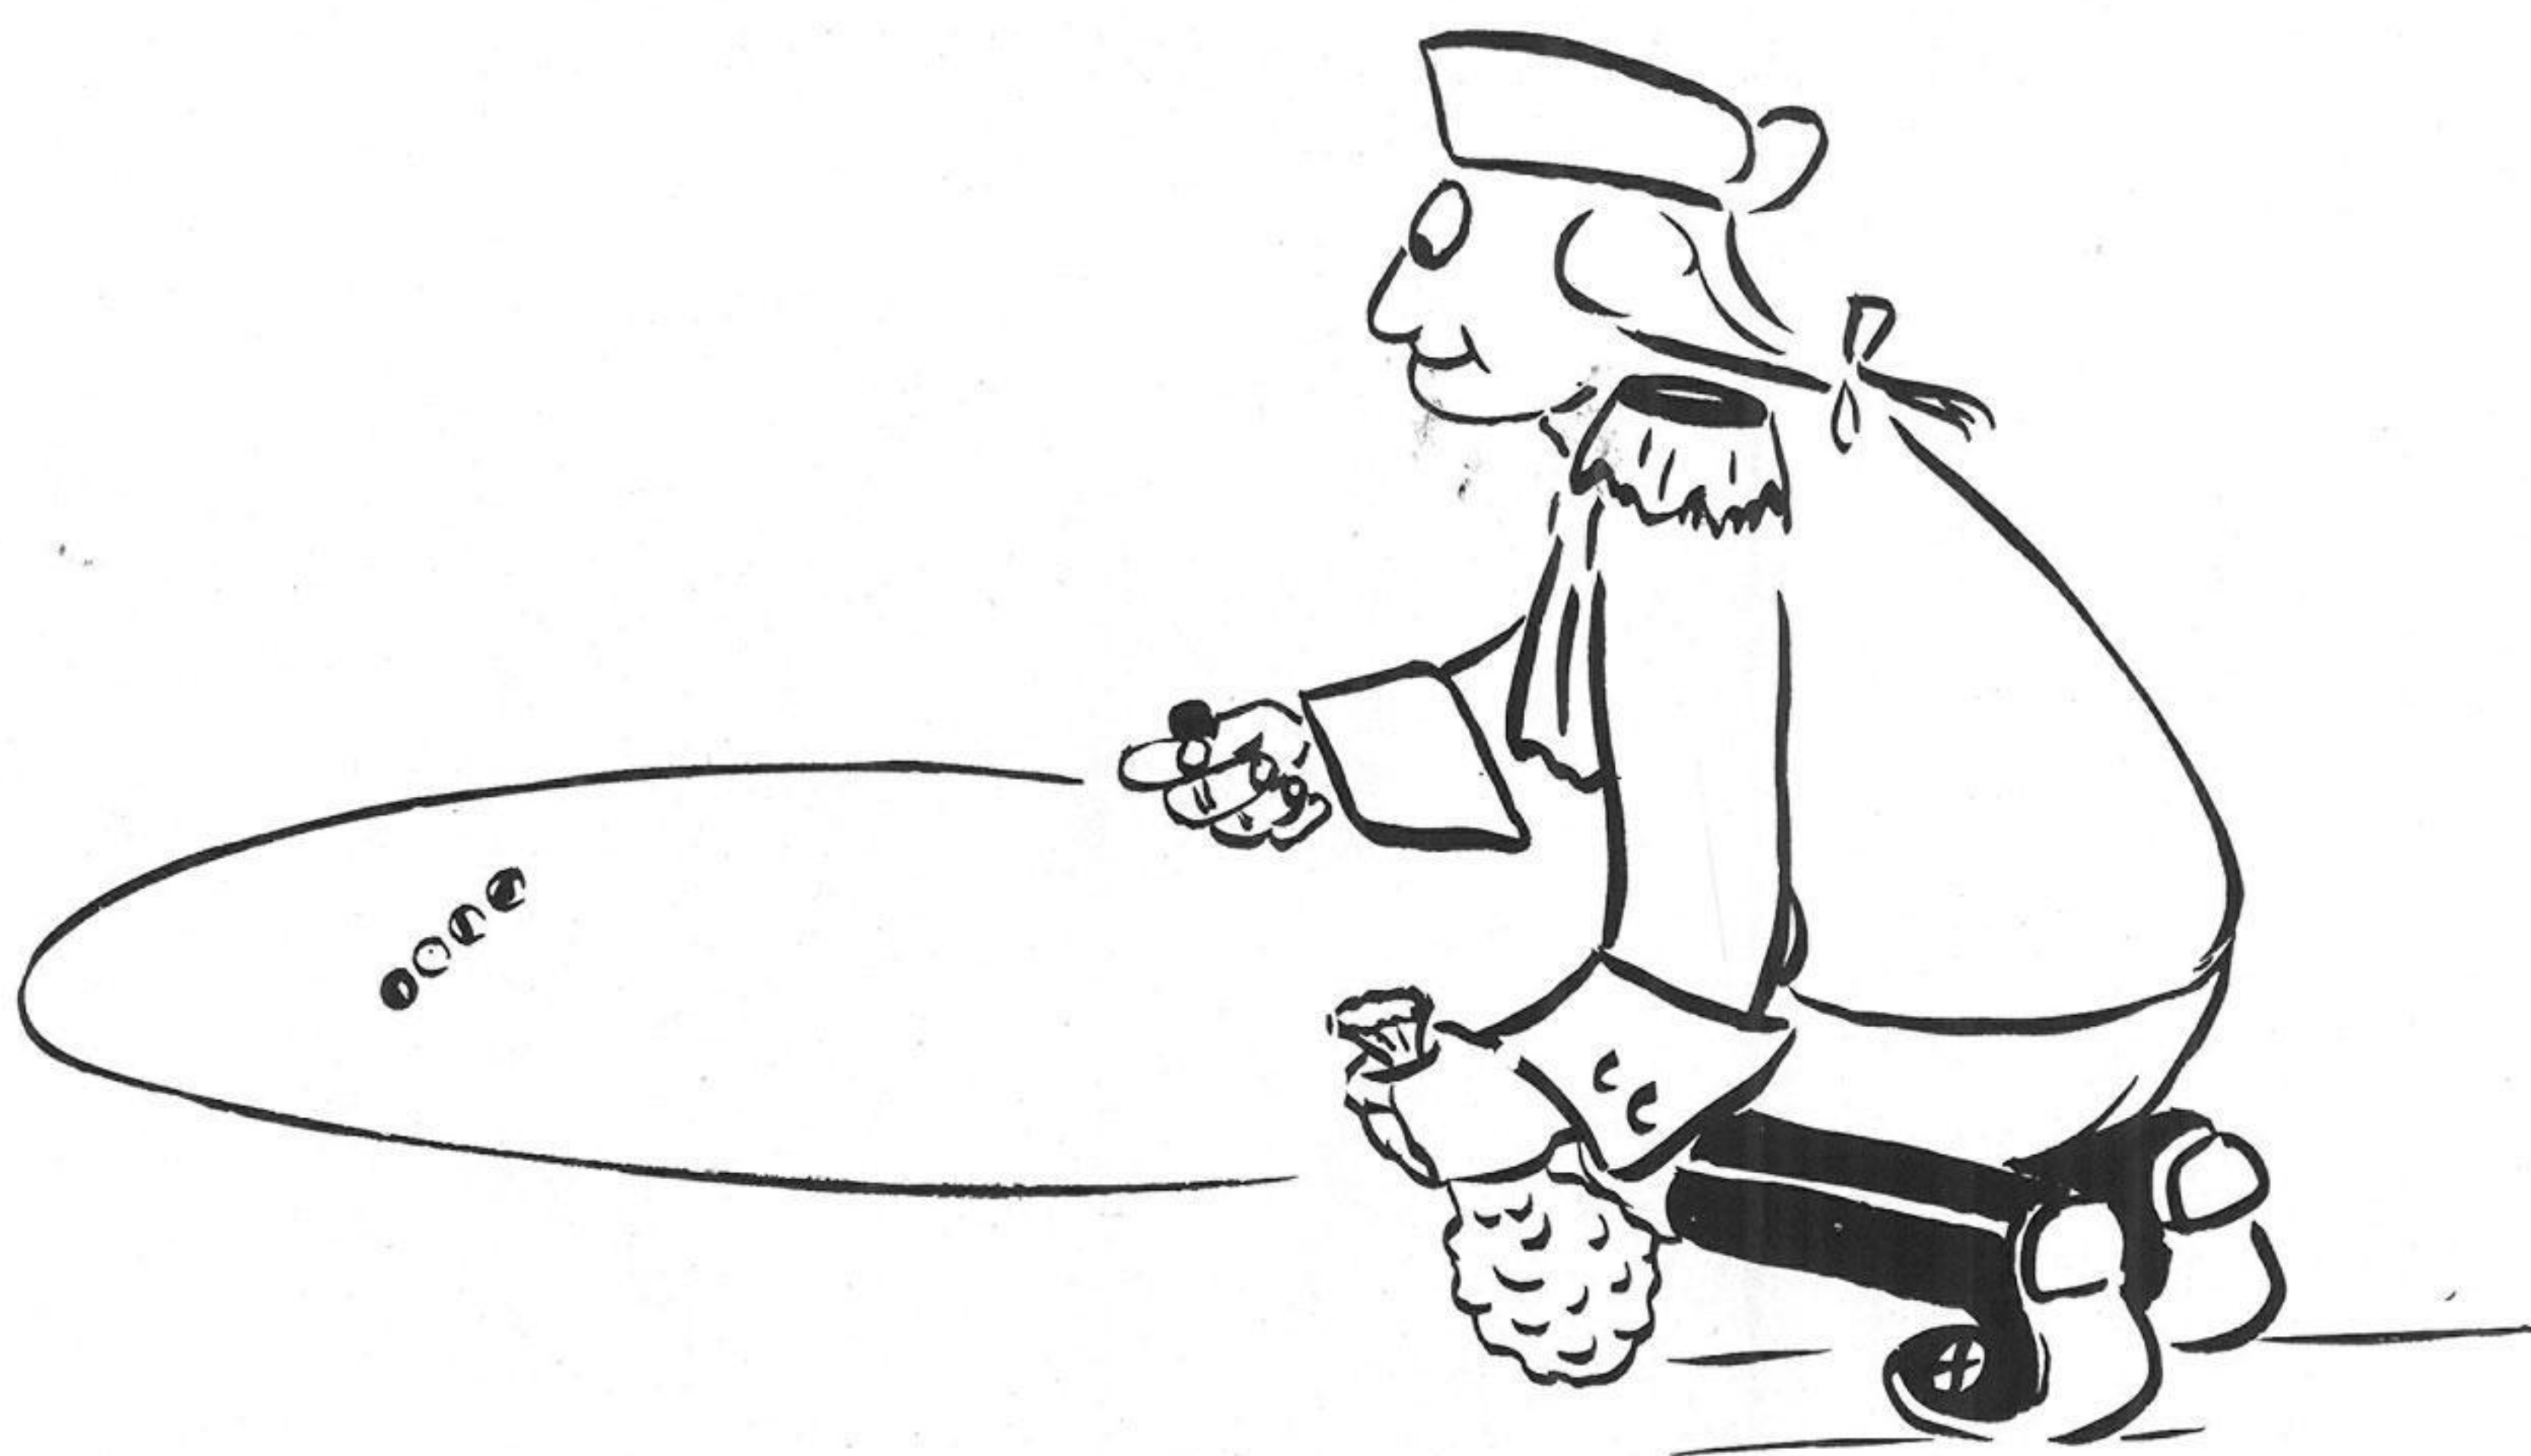

FROSH CREW numeral winners: Bob Lee, cox; Jack Swanson, stroke; Bernard Benthin, 7; Jim Edson, 6; Myron Mitchell, 5; Bob Fristoe, 4; Loys Lamb, 3; Jim Green, 2; Don Mack, bow.

NOSING OUT the jayvee boat for the bid to row against Cal, the Washington frosh crew turned in a smooth performance to save the day at the Oakland regatta.

Throughout the season the Husky pups played a major role, filled in for missing varsity men in the jayvee shell, were eligible for Big W's under a new wartime athletic edict.

Minor Sports

NORTHERN

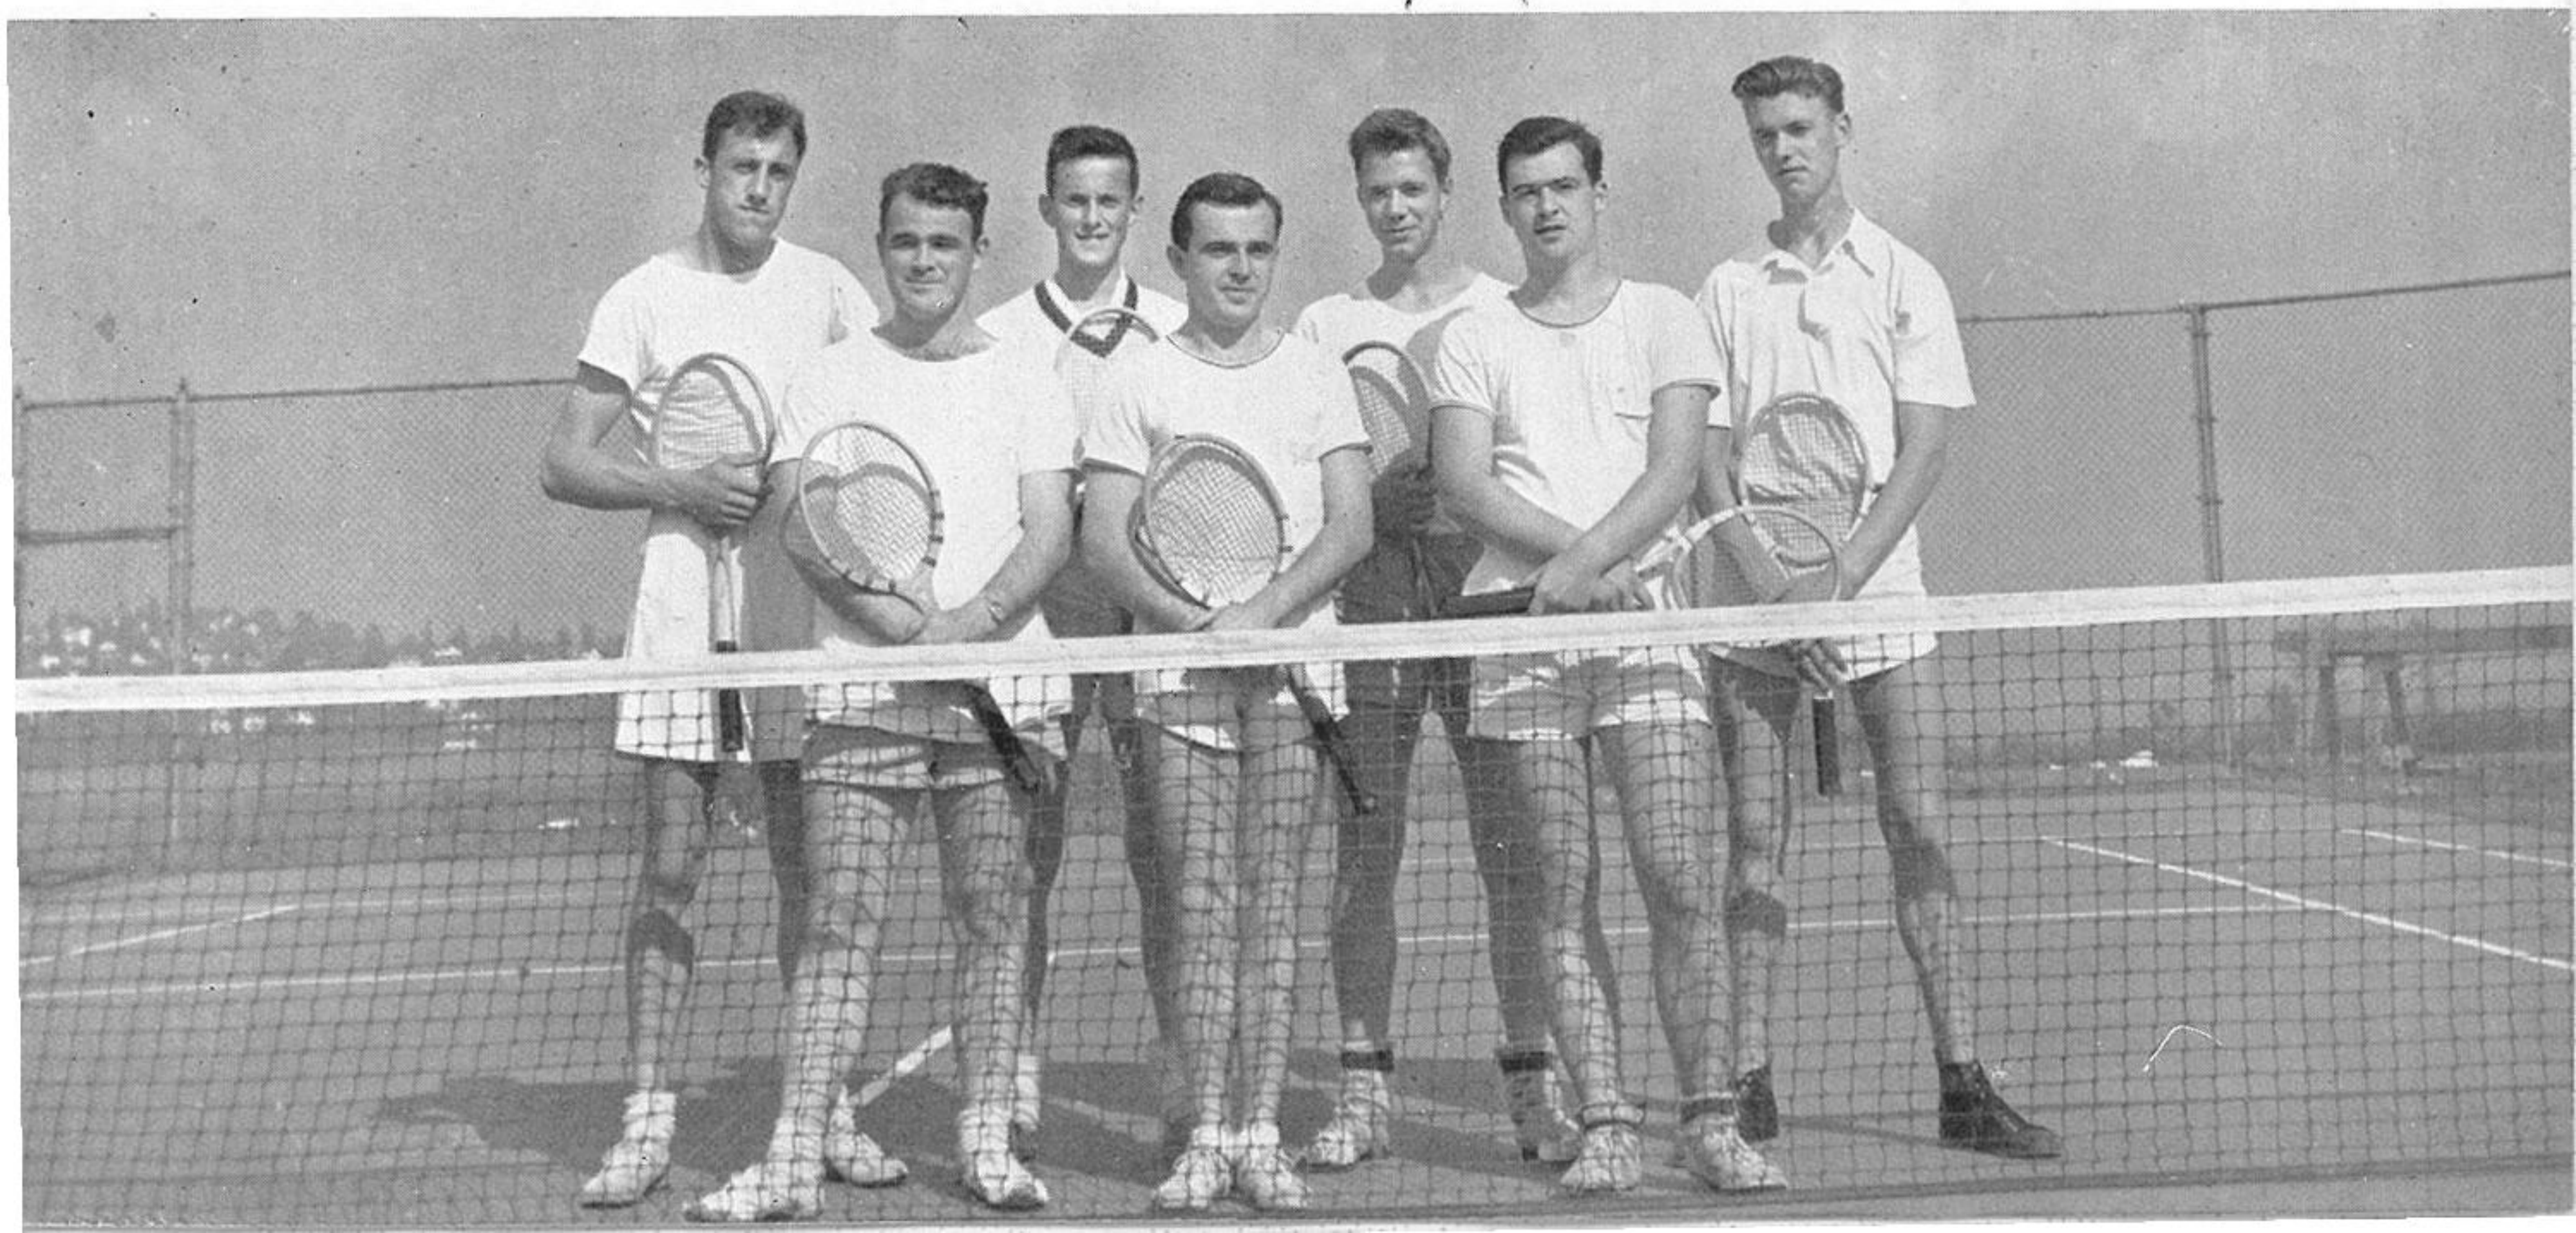

SMOOTH-STROKING Bob Odman, back as Husky net captain for his third year, this season fell heir to the additional assignment of team coach. One of Washington's foremost tennis players, Odman copped three Northern Division doubles titles and a singles crown, losing only two matches of conference play in three years. The rangy Husky held the Eastern Intercollegiate singles championship in '42, played the eastern circuit again last summer to snatch the No. 17 spot in the national amateur rankings.

Tennis letters for '43 went to Draves, Odman, Oswald, Peck, Olson and Steiner.

DIVISION CHAMPS

FOR THE sixth consecutive year the Husky netsters remained atop the Northern Division tennis competition by again capturing the division title. Led by player-coach Bob Odman, Washington went through all opposition, losing only two sets during the regular dual meet schedule.

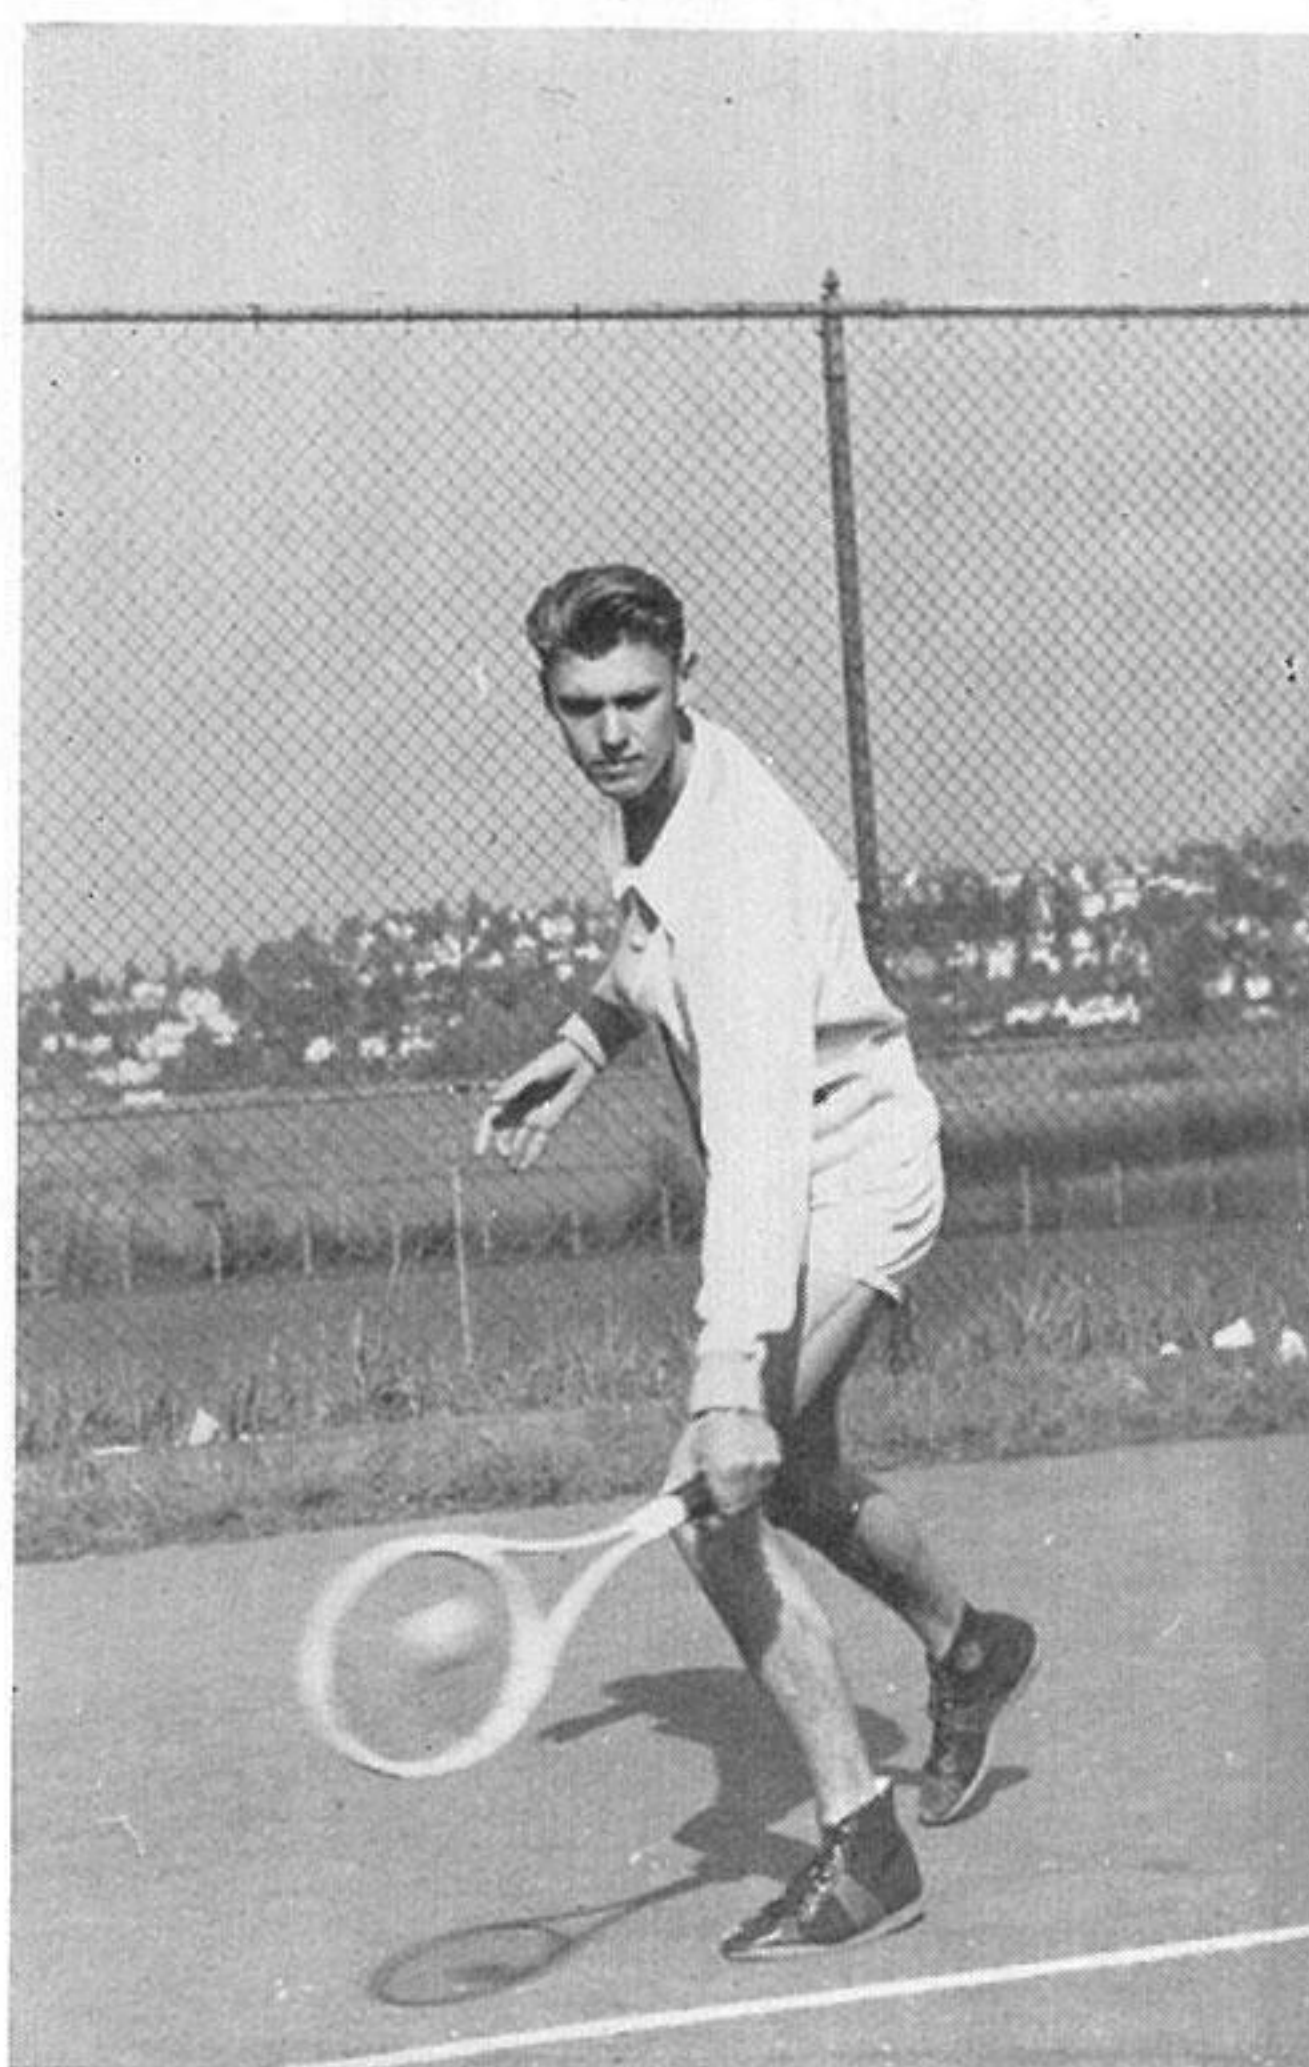

In their first dual meet the Huskies met Idaho on the University courts and came up with a decisive 7-0 victory.

Washington again played its slashing game against Oregon State to come home with another victory, this time losing one set. The Husky team completely swept the singles, but Oswald and Olson dropped the second doubles set to their Oregon State rivals, making the score 6-1.

Meeting the Washington State Cougars in the final dual meet, the Huskies clinched the dual meet championship in winning by a 6-1 score again. W.S.C.'s lone victory came when Husky Hugo Oswald was upset in straight sets 6-3, 6-3. Odman played his usual steady brand of tennis, without dropping a game.

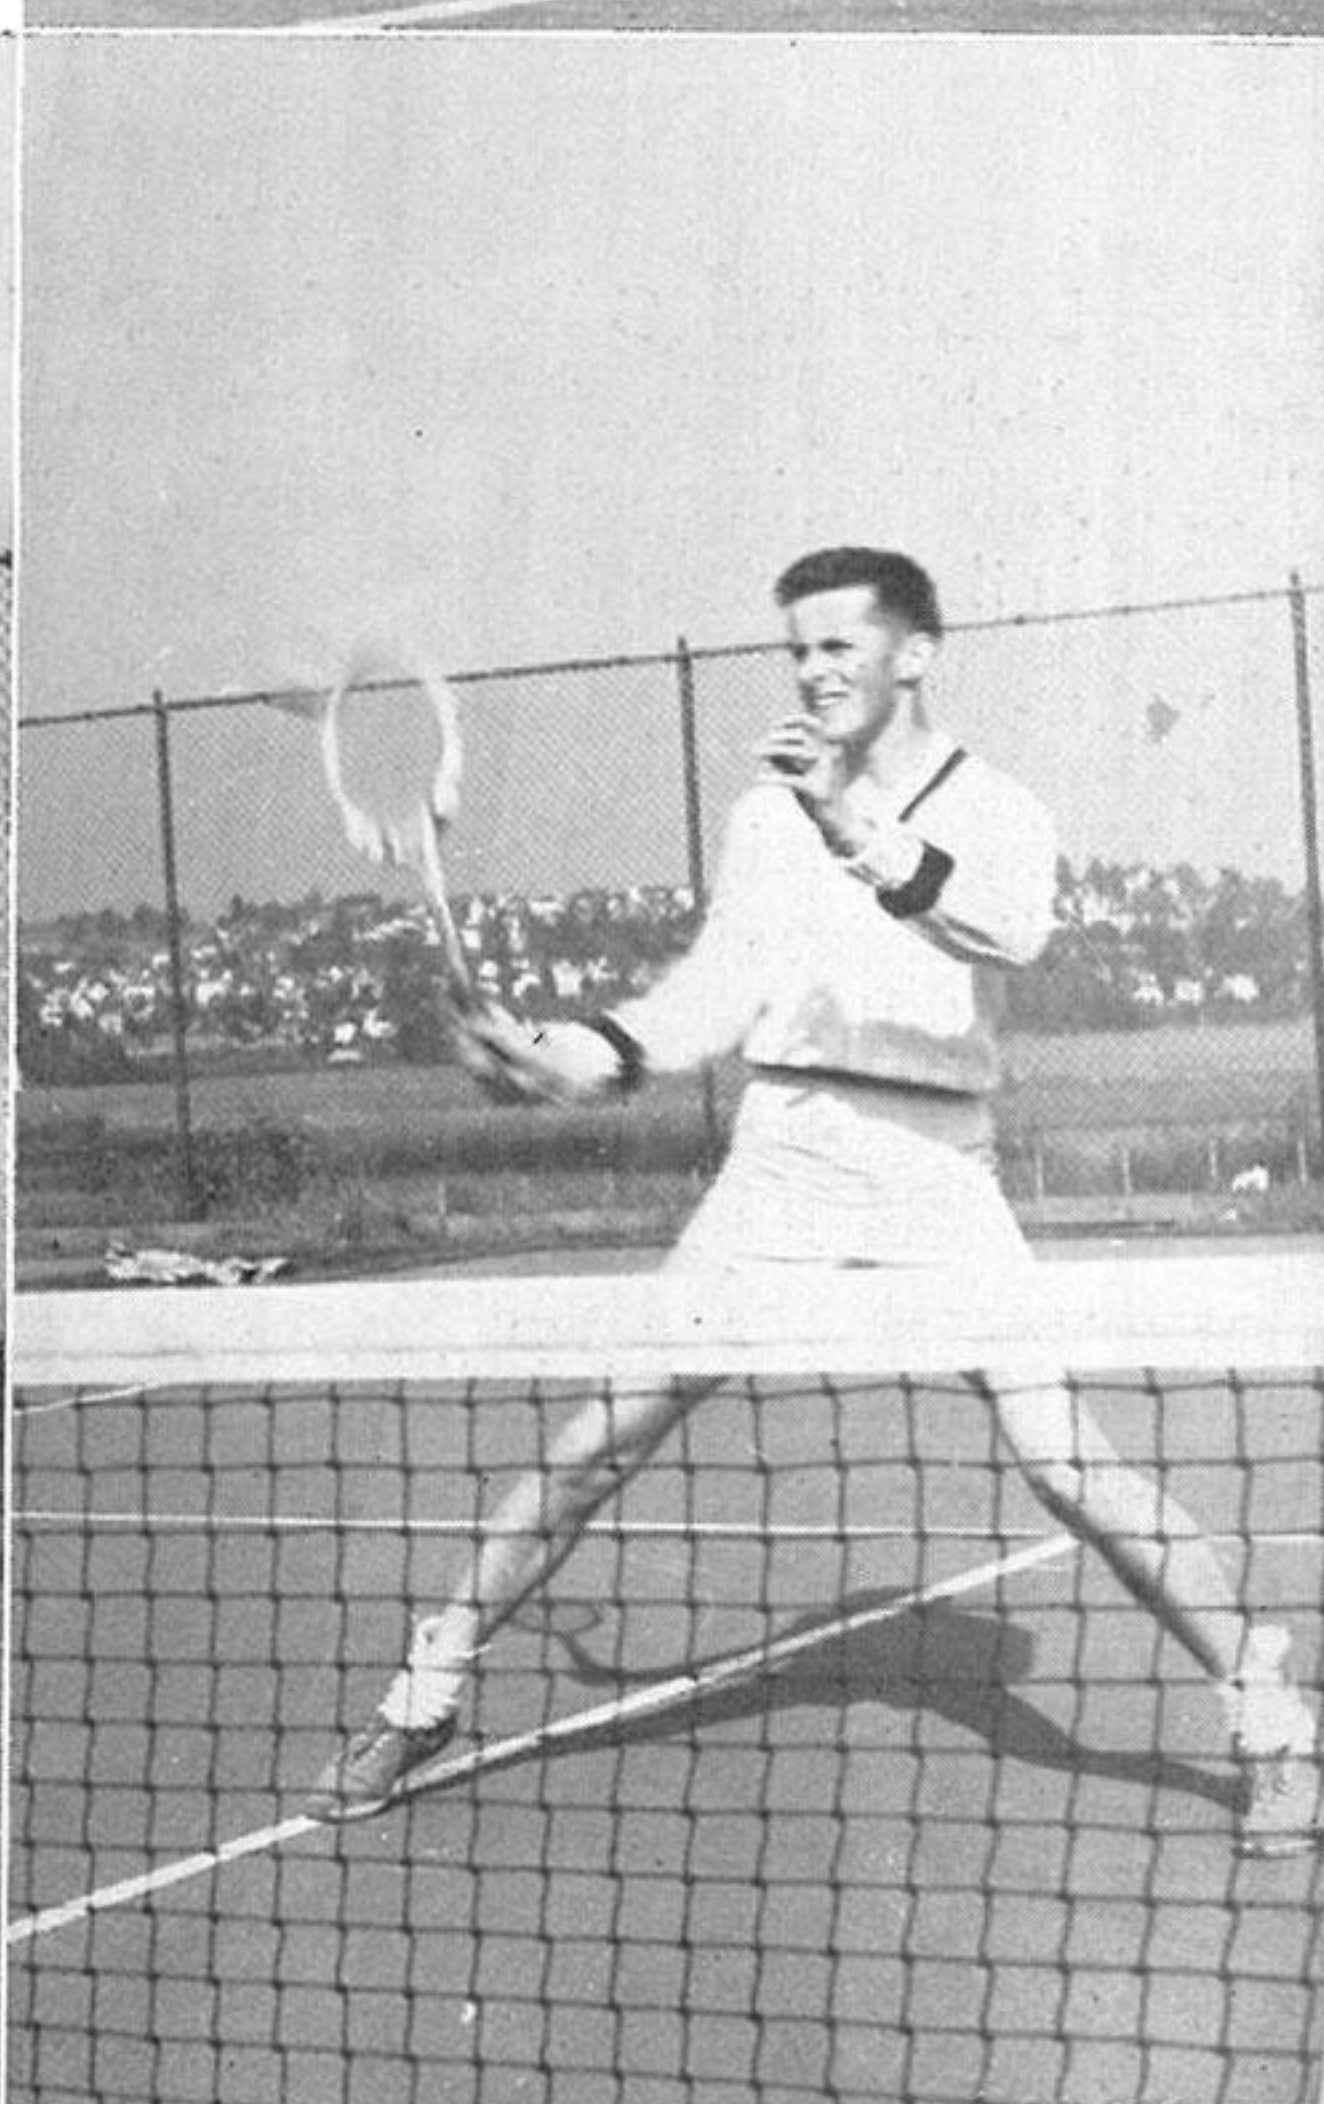

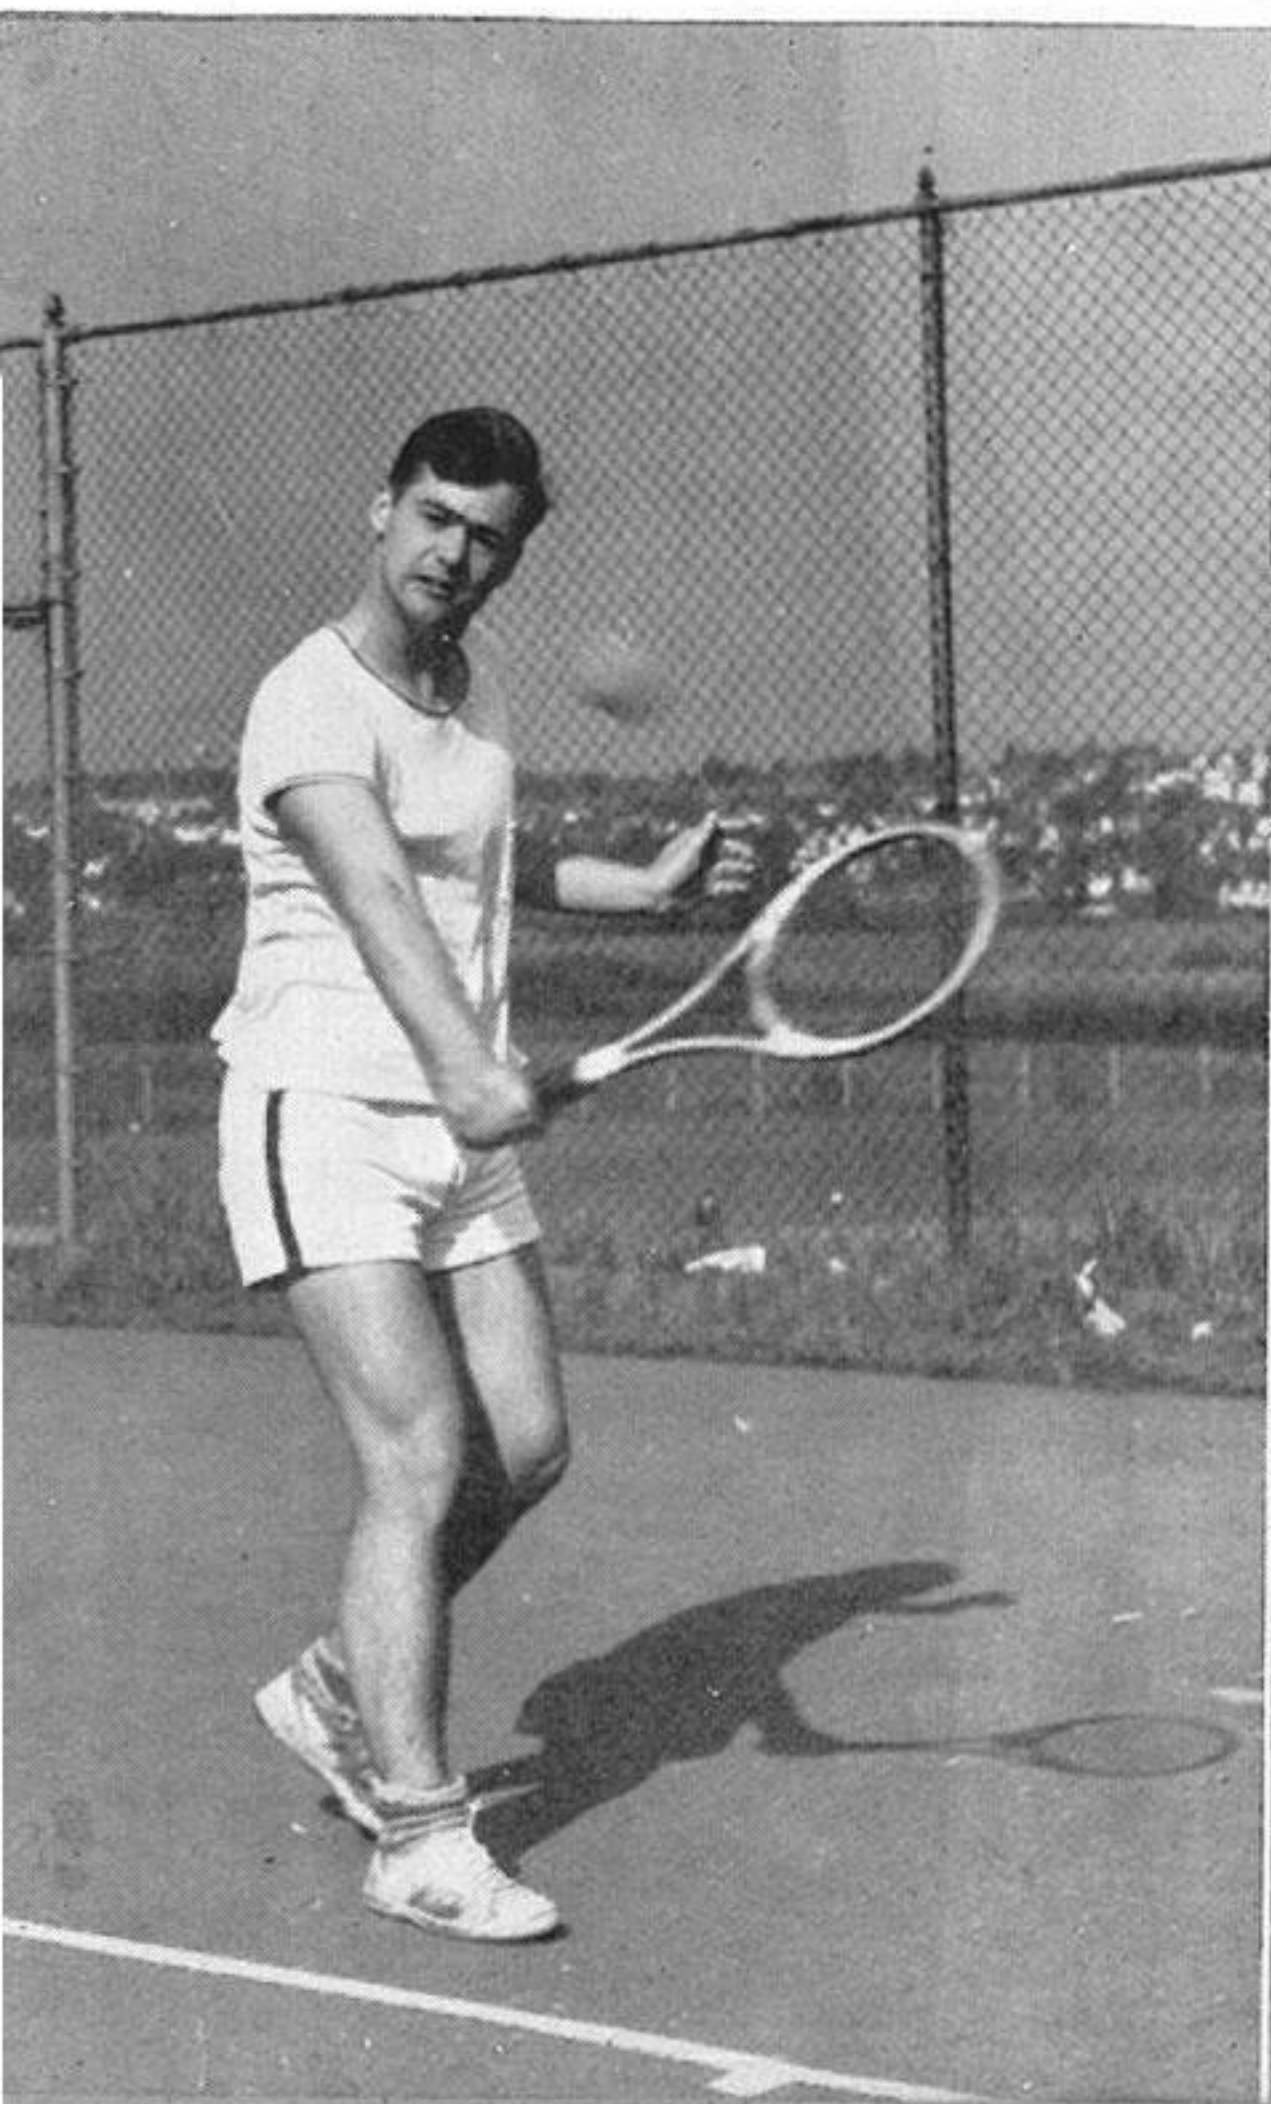

In the Northern Division championships played at Oregon State, the Huskies continued their winning ways, taking all six medals. For the first time in the history of the tournament Washington won the singles, doubles and team titles. The Huskies so completely overpowered their opposition that the finals turned out to be an all-Washington affair. Odman took the singles crown and teamed with Peck to take the doubles title for the third time. The final score stood Washington, 37; O.S.C., 6; and W.S.C., 3.

GOLF TITLISTS

DOMINATING the Northern Division golfing scene, the 1943 Husky linksmen defended their crown by capturing the division title for the second straight year.

In their first dual meet of the season the Purple and Gold came up with an $18\frac{1}{2}$ - $8\frac{1}{2}$ score over Oregon State to dump the Beavers into the losing column. Ernie Jacobs, the Husky captain, was medalist for the day, touring the University course in 72 strokes.

With the taste of victory still fresh, the Husky clubbers headed for the Palouse country for matches with Idaho and Washington State. At Moscow the Huskies showed no mercy, trouncing Idaho $22\frac{1}{2}$ - $4\frac{1}{2}$. The Vandals managed to get only $1\frac{1}{2}$ points in the best-ball play and 3 points in the singles.

The next day the Husky team hit its only snag of the season, dropping a 12-15 decision to Washington State.

The Washington linksmen were strong individually but lost all 9 points of the best-ball play to their Cougar rivals.

Back on their home course the Huskies recaptured their winning form to cop the conference tournament and the title. At the tourney's end the Huskies were four strokes below their nearest rivals, Oregon State. Washington had a score of 631, O.S.C. 635, W.S.C. 660, and Idaho 684.

Captain Ernie Jacobs took the individual title and continued his record of capturing medalist honors in every match he played during the season. Jacobs had a score of 145 in the conference tourney. He was followed by Strauhal of Washington and Roberts of Oregon State, both with a score of 155.

Lettermen for the season were Ernie Jacobs, Bjorn Lunder, Blake Myers, Bill Robinson, Charles Strauhal, Jon Torrance, Don Veatch and Ken Willard.

MOLDING a group of inexperienced freshmen into a top-flight rifle team, Lt. Hilsenberg, coach, and his assistant, Sgt. Lustig, taught their young charges enough shooting to keep the sport more than alive in spite of wartime handicaps. Going into the Hearst Matches after a short training period, the Wash-ton AROTC team managed to pick off seventh place. In the Ninth Service Command matches, only other contest of the season, the Purple and Gold squad, trailing Oregon State by two points, took third place. Eligible for the National Service Command Matches, the Husky marksmen were forced to pass them by due to losses to the armed forces. Top men on the squad were Thorlakson and Given.

Women's Recreational Council

WOMEN'S Recreational Council, headed by Janet Ward, is responsible for promoting recreational activities and sponsoring all sports for women students on the campus. The council is composed of presidents of each of the clubs and the managers of each sports tournament held during the school year. Serving this year were managers: badminton, Ruth Porter; baseball, Mary Helen Strout; basketball, Doris Jean Swanson and Louise Fonken; matinee mixers, Florene Thompson; swimming, Beverly Dye; tennis, Bernadine Buck; volleyball, Pat Karrasch; presidents: Archery, Mary Belle McGee; Hockey, Phyllis Hilborn; Orchesis, Carmen Nelson, Promenaders, Bernadine Buck and Swimming, Marilyn Harmon. Florene Thompson acted as secretary. Added to the usual round of sports sponsored was the all-University matinee mixer, held weekly on Wednesday afternoons in the Dance Studio.

FIRST sport of the year to be organized, swimming drew a large group of coeds both for open club and intramural contests. Over two hundred girls participated in the marathon race, held the week before the big meet of the year. Chi Omega finished first in the intramural race, with Synadelphic and Wesley ranking second and third. The Amoebas carried off top honors in open club competition.

Perfecting many new formations and floats, Silver Fishes, women's swimming club, demonstrated their accomplishments to visitors from College of Puget Sound and Seattle Pacific College.

Matinee Mixers

MOST widely publicized aspect of the Council's program was the weekly matinee mixer. Applauded by lonely V-12ers and civilian freshmen, the mixers filled the need for a casual afternoon relaxation period. A committee, headed by Florene Thompson, stepped lively between weeks to keep ahead of the constant demand for varied and diversified mixers to scramble unacquainted dancers. A nickelodeon, equipped with top name band recordings, and a newly installed public address system flooded the dance studio with jive and swing.

Promenaders

A POPULAR new group formed this year was the square dance club, the Promenaders, with Bernadine Buck as president. Gaily attired in period costumes with half of the group donning slacks on occasion for male leads, the club proved to be in great demand for programs on campus as well as throughout the city. Pictured above are the Promenaders executing two of the formations in a square dance.

Volley Ball

SOON after the beginning of school in fall quarter came the volleyball tournament with all teams anxious to cop this event and gain points toward the coveted trophy. The final game found Phi Mu (pictured below) battling victoriously for the crown, defeating Chi Omega. Kappa Alpha Theta placed third.

Hockey

ALTHOUGH not professionals at the game, spirited hockey enthusiasts in the spring and fall make merry in the field behind the women's gym, skinning a few shins and acquiring several bruises and sprains as the season progresses. The Hockey club, with Phyllis Hilborn as this year's president, participates not only in informal games between make-shift teams but also sponsors and picks a team for the annual fall game between the University and College of Puget Sound. Last fall the University hockey teams swamped the CPS teams, winning all three games in the meet.

Basketball

CLOSEST contested games in the year's program were in the basketball tournament. Several outstanding teams developed during the course of the season and Wesley Club and Phi Mu worked hard to gain the top rungs on the playoff ladder. The final game (pictured above) was won by Wesley but replayed because both teams had lost only one game each. Phi Mu ultimately emerged with the laurels for basketball. The Amoebas defeated the Friskies in open club play. Following the tournament, a basketball jamboree with CPS was sponsored by the council.

Baseball

STRAINS of "batter up" float through the air as spring begins with inside events forgotten and baseball becoming the no. 1 afternoon sport. After limbering up in pre-season games, the teams put their hearts into these last battles of the year. The 1943 intramural tournament ended with the Thetas defeating the Kappas in the final game. In the open club tournament the Amoebas once again led the other teams, followed closely by the Put-Puts. Pictured below are two typical baseball scenes.

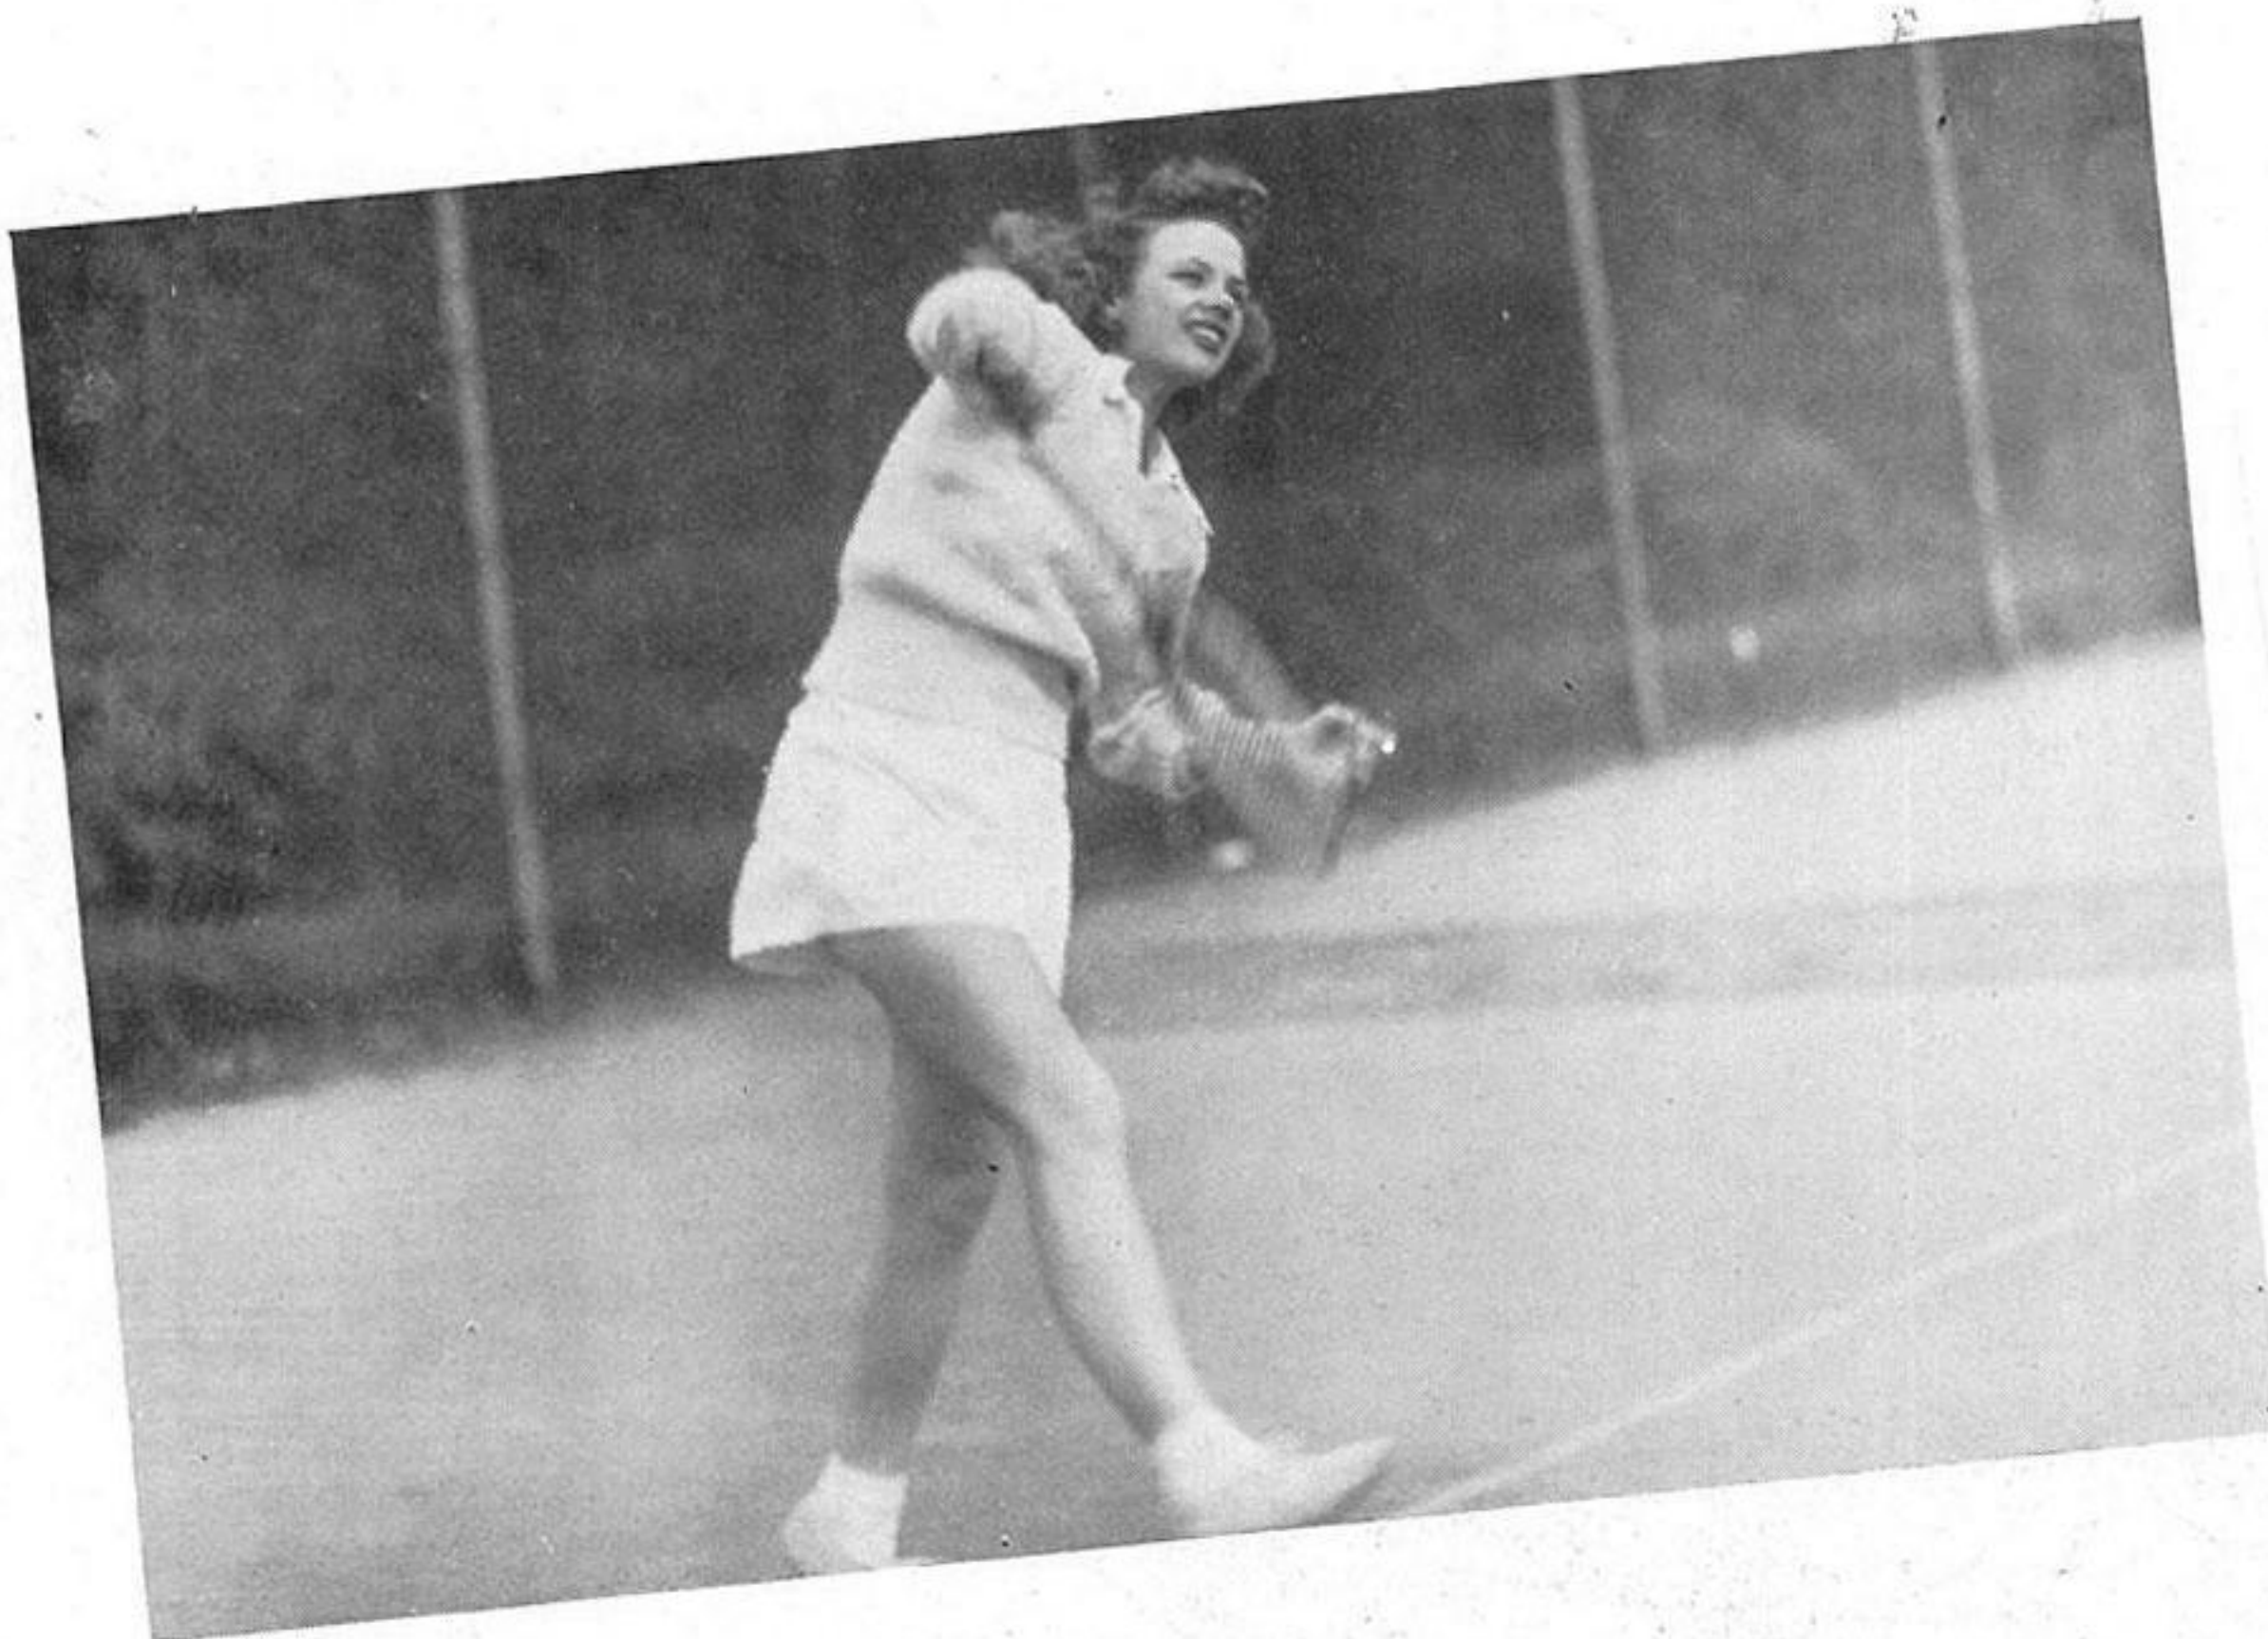

Women's W Club

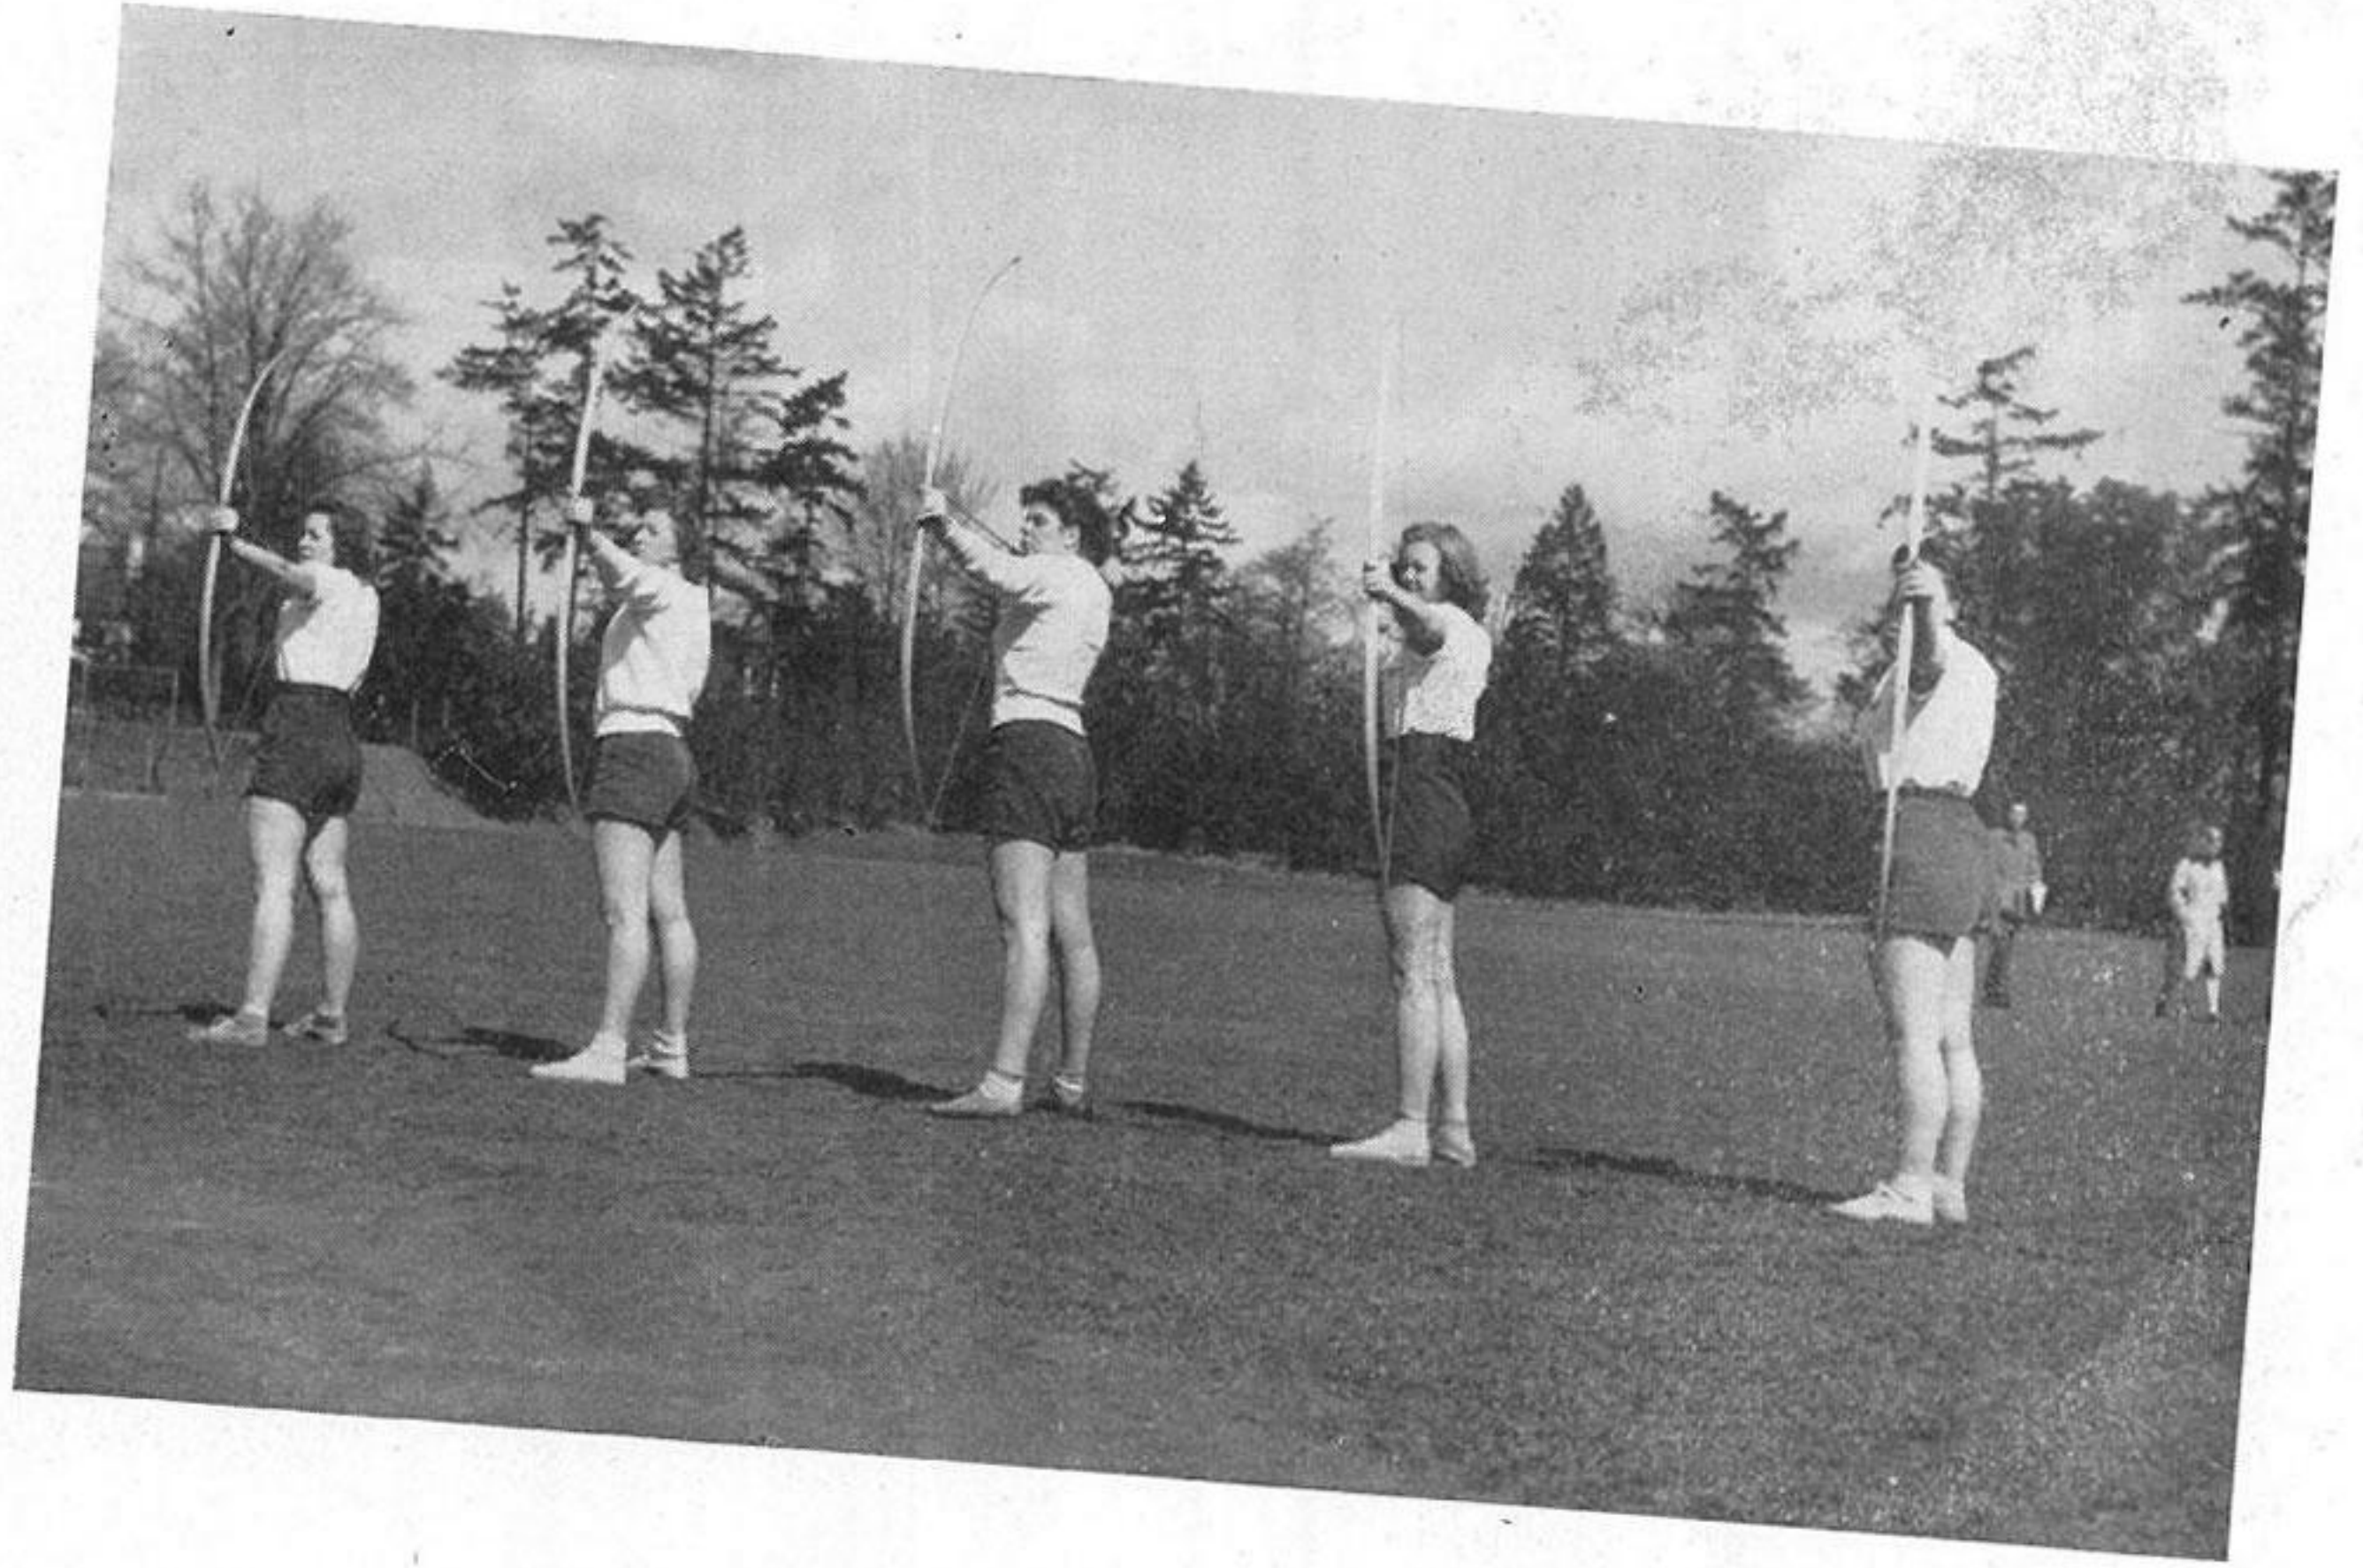

WOMEN, too, are given letters for participation in sports. Symbol of this activity is the white blazer with the purple and gold "W" insignia. To receive the jacket, a woman must have ninety hours credit, 2.4 grade average, membership in at least one sports club, and participation for six quarters in at least five different activities. "W" club members pictured above are: front row: Gloria Stamatis, Marian Westby, Phyllis Hilborn, Florence Thwing, Patricia Ashcraft, Janet Ward, Gloria Dethman; back row: Virginia Latta, Mary Belle McGee, Bernadine Buck, Beverly Wight, Abbe Rhaberg, Carol Richstad, Margaret Morgan.

Tennis

THE twang of tennis balls on rackets reechoing from the women's court heralds the spring season. Hourly the courts are in demand by coeds and service men as well. Last spring's tournament found Sigma Kappa, represented by Virginia Harris, the winner of the intramural single tournament and Kappa Kappa Gamma, with Barbara Price and Mary Helen Strout teamed, doubles winner. Pictured at left: Virginia Harris in action.

Archery

ONE afternoon of each week coeds, who enjoy the old hobby of the bow and arrow and archery target, gather on the archery range to practice shooting. An Archery club, headed by Mary Belle McGee, was formed to unite the group. During the spring the club enters the national women's collegiate telegraphic meet. Last year they placed eighth.

Trophy Winners

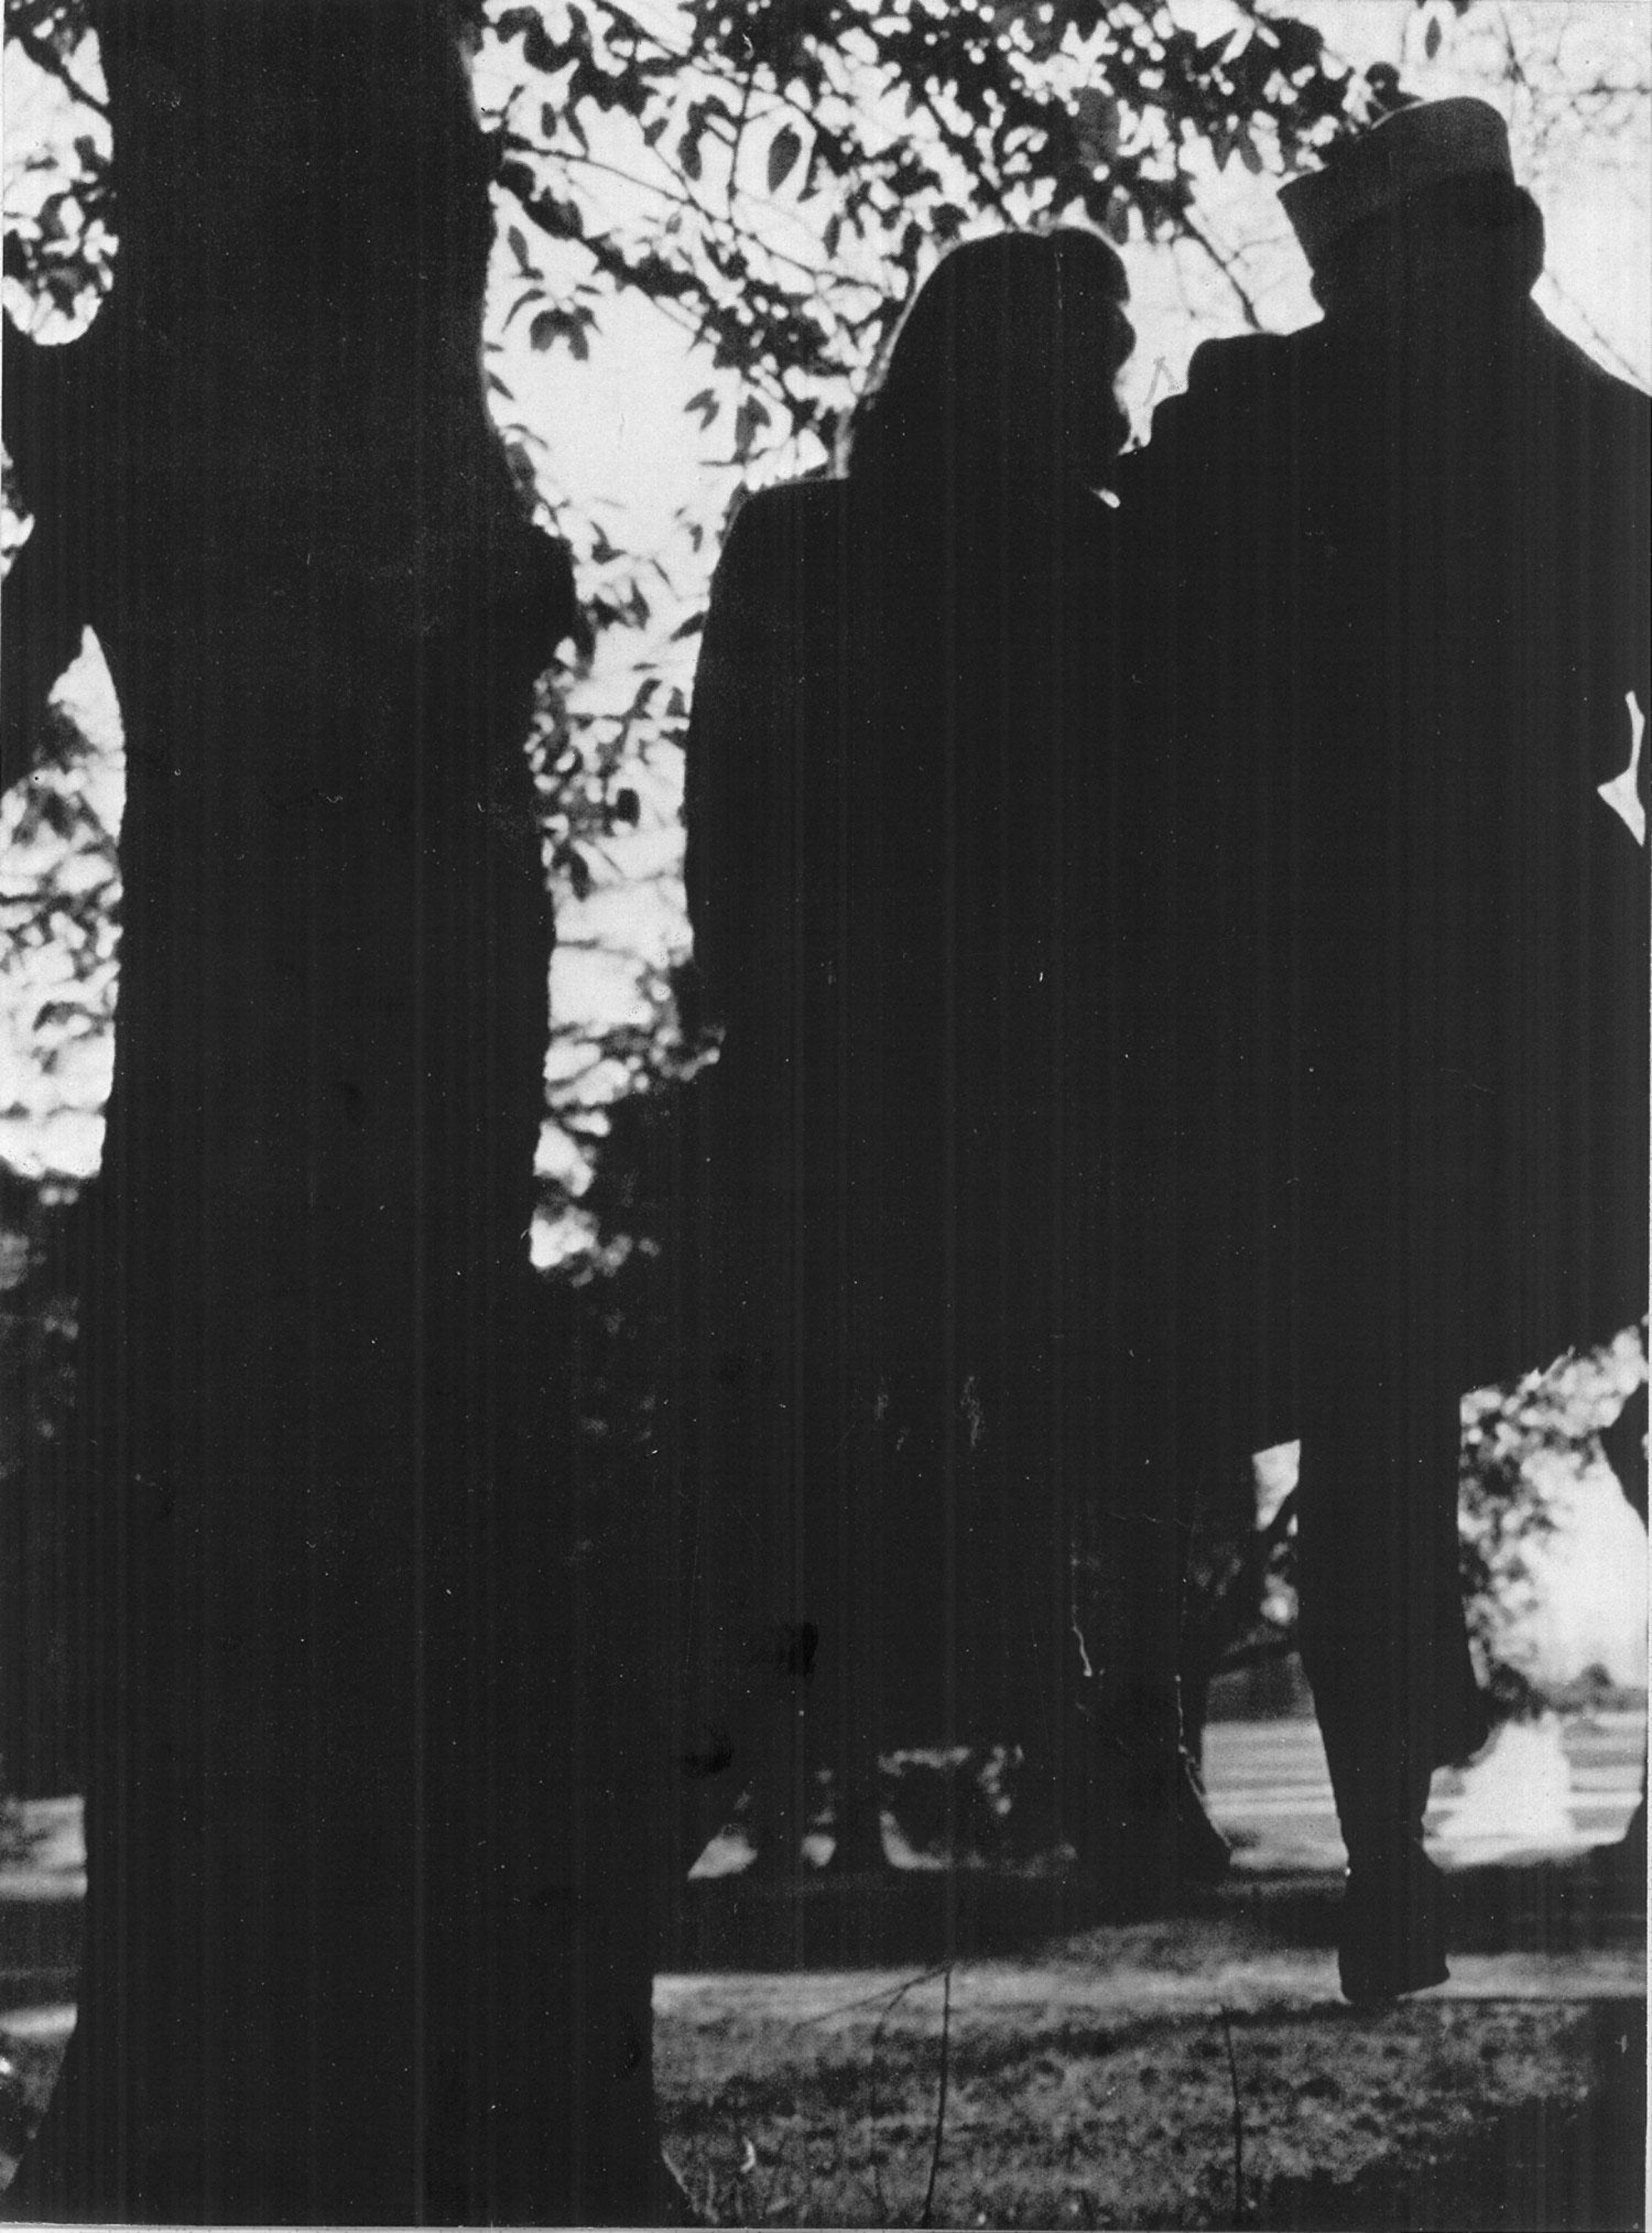

GARHART TROPHY: This trophy is awarded on the basis of the number of points won for all combined sports during the year to a team representing an organized house. Winner of the cup in 1943 competition was Kappa Alpha Theta.

OPEN CLUB: Each team, entering open club tournaments, is eligible to compete for the trophy offered to the team winning the most points for combined sports. Open club teams are composed of coeds not affiliated with an organized house. Last year, for the third time, the trophy went to the Amoebas.

Christian Science Organization

THE Christian Science Organization at the University of Washington is one of 66 organizations at colleges and universities throughout the world. It is authorized by Article 23, Section 8, of the Manual of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. All students and faculty are cordially invited to attend its meetings which are held every Thursday evening, at 7:30 in Eagleson Hall.

Every year this organization sponsors a free Christian Science lecture which is given by a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church. This year the lecturer was Adair Hickman, CSB, of Chicago, Illinois. His lecture, which was given in the Meany Hotel, was entitled: Christian Science: The Revelation of God's Nature and Omnipresence.

Shown above is a picture of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts; to the right can be seen the Christian Publishing Society where the international daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, and other periodicals, are published. These periodicals are distributed at the door to anyone desiring them, at the close of the Thursday evening meetings.

The Bookstore today—as in the past—is more than a store to the student—it is an institution . . . an intimate part of campus life.

Many of the people who have been associated with the Bookstore and its thousands of owner-customers are now in the services of our country.

Tomorrow's students will find the Bookstore—as always—a friendly and helpful contribution to pleasant and successful years at the University.

Tomorrow . . .

IS IN YOUR HANDS

Freedom has trained you to be its leaders... now you go forth to work and fight to keep it safe.
America places her future in your hands, knowing that you will use it wisely, guard it well.

GOOD MEATS Are Essential, Too!

Good food and good health are inseparable and are necessary to good grades. We have served university students and organizations for years and have demonstrated that top quality costs no more.

Forgings

Large or Small

Whether the work in hand is a massive 80,000-pound ingot for Victory ship shafting, or a pint-sized shackle or other small part, it is custom that has become a habit with Isaacson forgers to give it the painstaking workmanship inherent in Circle "I" Brand quality.

★ Custom made forgings to fit your requirements.

CRESCENT CAN HELP

WITH YOUR HOMEWORK

VACATION time or any time, Crescent comes to the rescue of fair damsels who tackle the kitchen. For instance, in wartime, the secret of that buttery-taste-without-butter is Crescent Imitation Butter Flavor with Color. Whipped cream without whipping cream is via Crescent Cream Whip. Crescent Spices and Flavors dress up wartime dishes. And Crescent Baking Powder means better baking. For better cooking choose fine food products made by Crescent Mfg. Co., Seattle 4, Washington.

NEGATIVES

FIRST the negative—and then a positive. Let us hope that this third war-time TYEE will be the last in a war torn world, and that the 1945 TYEE will be issued in a positive world of peace.

...1944 global war

STILL SHAKES OUR UNHAPPY PLANET, BUT THRU THE FLAME AND THE GLOOM WE THINK WE CAN NOW SEE THE "SHAPE OF BETTER THINGS TO COME."

IN THAT FAITH THE TYEE STAFF HAVE LABORED, UNDER DIS-HEARTENING DIFFICULTIES AT TIMES, TO PRODUCE ANOTHER MEMORY BOOK FOR THEIR UNIVERSITY THAT WILL CARRY ON ITS TRADITIONS EVEN WHILE ITS STUDENTS' LIVES, INDIVIDUALLY, ARE BEING SHAKEN AND SCATTERED.

WE THINK THE EDITOR-IN-CHIEF, CAROL SMITH, AND HER STAFF HAVE DONE THIS DIFFICULT TASK IN A WAY THAT'S REALLY "WORTHY OF AWARD."

CONGRATULATIONS FROM . . .

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The year is over and another Tyee is about to take its place among other volumes on the dust-covered shelves of students' dens. Before the presses stop running there is time to pause and thank those who have particularly made this year's book possible:

Ted Morello, who continued on the staff long after his official duties with the University were terminated . . .

The J.J.'s who sacrificed vacation hours when Tyee needed help and who pitched in to complete the index . . .

Capt. Paul Harwick, Capt. Paul Moore, and Lieut. R. A. Putnam of the campus branches of the Army, Marines and Navy, who cleared red tape for us when pictures were needed.

Roy Sandberg of the University Athletic News Service, George Varnell of the Seattle Times, Ray Holmes of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Ron Donaldson of the University Bookstore and Rose Morry of the University News Service who each contributed pictures to insure us complete coverage for the year.

Clyde Robinson, ASUW publications manager, who helped a bewildered staff through the trying days of the year with his sound advice.

The staffs of Kennell-Ellis, photographers, and Dexter, our engravers.

Harry Larimer, Ray Wilcox and Charles Prowse at Lowman and Hanford's, our printers, who worked overtime to put our ideas into print. And, especially to Mr. Francis G. Pratt, genial manager of L. & H.'s printing department, for helpful suggestions.

And finally, thanks to my co-workers in the edit's office and to the photographers who toiled unflinchingly through the year.

CAROL SMITH
